KING GEORGE LAID TO REST WITH HIS PREDECESSORS

St. George's Chapel, Windsor, England, is a noble and historic edifice. Within its walls and in the vaults under the chapel, lie to-day all that is mortal of King George V.

The procession of pomp and pageantry, made up of crowned heads and the highest titles of all lands, marched three and one-half miles from Westminster Hall in London, where the late king lay in state for nearly a week, to the station, only again to take up the march from the train to Windsor chapel. Once there the simple committal service was read by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the body was lowered into the vault.

Just how long the Premier will remain at the helm is most uncertain, in view of his state of health and his declaration some months ago that this session would be his last. Health permitting, he will stay on, but it would seem as though this very question of his well-being will not be settled satisfactorily until he relinquishes the responsibilities of office.

A PROLONGED GOLD SPELL BUT NO TIE-UPS NOW

For two weeks or more, practically all of Canada, from western to eastern shores, has had reason to know we have a cold wave with us. Since the middle of January there has been no let-up, and it is poor comfort to hear the weather prognosticators tell us there is no warm weather in sight.

The King is dead and his royal son rules and the Legislature of the Province of Ontario together with Houses of Parliament and Legislatures throughout the vast Empire, swear allegiance to the new occupant of the mighty throne.

Rudyard Kipling, England's poet, left an estate of over three million dollars. Now don't try to be foolish and think that if you have a penchant for expressing yourself in verse, you can make the same money.

It is one hundred and seventy-seven years since Robert Burns first saw light of day in a humble house in Ayr, Scotland, and despite his handicap of poverty, dogging him all his days, he rose to heights of fame, that we of greater wealth could not attain.

Chesley has a wonderful citizen in W. D. Bell. In other words, he is the "Sir William Mulock" of Chesley. Though flirting with the 90 year mark, he yet keeps himself busy, interesting himself in the Horticultural Society of which he is an honorary president, as well as in the Agricultural Society, of which he is an honorary director.

While they were here, the town made use of them in several ways, and they assisted on several local programs. As well the curling rink never had more enthusiastic supporters.

But motor cars and trucks would not stand for a delay of this length in pushing commerce, with the results that our main highways are kept open the year round. With the advent of wire fencing as well as snow fences, the railways also have it easier with fewer mammoth drifts, and less snow than in the bygone days of 30 years ago.

THE KING IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE KING

No longer will June 3rd, the birthday of the late King George, be a public holiday, it was announced by the Ottawa Government on Friday. Instead June 23rd, the birthday of King Edward VIII, will be celebrated.

At Queen's Park BY THE WATCHMAN

Toronto, January 29th.—For the first time in the history of Ontario, a Session of the Provincial Legislature was postponed on the eve of opening because of the death of the British Empire. As token of their sorrow and in accordance with the period of the House called to deal with the Provincial Income Tax.

The death of the kindly Monarch has changed the plans of the government in several respects. There will be no special session as planned and the Opening of the Legislature on Tuesday, February 11th, will be stripped of its social aspects. The legislators will plunge immediately into their work after the reading of the Speech from the Throne and the voicing of sorrow at the passing of the late King.

Acting Premier H. C. Nixon was to have led the government in the special session in the absence of Premier Hepburn. But with the charge in plans, Premier Hepburn himself will be present when the House opens. This intimation was conveyed to his colleagues the other day. The Premier is suffering from a heavy cold but he is understood to have told Mr. Nixon that, notwithstanding his ill-health he would be in his seat when the second session of the 19th Legislature gets under way.

This news was received with enthusiasm by the rank and file of the Liberal membership, as well as by the cabinet ministers themselves.

Just how long the Premier will remain at the helm is most uncertain, in view of his state of health and his declaration some months ago that this session would be his last.

Alliance to the new King was sworn by the cabinet and members of the Legislature will take new oaths when the House convenes. Legal documents have been changed to bear the name of King Edward the Eighth and over the Speaker's chair in the Chamber, the familiar "G.R." has been removed and "E. R." put in its place.

LATE JOHN MILLS BURIED THURSDAY

The funeral of the late John Mills was held at his late residence on Bruce street on Thursday and was largely attended. His pastor, Rev. David Gowdy, spoke from the words of Jesus as recorded by Matthew, 24:44—"Therefore, be ye also ready", and by John 14:2—"I go to prepare a place for you".

The friends present from a distance were Mr and Mrs R. L. Atcheson, Chateworth; Messrs John and James Atcheson, Messrs Archie and Cairns Atcheson of Lucknow and Miss C. Livingston, Elmwood.

The remains were laid to rest in Latona cemetery, a large number of old neighbors from Dornoch gathering at the cemetery for the last rites.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor, Durham Review:

Dear Sir: Recent press despatches intimate the possibility of the Provincial Government making changes in the apportioning of school grants that will further favour the separate schools of the province, to the detriment of the great public school system.

The separate schools have been clamouring for some time for legislation which would divert taxes paid by corporations and utilities, regardless of stock ownership, on a basis of school attendance, which would mean that companies entirely Protestant owned would be compelled to pay a portion of their taxes to these religious schools where the doctrines of the Church of Rome are taught daily.

While the question of school grants is being discussed, it would be well for the public school supporters to give some thought to the way in which their schools have been treated during the last few years. How much is our school grant now? How much less is it than it was three or four years ago?

The facts are, Mr. Editor, that in the years 1931 to 1934, public school grants were reduced from $4,104,436 to $3,112,814.92 (official government figures) or nearly ONE MILLION DOLLARS; while the separate school grants were increased considerably during the same period.

In 1934, for every $1.00 granted a public school in Assisted School Grants, a Roman Catholic separate school received $1.71. Why should this be, and why should public schools be so discriminated against?

Public School Trustees should be interested in getting to the bottom of this matter, and compel our Member of the Legislature to do something to correct this grave injustice and see that the rights of the public school supporters are not further infringed upon.

GOOD YEAR FOR DURHAM BAPTIST CONGREGATION

The annual business meeting of the Durham Baptist Church, recently held, showed one of the best financially for some years. Reports from each department indicated that good work had been done and real progress made.

One important enterprise launched was the wiping out of the first mortgage on the Parsonage by a Spring-drive on a pay-till-paid basis. At the close of the meeting Mr Allan Bell congratulated all from the Pastor down on the splendid year's work. The new church officers for year 1936 are: Clerk, Mr. Wm. D. Erwin; treas., Mr Anthony Holmes; financial sec'y, Miss Clara Thompson envelope stewards, Mr Reginald Ries and Misses Florence Havens, and J. Thelma Priest; deacons, Messrs W. H. Miss Allene Dargavel, Mr. Murray Smith of Durham High School, spent the weekend with their parents.

Mrs E. Dargavel lost a dear friend in the death of Mrs Edward Muldoon. They were close friends before her marriage to Mr. Muldoon and always clung to each other after marriage. Mrs Muldoon had a wonderful personality, beloved by every one who came in contact with her.

Three children have our sympathy in the loss of a dear mother; also her husband who resides in Dornoch. She and her family generally spent their holidays with her husband. Mrs. Muldoon was called away to wait on her father in Hamilton. He passed away shortly after. She and the family remained there after the father's death, where the children got their education. Mrs Muldoon, not being in the best of health, did not feel she could stand the cold in the country. With the city life and the children going to school, she felt much better. She had her sorrows, losing her mother and youngest sister within a week of each other, a few years ago, and her father about two years ago. She had hopes of returning to Dornoch in the summer when she felt better, but was called to her rest. The family and husband have our sympathy in the loss of a loving mother and wife.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian church was held last Wednesday in the church. After the meeting was over, the Ladies' Aid had supper in the basement ready and all enjoyed it. The proceeds at the door amounted to $9.65. The ladies were well pleased with the amount realized.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mr. John Mills of Durham, formerly of Lornoch, where he was born and raised. There was no place he cared to visit, more than Dornoch, and he always had fond memories of Dornoch church where he spent his boyhood days. Many of his old friends were storm-stayed and could not get to his funeral which was held on Thursday at Latona cemetery, where his parents lie. His wife has the sympathy of the whole community in the loss of her husband. She has been in poor health for years and not able to get around. She will miss him much more on that account.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs Charles Moran, wife of the late Charles Moran who was buried last Saturday.

Mr and Mrs E. B. Dargavel took the hockey game in Durham on Friday night.

ROCKY SAUGEEN

We have had a real cold, stormy old time winter the past couple of weeks with abundance of snow.

The annual meeting in connection with the church will be held on Thursday afternoon of next week at 2 p.m.

Mr and Mrs Albert Middleton of Durham, were recent visitors with the McLean families.

Mrs Art Macintosh and baby Marilyn, spent a couple of days this week with her parents Mr and Mrs L. McLean.

A number of children are out of school on account of chicken pox and measles.

Very sorry to hear Mrs Reay and family are thinking of leaving our neighborhood. They are not sure yet where they will locate.

Most of the farmers are busy getting up buzz piles. Mr. Wm. Edge with his sawing outfit has been busy at the south end while Mr. Addison Symon is doing good work at the north end.

Rev. Mr. Gowdy preached a very fitting sermon last Sunday in memory of our late sovereign, King George V. Miss Shirley Hopkins spent a few days last week with her grandparents Mr and Mrs. James Ewen, Aberdeen.

The Burns' Presbyterian Y.P.S., met in the church with a good attendance, last Tuesday night. Miss Isabel MacQuarrie presided. Silent prayer was offered as a tribute to our late King; scripture reading was taken by Miss Catherine MacLean, from Luke 16, verses 1-13. A very good missionary program was given under the leadership of Miss C. MacLean, who gave a paper on the life of our beloved missionary, Dr. Jessie MacBean and also by Miss Isabel MacQuarrie on Foreign mission expansion. A very pleasing duet was given by Misses Georgia Miller and Laurine McCrae. Miss C. MacLean conducted a good word contest. The next meeting will be held in the church on February 4th at 8 p.m.

HAMPDEN

Some weather we had last week! It is continuing the same. What it gave us during the day the wind piled and chased during the night, and it kept one busy attending to the home fires. There was not much traffic on our roads. Even the road master deemed it wise on his own account to wait until the mail man had made his own way through the drifts. Anyhow we still had a read of the daily.

Mr and Mrs Alex Grierson, South Bentinck, visited last week with their daughter Mrs T. G. Widmeyer for a few days.

Mr. Noah Metzger is unfortunately in having a sick horse at present. Mrs Corbett visited with her sister and brother, Mrs A. Fulton and Mr. Will Henderson, respectively, the past two weeks.

The young people are planning preparations for another play and Hampden is noted for its home talent.

Mr and Mrs S. Keonig and daughter Bernice, visited with the Byers family one evening last week.

Miss Mary Ford has gone to Toronto.

THE NOTE

The wife of an usher suddenly remembering that she had left her Sunday roast in the oven, hastily wrote a note to her husband, and gave it to another usher to hand to him. He however, mistook it for a note to the minister, who was in the middle of his sermon. Thinking it was an important announcement, the minister unfolded the note and read aloud: "Please go home and turn off the gas."
