Have 50 Years of Married Life to Their Credit

On April 7th, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pettigrew of Victoria, B.C. will mark in a quiet way, fifty years of wedded life together. Mr. and Mrs. Pettigrew will have a host of good wishes on this occasion from their many friends in Varney and Durham, where they are so well and favorably known. Their life has had ups and downs common to all, but friends will agree with us when we say they took them "on the chin" as it were and now there are more ups than downs. They have a family of 13 children, 50 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Pettigrew in a letter to the "Review" adds: "We are thankful to be in Victoria, where we do not have severe storms or floods as has been the experience of so many in other places. This winter has been colder than usual. The crocuses, daffodils and other flowers are in blossom. We were at a birthday party on March 12th in honor of Mrs. Mary Marshall, who has been spending the winter with her mother Mrs. E. at Kyle, Sask., on March 17th. Her son Robert will be managing the farm for her. There were eighteen ed present, mostly from the prairie. We spent a very pleasant evening enjoying games and refreshments. Mrs. Marshall succeeded in blowing out all the candles with one big blow."

Durham Took First of Finals in Overtime from Whitby, 3 to 2

Durham's championship-bound O.H.A. hockey team made a strong bid for the title Monday night in Galt Arena, when they clipped the wings of the former champions, Whitby Red Wings, by a 3 to 2 count after 10 minutes of overtime. It was the first of best two games out of three series for the Intermediate B championship of Ontario. Another victory in second game at Oshawa on Thursday night will give Durham the coveted honors. A loss will mean that a third game must be played probably next Monday night at Galt or Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto.

The closeness of the score kept excitement at fever heat throughout among the large crowd of 1600. Of these about 250 were from Durham and a goodly representation from the surrounding country. Some 400 came by special train from Whitby, and many more from various Western Ontario points.

At no time during the contest did either team have more than a one-goal advantage, though Durham should have coasted in with a 5-2 lead and avoided the need of overtime. It would surely have been a sore blow to Durham's hopes and superior play had they lost out in the overtime period, after being counted out of three goals, two of them coming in second frame.

Referee Rodden did not see these disputed goals scored, but goal judge flashed his light for one at least, then reversed his decision, though many saw them scored. The goal umpire was thereafter removed and Eddie Siebert, Kitchener, put in, and there was no further trouble at that end. In third, Raybould rounded the opposite nets and poked puck 6 inches across line, but the goalie fell on it and the other goal judge refused to record it.

Despite these discouragements Durham kept plugging away, and in second and third frames, forcing the play most of the time. They had a decided advantage in goal shots and territorial play and their work was crowned with success by Rennie's brilliant effort after 8 1/2 minutes of overtime, when he single-handed bulged the nets for the winning counter.

But we do not wish to infer that Durham had any easy margin, apparent though it was. The Whitby crew were always dangerous and they accomplished something no other team has done this season, when they held the Raybould, Dean and Cassidy line entirely off the score sheet. Instead the second line of Rennie, Moses and Elvidge broke loose last Monday and crashed the limit light. Moses accounted for Durham's first two goals in second frame, just a half minute apart, both from pretty team plays. For 35 minutes before that, Durham had failed to break the rugged Red Wings defence, with outstanding goal-tending by Hurst.

The first period saw the tightest hockey of the game, the teams evenly matched and protecting their nets carefully. The first break went to Whitby when Duke Schutz, checked as he was clearing puck out of corner, saw it land in front of net and where they are so well and favorably known. Their life has had ups and downs common to all, but friends will agree with us when we say they took them "on the chin" as it were and now there are more ups than downs. They have a family of 13 children, 50 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

In second, Crozier was thumbed off for tripping Rennie, but Durham's power play following was ineffective. Cassidy shot and puck was apparently in and out, but goal judge didn't recognize it. Sleightholm and Heard broke right through for Whitby, and Schutz saved. Lewis Vipond was waved off for tripping Moses, and Durham again failed to capitalize. Rennie blazed a shot from face off, but Hurst saved in time. Elvidge broke through clean in on nets, and at Kyle, Sask., on March 17th. Her son Robert will be managing the farm for her. There were eighteen ed present, mostly from the prairie. We spent a very pleasant evening enjoying games and refreshments. Mrs. Marshall succeeded in blowing out all the candles with one big blow."

Durham tied it up, 1-1, after 15 minutes play in second when McMarshall succeeded in blowing out all the candles with one big blow. Moses a pretty pass. Fanny gave

Second Final Game To-Night in Oshawa

Durham hockey team's supreme test comes to-night, Thursday, when on Whitby's own ice, in Oshawa, they will endeavor to dethrone last year's Intermediate champions. With one final game already under their belts, Durham boys are confident, though not overly so, that they can take two straight games and the title, and their supporters possess the same confidence, after witnessing them hold the upper hand most of first game. It is scarcely possible that Whitby's goalie, Hurst, will again be as spectacular in the nets as at Galt, and he was Durham's greatest stumbling block. Whitby, however, will be playing on home ice with their backs to the wall, to prevent elimination, and will not go under without a desperate struggle.

Durham team held another practice at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, on Wednesday morning, and are in good shape for the crucial contest, which may decide the championship. Should Durham lose, a third game will settle it either Saturday or Monday, so Durham will either be champions, or near-ones, before another issue. Quite a number of fans will make the long jaunt to Oshawa tonight. Here's hoping Durham lands the honors right in Oshawa!

Referee Mike Rodden Comments on Galt Game

The Globe associate sports writer, Mike Rodden, who refereed the Durham-Whitby final at Galt Monday, has the following spicy comment in Wednesday's Globe:

A lot of people may labor under the impression that O.H.A. intermediate "B" teams are weak, rather helpless and not worth supporting, but such critics would be well advised to keep mum if and when they have occasion to visit Durham or Whitby.

Even the Maple Leafs rate second in importance—and not a very good second at that—in Whitby Town and in Durham, Edwin Allan's beloved village. Do not imagine for a moment that the dyed-in-the-wool fans referred to overrate their favorites. They know too much about hockey for that, but they certainly crash the top in according enthusiastic support.

The first game of the championship finals played at Galt on Monday night attracted 300 fans from the vicinity of Whitby and possibly three times that number from Durham and surrounding towns and villages.

The teams are very closely matched and the result was always a toss-up, Durham coming through by 3 to 2 after ten minutes' overtime. From start to finish the players maintained a withering pace and pandemonium reigned in the Galt ice palace.

I was referee and I can say that I never heard such a thunderous, continuous roar in my career. I started out using a National League whistle, but soon discovered that neither the fans nor the players could hear it. In fact, there were times when I could hardly hear it myself. So I had to borrow a bell, much to the delight of the spectators, who had given plenty of advice relative to the necessity for the change.

Whistles may be alright in New York, Boston, Montreal, Toronto, Detroit and Chicago, but they just don't register when Durham and Whitby fans are winging into the maelstrom of applause.

In the second period Durham claimed that they had scored two goals. They also strongly suspected that the umpire was blind, so the man who called them—and he called them right—was replaced by a "neutral" official from Galt.

However, before play was started again it was alleged that the newcomer's son was playing for Durham, so Eddie Seibert of Kitchener bravely went to the rescue and in a jiffy had to flash the light for two rapid-fire Durham goals, the same being fired by a lad named Moses.

The next encounter takes place at Oshawa tomorrow night and the arena will likely be crowded with fans who love hockey for the very sport that's in it. Many of them will travel over a hundred miles and will think nothing of it.

Hanoverians will speak highly of Hydro when they realize that the 13th power bill was a credit of $3,800 following upon lowered rates and a rebate of some $4,000 to consumers last year. With the first Hydro debentures to be paid off next year, plus the sum of some $26,000 in cash reserves, the local system is "in clover" and we may anticipate even better rates than those we have been enjoying.—Post.

(Fergus News-Record) The defeat of the Acton team by 7 to 1 in Durham last week, allowing Durham to win the round by one goal, was the prize upset of the hockey season. Of course, it led to all sorts of questions and we notice that the secretary of the Acton club went so far as to publish a statement in the Free Press, denying rumors that there had been any drinking among the players. Apparently that is all left to the fans.
