

Woman's World

By Mair M. Morgan

Queen Anne Cherries will soon be fresh upon the market, but they always can be bought canned and their cool cream color with a bluish of red on one cheek probably accounts for their romantic name.

A summer salad that can't go wrong may be made by putting either fresh or canned whole pitted cherries into molds of raspberry or cherry quick-setting jelly and this set upon a bed of curly endive is irresistible as a cool luncheon, bridge or supper dish.

CHERRY SALAD

1 package quick-setting cherry jelly powder; 1 pint warm water; 1 cup of white cherries, pitted and halved; 1 cup canned pineapple, diced.

Dissolve jelly in warm water. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in fruit. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce or endive. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 6.

There are several varieties of this jelly salad that will give you different ideas for several weeks.

Water cross may be used as a neat for the quick-setting jelly.

Tiny balls of honey dew melon may be used in the jelly instead of cherries.

Suffed olives and round of sweet pickles may be used instead of cherries and introduced into lime or lemon jelly.

The color of your flowers, china or linen to be used for the particular occasion may determine the kind of quick-setting jelly and fruit to be used and pretty colour contrasts add a decorative note to the attractiveness of such salads and desserts.

VITAMIN SALAD

2 tablespoons of gelatine; 1/2 cup of cold water; 1/2 cup mild vinegar; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 2 cups of boiling water; 1 1/2 cups white sugar; 1 tablespoon salt; 2 cups cabbage, shredded; 1/2 cup chopped celery; 3/4 cup cooked peas (green); 3/4 cup of shredded carrots.

Soak gelatine in cold water, vinegar, lemon juice for 20 minutes, add boiling water, sugar and salt. When mixture is cool add ingredients. Turn into mold first dipped in cold water. Remove to bed of lettuce. — Mary Croser, R.R. No. 3, Stouffville, Ont.

ORANGE ADE

6 oranges chopped fine; 2 ounces of citric acid; 2 quarts of boiling water. Let stand over night (12 hours). In the morning strain and add 3 1/2 lbs. of white sugar, and boil ten minutes. Bottle up.

When opening bottles for using pour so much into a glass, then fill the remainder with ice water. This makes a very refreshing drink and it is lovely for picnics.

If desired you may use lemons in the place of oranges thus making lemonade. — Miss Clare M. Hardy, R.R. No. 3, Port Perry, Ontario.

Save Freak Hands Says Culbertson

NEW YORK—For the best or worst bridge hand, $5.00. Apply to Ely Culbertson. The contract bridge maestro announced he would pay for authentic information about genuine one-suited hands, or hands containing nothing higher than a five-spot. He wishes to calculate the chances of such holdings. The hands must be dealt in rubber bridge. Each one participating in the game must attest before a notary as the genuine nature of the exceptional hand.

Trying Out a Driver

Observes the Toronto Mail and Empire — The Mail and Empire has now heard from a Toronto motorist who went to the Parliament Buildings to get his driver's permit for 1936. Having failed to take with him his old permit, he suggested that the official of the Motor Vehicles Branch with whom he was dealing might look up his records, as he had been driving a car for years.

The official refused, and told him that unless he produced his permit as requested, he would have to submit to a test as to his ability to drive. So consequently he made an appointment, and in due time went out with a department instructor. When he finished he was informed that he was a fair driver and given his permit, the cost of which was double the regular price, as he had to pay the instructor.

The applicant resented this treatment, as he had been driving motor cars for over 20 years. He suggests that the toll gate is too active, and considers that the time-honored expression "The law is an ass," is not inappropriate.

Life In Arctic Has Attractions

Cameron Bay Woman Visits Civilization First Time in 18 Months

EDMONTON — Life within the Arctic circle has charms even for a woman, Mrs. George Fraser, of Cameron Bay, Great Bear Lake, Northwest Territories, said here during her first visit to civilization in 18 months.

Accompanied by her young son she "flew out" from her home near Eldorado Mine, where her husband is employed as an engineer.

The Eskimos make a fascinating study, she remarked, and their visits to the mine proved of interest to all white residents.

"On one occasion a number of them came to our cabin," she said. "All wore very broad grins and seemed very interested. They were seated only a few minutes when they became too warm and slipped out of their parkas. Then what an odor of seal oil!"

The women wear long parkas reaching below the knees. They carry their babies on their backs, inside the parkas, supported by a cord around the mother's waist.

"When our visitors started to warm up," she added, "it was startling to see two little Eskimos whom we did not know existed suddenly produced."

Cold winters hold little terrors for Mrs. Fraser and her family. A warmly built and cosy cabin and a radio make the long winter nights pass comfortably and happily.

Mrs. Fraser, who before her marriage was employed in an Edmonton photo studio, has become an ardent amateur photographer, and brought back a first-class collection of prints taken and developed in the northland.

Biggest drawback to life in the Arctic circle is a shortage of fresh food during the winter months, she said.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON XI.—June 14. JESUS CRUCIFIED.—Luke 23

Luke 23 : 33-46

Golden TEXT — God commendeth His own love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. — Romans 5 : 8.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time—Friday, April 7, A.D. 30. Place—Jerusalem and Calvary just outside of the city walls.

"And when they came unto the place which is called the skull." The phrase "the skull" is a translation of the Hebrew word "Golgotha," which the Greeks translated as "Kranion," and which, in the Latin version, was called "Calvaria," from which we get the similar word, "Calvary." "There they crucified Him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand and the other on the left." "The cross was probably of the form in which it is usually represented—an upright post crossed by a bar near the top.

"And Jesus said, Father forgive them; for they know not what they do." This was the first word from the cross. It is a prayer addressed to God as Father for the pardon of Christ's enemies. "And parting His garments among them, they cast lots." The Son of God atoning for the sins of the world, whilst angels and glorified spirits crowd the walls of the celestial city to look down at the spectacle, and, within a yard of His sacred person, the soldiers, in absolute apathy, gambling for these poor shreds of cloth!

"And the people stood beholding. And the rulers also scoffed at Him, saying, He saved others; let Him save Himself if this is the Christ of God, the Chosen One." (See Psalm 25 : 8.) The emphasis should be placed on the little word "this," which was uttered contemptuously.

"And the soldier also mocked Him, coming to Him, offering Him vinegar. And saying, If Thou art the king of the Jews, save Thyself." "By the word 'mocked' seems to be meant that they lifted up to His lips the vessels containing their ordinary drink, sour wine, and then snatched them away." "And there was also a superscription over Him, 'This is the King of the Jews.'" This title was written in black letters on a board smeared with white gypsum, making it very conspicuous.

"And one of the malefactors that were hanged railed on Him, saying, Art not Thou the Christ? save Thyself and us. But the other answered, and rebuking him said, Dost thou not even fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?" The word "malefactor" means simply "an evil worker."

"And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this man hath done nothing amiss." Here is a most remarkable revelation of the heart of one of these criminals: he believed in God, he feared God, he acknowledged he was guilty, and deserved the punishment which had been inflicted upon him; but, most of all, he confessed that Lord Jesus, hanging near him, had done nothing wrong, literally, "nothing out of place," which can only mean that he recognized the claims of Jesus to be just and Jesus Himself to be absolutely innocent of any wrong.

"And he said, Jesus, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom." He acknowledged that there was a life beyond death and knew that both were dying; that, in the future, there was to be a kingdom over which the Lord Jesus would be king; that it would be possible for the Lord Jesus to remember him mercifully when He came into that kingdom, and that, if the Lord were merciful, he himself would have a place in that kingdom.

"And He said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise." This is the second word from the cross. The word "Paradise" is used for the Garden of Eden (Gen. 2 : 8), and for that region of Hades in which the spirits of the blessed await the general resurrection (Acts 2 : 31), and then heaven itself (2 Cor. 12 : 4).

"And it was now about the sixth hour." That is, noon. "And a darkness came over the whole land until the ninth hour. The sun's light failing." The darkness lasted until three o'clock in the afternoon. During these three hours no incident is recorded. (See Amos 8 : 9.) "All else is silent. No taunt or insult is flung

Quads Visit Quints

Newsreels Busy This Week — Emden at Montreal — Parade in Toronto

The Canadian newsreel reporters had a busy week of it recently, judging from the current sight-and-sound records of outstanding events of the Canadian scene. One corps of technicians journeyed north to Callander to where the famous Keys quadruplets had come all the way from Texas to pay a visit to the much more famous Dionne quintuplets. The four lovely campus co-eds were also heard and seen as they met Dr. Allan R. Dafoe to discuss the health rules under which the five Dionnes are being brought up.

Still another corps of newsreel men were in Toronto to film the annual garrison parade and secure in sound the skill of the bagpipers and the blare of brass and silver bands of the 6,000 members of Toronto's air force, naval and military units parading in full-dress uniform under cloudless skies to the Exhibition grounds, where divine service was held in front of a grandstand holding 15,000 spectators.

Scenes of the arrival at Montreal of the Emden, first German warship to enter the port since Britain declared war on Germany in 1914, were also shown as well as the of-at him now. The temple dispensation is at an end. God is now accessible to every man through the sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ (Heb. 10 : 19, 20).

"And Jesus, crying with a loud voice, said, Father into Thy hands I commend my Spirit; and having said this, He gave up the ghost." This is the last word from the cross. Luke records only the first, second, and seventh words from the cross, and none of these are found in any of the other Gospel records.

cial welcome given the swastika-emblazoned officers and men by Montreal's city fathers. In the realm of Canadian sport an unusual tournament in which archers vied with golfers on distance and accuracy in a number of mixed foursomes was also filmed by cameramen who journeyed to the Rouge Hills Country Club, some 20 miles out of Toronto.

With films being rushed across the sea, Premier Mussolini and Emperor Haile Selassie again were the headlines in the foreign news. In Rome Il Duce read a telegram from General Badoglio after the fall of Addis Ababa; in Ethiopia, the jubilant Italian legions were shown advancing in triumph across the land that once belonged to the Lion of Judah; at Geneva, Baron Aloisi, Italian spokesman, walked out on the League de liberations; and defeated Haile Selassie, fleeing Italian might, arrived in Jerusalem.

Too Much With Me

Woods are too much with me,
Woods and the sea,
Give me a quiet hill
There let my heart be still,
There let my spirit rest,
And my sore thoughts be blest,
On a bare hill;
Not by the woods and sea,
They are too much with me;
Give me a hill.

FOR SUMMER DAYS

For tennis or the beach, it is always useful to have a skirt to complete your shirt and shorts rig as this smart cotton print ensemble.

Those who go in for a serious game of tennis will especially like the comfortable shorts. They are of the culotte type with double plaits. They give the effect of a skirt. The shirt with hatter scrap back is delightfully cool and exceedingly chic.

To wear to and from the tennis court or beach, the buttoned front skirt is easy to don.

Style No. 2936 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 16 requires 4 1/4 yards of 39-inch material for entire outfit.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully, and address your order to Wilson Patterns Service, 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

Canadian Choir To Tour Europe

Itinerary Includes England, France, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland

Canadian singers will be heard this summer in some of the leading spas of Europe, and Canadian tourists to the number of several hundred will accompany them, according to plans now completed for a European tour of the famous Canadian Choir of Brantford, a unit of 60 trained voices, under the baton of its founder-conductor, Frederic Lord.

The choir, which a few years ago undertook a trip to Blackpool, England, and acquitted itself with distinction in the Music Festival in that city, completing with a concert in Royal Albert Hall, London, under the patronage of His Late Majesty King George V, has had a notable career. In the province of Ontario in particular, they have presented many concerts, as well as radio broadcasts over the Canadian Radio Commission's coast-to-coast network. They have also been heard over the Columbia network through Station WGR, Buffalo.

The 1936 tour will include engagements in England, France, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland, with radio broadcasts from London and Paris, and the itinerary will include Chester, Leamington, the Shakespear Country, London, Brussels, Cologne, the Rhine Valley, Wiesbaden, Heidelberg, Baden-Baden, Lucerne, Interlaken and Paris. The choir, and tourist party, traveling at specially reduced rates, will sail from Montreal July 25th on the C.P.R. liner Montcalm, returning from Cherbourg August 18th aboard the S.S. Duchess of Richmond. Many reservations from different parts of the country have been made with the secretary of the Canadian Choir in Brantford.

Type Tips

Suggestions for the Stenographer Who Makes Mistakes

Remember that the most lenient employer has a limit to his patience. Every error in typing causes a big delay and reduces the effective rate of operation, so that speeds are certainly often not what they are quoted to the staff manager.

It would be an interesting experiment to find out the actual time lost by these delays. Several big concerns do assess the time lost through errors and book it against the typist.

A typing error takes at least fifteen seconds to alter, and if there are several carbons a much longer time. Therefore if you tell an employer that you do sixty words a minute but make one error in every hundred words, this reduces your real speed to about fifty words a minute.

But a reduction of one-sixth in wages due to "goods not being up to description" would be a blow to many typists.

Many business men, politicians, world-famous authors, and others have been asked how they assess the typewriting ability of their secretaries.

In nearly every case the answer has been that two qualities in a secretary are important: first, that she should be able to meet any emergency and never be hindered by mechanical inefficiency, and second, that she should reduce the actual typing to completely automatic work so that she and the employer can forget about it.

Collars are Versatile—Go as They Please

Collars, like Topsy, "just grew". They are almost as broad as they are long, and they go as they please.

Softly feminine in crepe or chiffon, purely demure in pique or rather starched linen—your cuffs also should correspond.

The Mary Stuart bonnet has produced the ruffle neckline, one that is either gathered flatly and threaded with a cord to tie at the side, or one which frames the face like a Toby frill, thus pushing up your chin just a trifle higher. Very good for double chins.

An odd flower or leaf embroidered haphazardly on the bodice or sleeve of a frock raises the question in one's mind as to whether it is there by accident or design.

However, small medallions of flowers embroidered in bright Hungarian colorings, in correct geometrical formation on the tops and cuffs of other dresses, convince one of the attractiveness of this decorative fashion.

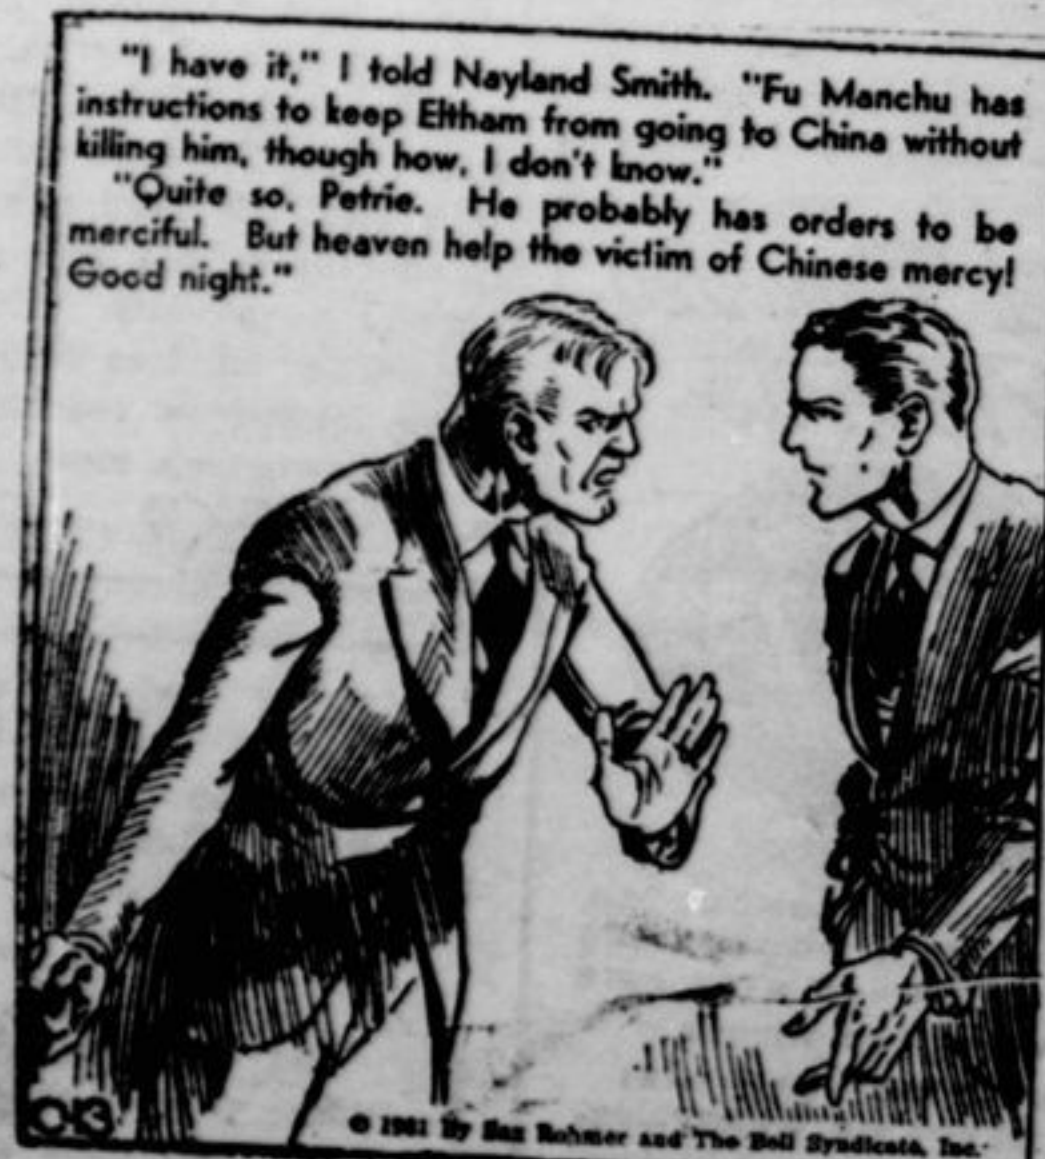

The Navy also enters into the question of the collar vogue, many styles for the younger generation having a truly nautical air.

"People laud you up to heaven, but they always kinda hope you'll fall plumb down to—well, flat on your face."

—Paul Whiteman.

FU MANCHU

By Sax Rohmer

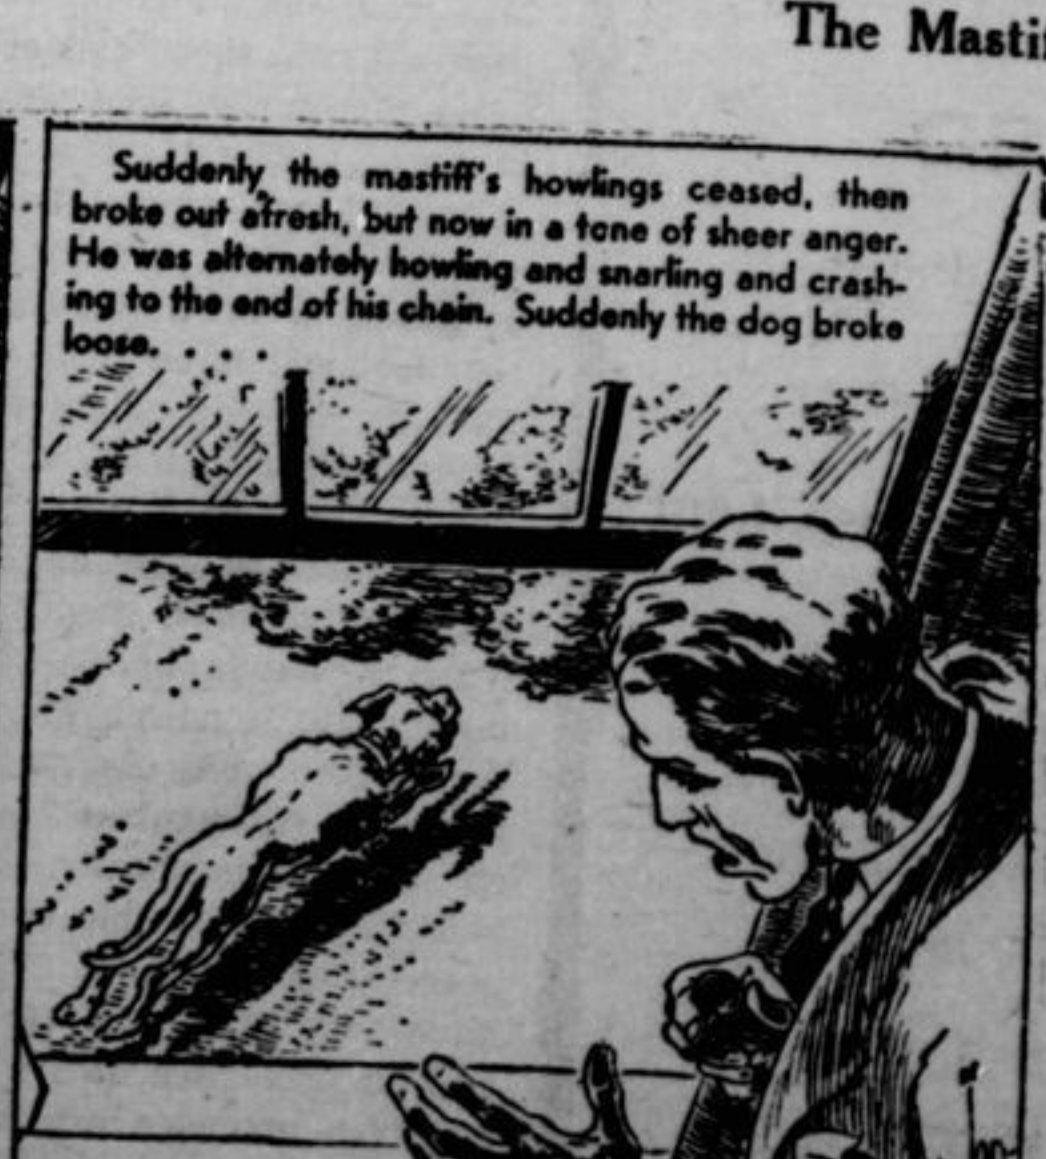

"I have it," I told Nayland Smith. "Fu Manchu has instructions to keep Elham from going to China without me. Quite so, Petrie. He probably has orders to be merciful. But heaven help the victim of Chinese mercy! Good night."

I had looked once upon the awful Chinese doctor, and now, alone in my room, I seemed again to see his face, with those strange green eyes. Perhaps at this moment he was near. The mastiff Caesar howled without ceasing.

I gazed out at the moonlit lawn with the shrubbery showing like an island in a green sea. It was in that shrubbery Denby's dog had been killed; into it vanished the strange creature seen by Miss Elham. What uncanny secret did that clump of bushes hold?

Suddenly the mastiff's howlings ceased, then broke out afresh, but now in a tone of sheer anger. He was alternately howling and snarling and crashing to the end of his chain. Suddenly the dog broke loose.
