MASONIC BRETHREN ATTEND QUEEN ST. SERVICE

The brethren of Grey Lodge, A.F. & A.M. attended service in a body Sunday evening in Queen St. United church, where an inspiring sermon was preached by the pastor-brother, Rev. R. G. Halbert from 1 Cor. 3: 11: "Other foundation can no man lay, than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ."

God made man after a pattern, in the image of God, and God is eternal. If we're true to God we will endeavor to build our lives on pattern He has made for us. There is no other permanence save the eternal quality of this foundation. Christ is a personality—the Eternal Son of the Eternal God.—He is the perfect pattern.

Let us build of indestructible things: such as character, and shun all impurities, impure thoughts and language which defile and destroy the temple. If we would live in God's pattern, the fundamental laws of life must be obeyed. What are you building for? for eternity? Unless you are, the speaker asserted, you should turn now to the beginning, and build for the eternal life.

Two musical numbers by the choir were much enjoyed, one an anthem, "Hark, Hark my Soul" by the whole choir, and the other, a double male quartette.

SYNOPSIS OF GREAT CORONATION PAGEANT

A pageant of the crowning of George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England, not forgetting 1837—1937 the centennial of the accession of Victoria the Good to the same old British throne which now throws the torch to our present King George VI: to be given in Durham arena under the auspices of the Canadian Greys I.O.D.E. and written by the same old pen and same directress who staged Confederation 10 years ago, Mrs. M. E. Farewell of Walkerton. The management considered the use of the rink in May would be too cold and damp for an audience to enjoy such a lengthy evening as such a momentous and magnificent subject as this would necessitate to at all do it justice.

PROLOGUE

The Prologue is laid in "Ashdown Forest", England, and is based on an ancient Saxon legend. The night before a king is crowned—in every cathedral, on moor or beach or commons—all the long dead men or women, knight or knave, simple or great, who loved and sacrificed and toiled to make old England great, come to life and at the mystic hour of midnight, meet, rejoice and make merry and bestow their blessing on that 'New Reign' that is just beginning; a wonderful display of England's past and present.

First century—to war days of 1918; hunting dance of ancient Britons; King Arthur and knights of the Round Table; Edith Cavell; Florence Nightingale; Fragment from France, wounded at Vimy &c. Abdication of Edward VIII, and the raising of George VI to the monarchy &c.

SCENE I

Laid in old Westminster Abbey "The Authenticated Coronation" and the wonderful procession leaving the abbey of the new crowned King and Queen and the great of the land; the passing of the crown from the dead and gone ancestors; Westminster male choir in vestments, only allowed by special grant of the King; Westminster boy school in salutation; Soldiers and sailors of the British Empire; the Historic Beef Eaters, &c.

SCENE II

Laid in Buckingham Palace, London goes mad on night of Coronation; state ball followed by servants' ball; Coronation Blues (dance); O.H.M.S. Girls (dance); Costers, &c.

SCENE III

George VI and his Court ponder long while taking a 'Bird's eye view' of the vast army of peoples uncountable tongues and races that call him King and Emperor—a wonderful multitude nearly one quarter of the earth's inhabitants, an empire on which the sun never sets; songs and descriptive dancing of all races of the world; dance of Old Scotia bagpipes &c; dance of the Mohawks at sacrifice of White Dog; dance of the Hindoo pilgrims from temple to the sacred waters of the Ganges, who dance until they fall from exhaustion &c.

Free candy for every child 12 years and under will be provided at the United Farmers' Picnic, Durham, on July 1st.

New Car was Wrecked; Passengers Escape

Coming to Durham about 7.30 last Thursday morning a new Ford convertible coupe overturned in the ditch at the top of hill south of Varney, pinning driver and owner of car beneath while another young man was thrown clear. The owner of the car, Miss Ilene Workman of Ottawa, had been to St. Catharines, and on return had picked up two other friends in Hamilton, Messrs Joe Shetter and Reg. Crouch, en route to visit at Don. Knight's home here. All are Queen's University students. Shelter was driving when the mishap occurred, the others sleeping. Shelter apparently dozed off to sleep at so, for the car ran off the pavement and overturned two or three times in the ditch. Crouch, who was pitched out was most severely injured, with some deep facial cuts. Shelter and Miss Workman were pinned under the smashed car, and it was some little time before they were released uninjured, except that Miss Workman suffered a badly bruised leg. Fortunately none suffered broken bones. All were taken to hospital here, their wounds dressed and released.

The car, with only 2,000 miles mile-toiled to make old England great, come to life and at the mystic hour of midnight, meet, rejoice and make merry and bestow their blessing on that 'New Reign' that is just beginning; a wonderful display of England's past and present.

Tragic Death of Young Aviator Near St. Marys

Husband of Wilma Smith of Durham.

Sorrow for the young wife of Charles Sockett, was expressed on every hand, when it was flashed to her, at present visiting her parents here Mr and Mrs Robert Smith, that he was with two other aviators, instantly killed, near St. Marys, on Monday morning of this week. On receipt of this word, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and daughter, Wilma, Mrs. Sockett immediately left for Toronto.

How and why the monoplane crashed to earth will always be more or less of a mystery. Eyewitnesses claimed they saw a wing crumple in mid-air, and finally break away from the fuselage, causing the ship to spin earthward out of control. Leavens struggled desperately to bring the craft to earth without a crash, according to farmhands, who stood spellbound in the fields as they watched the one-sided battle against disaster.

The bodies of the victims were horribly mangled and rather than attempt to remove them, officials shifted the wrecked plane. The machine did not bury its nose in the earth, but rather skidded along and rolled sideways in the centre of a wheat field.

But against the testimony of eye witnesses, who said the wing crumpled was the assertion of Walter Leavens, brother of the dead pilot, that the possibility of the wing coming off was a remote one. He said his brother was a capable pilot, and was sure he would have checked the machine carefully before he left Murray Field on the trip to Detroit.

WARDEN MacARTHUR WILL ENTERTAIN

On Friday night of this week, Warden Angus A. MacArthur and Mrs MacArthur will be hosts to County Council, County officials and friends throughout the County, with the ladies, at the annual Warden's Banquet at their home in the Glen, Glenelg. This event is usually held at close of Nov. session in Owen Sound, but Angus is making this pleasing innovation when the hills and vales of Glenelg are looking their finest, and some hundreds will enjoy real Scottish hospitality.

LADY GREYS SCORED DECISIVE WIN OVER DURHAM

The Lady Greys, one of Owen Sound's two crack girls' ball teams, were too much for Durham, trouncing the locals 11—1 here on Monday night in an exhibition contest. Durham held the visitors scoreless in 4 of the 7 innings, played, but fielding lapses, combined with lousy clouting accounted for 9 runs in 4th and 7th frames. Meanwhile Durham could not hit Hilda Shears' shoots.—House and Wallace getting the only safe drives off her delivery, the former scoring Durham's lone run in 2nd. In last two innings Durham got runners to 2nd with none down, but each frame none of the next three batters could bring a runner home. J. Shears, Cornett and Quirk were Lady Greys' best batters, but the whole team played smart ball.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 runs hits
