

ALLAN'S CORNERS

Don't forget St. Paul's anniversary services on Sunday next, July 25th, afternoon service at 2.30. No Sunday school. Evening service to be held at 7.30. Rev. Beverley H. Farr of Dorchester will be the special speaker at the evening service. On following Monday evening a garden party will be held on the church grounds.

A number of the farmers of this locality have invested in new machinery. It looks quite prosperous. Mrs Robert Matthews with her son John has gone to Ottawa where she will visit for a few days with her daughter Ruby. Mr. Walter Ferguson is a patient in the Durham hospital at present.

He underwent an appendicitis operation and is doing well. Mr and Mrs W. Wallace of Durham visited on Monday last with Mr and Mrs D. Davis. Mr Wallace is much improved since his illness and is busy selling insurance.

Recent visitors with J. C. and Mrs Queen were Mr. Harold Chapman of Toronto, Mr and Mrs R. Yager of Prince Rupert, B.C. and Mrs Sprung and son Stanley of Toronto.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Watson were Mrs. C. Harrison and Mr and Mrs Vernon Winkelman of Detroit.

Mr. W. H. Hunter and family attended the funeral of Mr. Hunter's sister-in-law of Galt on Monday last.

Mr. Carman Hargrave raised his barn on Wednesday with a gang of men, and the ladies assisted with the supper.

Rev. M. H. Farr has recently visited among the various parishioners.

MOTORISTS

Try Courtesy

and See How Others Will Follow

WHEN NEXT you go motoring resolve to "Try Courtesy" every inch of the way and see how much more enjoyable your trip will be and how quickly other drivers will respond to your courtesy. If I could but persuade half of the motorists to "Try Courtesy" I am confident that the other half would follow suit and then we would have established the greatest single factor for safe motoring—courteous driving.

Again I suggest that you "Try Courtesy" the next time you are driving. Try to refrain from "pocketing" your fellow-motorist when he gets into a traffic difficulty. Try to give him some warning of what you intend to do next whether it is to slow down, stop, change direction or overtake him. Try to give him his share of the road so as not to unnerve him by a "close shave." Try to remember to dip or dim your brilliant headlights when you meet him at night so that he will not be "ditched" or drive straight on when he should take a curve. Try to remember that hills, curves and other blind spots are danger spots—keep to your right side of the road when you come to them.

In these and the dozens of other ways, which will occur to you, I sincerely recommend that you "Try Courtesy" every inch of the way.

MINISTER OF HIGHWAYS
PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

YEOVIL.

The people of this community sympathize deeply with Mr. W. H. Rogers and family in the passing of the wife and mother from their home.

A life long resident here, Mrs Rogers was well known and her many good qualities of heart and hand will be long remembered by those who knew her best. Her place in the church and community will be hard to fill.

Mr and Mrs. Elgin Wilton, Harriet and Ann, Knox, Normanby, attended Amos anniversary services on Sunday and spent the remainder of the day with Mr and Mrs W. J. Philp. Mr and Mrs A. Nicholson and Mary visited recently with Mr and Mrs. Seigner of Walkerton.

One of the oldest residents of this community was laid to rest on Friday in Woodland cemetery, in the person of Mr. F. Hopkins, after a long period of ill health. Sympathy is extended to those who mourn.

Mrs. Geo. Drimmlie is visiting this week with relatives at Priceville.

Florence Reid and Alice Drimmlie of S.S. No. 9, were successful in passing the Entrance examinations. We congratulate them and their teacher, Miss Sharp.

Mr. Gordon Melroy of Rush Lake Sask., called on Mr. Jas. Nicholson on Friday.

The alterations in Mr. A. Haas' barn are completed and there is much more room in the building by the change which has been made.

If you have something you are not using, why not sell it? A small ad-let in the Review may find a buyer.

Mrs Wm. Brown is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr James Brown of Kingston is visiting his mother, Mrs Alex Brown. Quite a number from here attended the anniversary in Dromore on Sunday and Monday. There were good crowds both days.

The anniversary services at Amos on Sunday were well attended, the church being filled to overflowing at both morning and evening services.

Rev. Mr Killam of Drayton was the speaker and he gave most earnest and inspiring messages. In the morning he took for his subject "Paul"; in the evening his subject "The Lord who died for us"; in the evening his message was to the undecided from the text "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve" showing the blessed hope of the Christian and the eternal sorrow of those who reject Jesus.

In the morning the choir had one selection and Wilma Bryden of Toronto, a young girl who sings over the radio, sang very effectively "The stranger of Galilee." Mrs Clarence McGirr of Durham sang "The beautiful garden of prayer." In the evening, Wilma Bryden sang "The old rugged cross" and Messrs Glass and Saunders of Durham sang "Jesus leads" and "Will you not come home?"

The W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Smallman on Wednesday afternoon last, with 18 present. Mrs D. Marshall offered prayer; Mrs Wallace read the scripture; Mrs Watson and Mrs Wilton each gave readings. Mrs C. McAllister gave a reading, "Many claimants." Mrs. Walter McAllister gave a good reading on the benefits of English schools where Indian children are taught of God. Mrs McAllister Sr. gave a reading on the benefits of work. Mrs Wilton gave current events of missionary interest.

Mrs Marshall Sr. closed the meeting with prayer, after which Mrs Smallman and helpers served lunch.

Mr and Mrs Elgin Wilton were visitors on Sunday with Mr and Mrs W. Philp, attending service at Amos.

Mr and Mrs T. Wallace visited on Sunday with relatives in Owen Sound. Ilene and Marion Marshall accompanied them.

Misses Maud and Diana Thompson attended the funeral of their aunt, the late Mrs Archie Thompson on Saturday.

Mrs John Marshall Sr. had a brief visit with her aunt, Mrs. McAlpine in Toronto last week. Mrs McAlpine is in poor health at present.

Mr and Mrs J. M. Marshall visited recently with friends in Guelph.

Miss Jessie Marshall spent Sunday at her home here.

Mr and Mrs David Marshall, Miss Susie and Howard; Mr and Mrs Albert Marshall and Miss T. E. Byers visited on Sunday with Mr and Mrs Irwin Ferguson and attended anniversary services at Amos.

North Shore of Lake Superior:— Here we are, four automobile voyagers, perched on the edge of this greatest of all lakes, by name Superior. Last night we drove till dark down in a rocky gorge the dark waters of some nameless river poured with violence from the foot of a thirty-foot cascade into this great blue inland sea. We climbed down the rocks to the water's edge, cooked supper and made camp for the night. We went to sleep in the deep woods with a feeling of exultation, with the sound of tumbling water in our ears. At four in the morning we awoke almost in terror with the sound of a multitude of mosquitoes in our ears. It was a fine contrast of Beauty and the Beast. We cooked breakfast: a gallon of porridge, eight eggs, and coffee, with the angry beasts about us. Then one of those sudden violent storms that gives Thunder Bay its name, descended upon us without warning to soak our beds and breakfast, reminding us of Newbold's lines:

"Sure if misery man could vex
"There it beat on our bended necks."

The Trip so Far From Toronto we went to Kingston then to Ottawa, following the Ottawa River up to Petawawa to strike west from there to North Bay. This is the historic route followed by Canadian voyagers as they paddled their great freight canoes, laden with pemmican, from Montreal to the heart of the continent. When we reach Port William we will rejoin the route and follow it to Winnipeg. At North Bay we visited the quintuplets. At Sudbury we spent some time visiting the mines and smelters. We saw logs turned into newsprint at Sault Ste. Marie, and crossed over into the United States which was necessary as the trans-Canada Highway is not completed on the north shore of Lake Superior. From Duluth we came back to Canada, striking the trans-Canada Highway at Port William and Port Arthur. Then it's westward ho, and it's to the mighty west we're bound.

A Glimpse at Quintland Callander three years ago slept on the east shore of Lake Nipissing. A sawmill, a station, a filling station, a church or two, and a quiet, efficient little country doctor. Then the quintuplets came and this little grey headed doctor saved their lives. Today Callander, home of the world's most famous babies, is the world's most famous village. It has several filling stations with special rates for five gallons of gasoline, a thriving hotel, and a number of tourist homes. Visitors love their pictures taken in front of the white picket fence of the babies' doctor. A few miles east of Callander there lived a French community, on poor sourland with gaunt, miserable buildings. Today a broad highway runs to the door step of the Dionne home around which has grown a very healthy mushroom. This mushroom includes the Dafoe hospital, with a special gallery where visitors may see the babies but not be seen. A five acre field provides parking space; a boy sells lucky pebbles from the Dionne farm, another lad collects twenty five cents from those who want their pictures taken in his ox cart; Daddy Dionne has a store, forty by fifty in size, and busy as a land office. Daddy himself, once a French-Canadian farmer two jumps ahead of the wolf, sits in a curtained room and collects twenty five cents for his autograph. We fooled him by using carbon paper in our album, getting four signatures for the price of one. Daddy is as well groomed and tailored as a Montreal financier and appears to have no worries. His farm grows mustard and weak hay. He now cultivates a more productive soil—human gullibility. Barnum said: "One is born every minute" and he was right, for they seemed to be all at Callander.

What about the babies you say? Well, I am but a mere man. They were just five healthy, energetic, beautiful little girls, all identical, all charming, all very wealthy. Do you know a fairy story more preposterous, more grotesque, more absorbing than the story of these five little French-Canadian ladies who stole the heart of the world?

I'm glad I went.

The North Land The North of Ontario is so vast that in comparison the South shrinks to a cluster of villages. Railroad and highway cut across it here and there like strokes of a knife on an immense batter. There is a mark here and there, a slight dent on a vast stretch of rock and forest. It is also a rich land. Bare little villages grow up here and there as men go about the business of cutting timber and extracting metal from the hills. The village may die, sinking back into the solitude of the north. It may grow into a great ugly growing town like Sudbury.

At Sudbury we visited the mines and the smelting plant. We did not go underground but we saw the smelting operations. Nickel the chief product, is used for bathtubs and bathtubs. Both of which are much in demand today. Wages are high, men are being hired every day, money is plentiful. Yet it looks like a slum, compared to Annapolis Royal in Nova Scotia. In an area of about twenty acres, five thousand people are crowded, often a whole family crowded into one room. Children play in the street, the library would be small for a village. But it is growing, at the rate of three thousand a year, and houses are as scarce as trees in China. Some day it will mature, acquiring libraries and playgrounds; today it is a real mining town.

On to Winnipeg At Winnipeg we will get our first mail since leaving home. We will get our shirts washed, have a bath, sleep in a clean bed, then strike west.

On and on our auto goes. And where we'll land nobody knows.

OBITUARY

FRANCIS HOPKINS

On Wednesday, July 14th, there passed away an old and respected resident in the person of Francis Hopkins. In February last he was stricken with a slight stroke from which he did not recover and gradually grew weaker until the end came.

During his illness he was most patient, fully realizing life's journey was fast closing in.

The late Mr. Hopkins was born on July 5th, 1852, near Belleville and in 1874 he came to lot 15, con. 16, Egremont, where he cleared and made his home, and in 1880 he married Jane Churchward who predeceased him eighteen years ago last March.

About thirty five years ago he moved to lot 21, con. 16, where he has lived continuously till death came.

The late Mr. Hopkins was an industrious and straightforward man, and won the esteem and respect of all who knew him. He was a true father. He leaves to mourn his loss, four sons and two daughters, Almada, Mrs Jas. McKenzie, near Rockwood; Alvin of Guelph; Frank, con. 18, Egremont; Mabel, Toronto; John and Mildred at home. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Geo. Ketchum, Detroit. Four brothers and two sisters predeceased him. There are twelve grandchildren thirteen great grandchildren.

The funeral service, conducted by the family minister, the Rev. M. G. Court of Helstein, assisted by the Rev. R. Honeyman of Dromore, took place on Friday to Amos cemetery, Dromore, and was followed by a large number of friends and neighbors. The pall bearers were six nephews, Will Philp, John Weir, Elgin Wilton, Norman Hopkins, A. Nicholson and J. Mather. The flowers contained a beautiful wreath from the family, a spray from Fairbairn W. M.S. and other sprays. The flower bearers were three grandsons, Eric McKenzie, Harold Hopkins, John Hopkins and one grandnephew, Bobby Weir.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ROGERS LARGELY ATTENDED

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. W. H. Rogers was laid to rest last Friday in Reid's cemetery, amid every evidence of respect and affection for the dead and sympathy for the living. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. F. Mercer, assisted by Rev. D. Gowdy of Durham Presbyterian church. "The Old Rugged Cross", which was a favorite hymn of deceased was beautifully sung by Miss Margaret Irwin. Interment was made in Reid's cemetery. The pall bearers were R. Sim; Robt. Watson; Simon Habermehl; David Eakett; Nichol Dodds, all of Holstein, and Sam Langrill of Hanover.

Flower bearers were Reg. Ross of London; Harold Edgerton, of Yale Mich.; Bert Mather and Alex Ross. Relatives and friends from a distance included Mr and Mrs James Wilder, Crosswell, Mich.; Harold Edgerton, Yale; Mrs Chas. Ross and Reg. Ross of London; Mr. Reg. Prebble, Hiderston; Mrs. Arthur Barnes and Max Barnes, Toronto; Miss Agnes Macphail, M.P. of Ceylon, Ont., and many others.

APPRECIATION

One of the wishes of the late Mrs. W. H. Rogers was to extend her sincerest thanks and appreciation to all those who brought and sent her flowers and letters of cheer, and to Miss Feltis and the staff of the Durham Red Cross Hospital for their exceptional care and thoughtfulness.

The North Land The North of Ontario is so vast that in comparison the South shrinks to a cluster of villages. Railroad and highway cut across it here and there like strokes of a knife on an immense batter. There is a mark here and there, a slight dent on a vast
