Honored Valiant Soldier Dead

At Priceville Memorial Service

In annual tribute to the gallant soldiers who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, hundreds of the citizens of Priceville and surrounding country gathered around the Memorial Sunday afternoon, for the annual Memorial service.

Mr. John McQuaker of Owen Sound, was the popular chairman, for the third time, we believe, and the Owen Sound Boys' Band furnished excellent music, before and during the program, also accompanying the hymns sung.

Two returned men, Thos. Chase and Hector McDonald, Clerk of Glenelg, placed two wreaths at the foot of the memorial, one from the Government and one from the comrades. Mr. McDonald also read the names of the fallen comrades, and after the Last Post had been sounded Mrs. D. G. McLean and Mrs. Farquhar McKinnon, mothers of veterans who had gone before, raised the flag.

Miss Macphail, M.P.P., F. R. Oliver, M.P.P., and Col. F. Fraser Hunter, M.P.P., were the speakers of the day, and all in eloquent form, touched on present day world conditions. Miss Macphail confined her address to Canada's foreign policy. It had been distinguished by vagueness, but was becoming more clearly defined. Premier King—at Geneva, London and elsewhere was now making more definite speeches in this regard. Canada wishes peace for the world, and especially peace for Canada. Canada never started a war, but was twice invaded because a colony of Britain's.

No prime minister states Canada's position unless he has to, but Premier King has told Europe quite plainly "if you cannot settle your own troubles, we cannot do it for you."

Our foreign policy is based on four needs; Unity in Canada; what Britain and U.S. think; enter a war, only if Parliament so decides; and our geographical position on this continent, surrounded by the U.S. and three oceans; this finally will determine our foreign policy. By the Westminster Act of 1931, Canada is responsible for her own defence. "More and more" said Miss Macphail in closing, I am becoming North American.

F. R. Oliver stated many things of the Great War were after almost 20 years, becoming forgotten. He was always troubled to know if the sacrifice then had been worth while, when with nations feverishly rearming, we were drawing closer to war. The boys over 20 years ago were told they had to win the war to retain democracy; now democracy is in greater danger than in darker days of 1914. Neither the Communists nor Fascists, the two great forces powerful in Russia and Germany today, value democracy. We hate one extreme as the other. Democracy is again in danger.

Col. Fraser Hunter, M.P.P. for Toronto, but whose summer home is in his old home town, Durham, recalled early days when he used to come to Priceville to his uncle's, Dr. Ghent. In 1898 he had graduated from Military College and started his career as a soldier of the Empire. Before sailing for India, he recalled seeing Sir Wilfrid Laurier unveiling the monument to Champlain. He had been in every country except Germany in the Northern Hemisphere, and through fourteen campaigns.

In his earlier years, it was thought to be the thing to serve the Empire, no matter where; now we have more of a national spirit. The British Empire is the only solid bulwark of a free democracy. This gathering is a re-dedication of spirit and sacrifice; comradeship here is strong—there is to place for the castles of rank. The veterans stand together to serve humanity, they stand for peace and happiness in a troubled world. "War is a terrible thing, and personally, I do not believe we've seen the last of it," he affirmed. The battle now is between the forces of disorder and ordered freedom. No German veteran likes Hitler. Soldiers believe in order and orderly things, and serious thought is being given in Canada to avoid the madness of war. As previous speaker remarked, unity is essential in our foreign policy. Even in Ontario some in Northern Ontario want a separate province, and this Ontario wants to run United States. Canada without Britain, is unthinkable, and so is war with United States. "I know enough about war never to want to go into another" was one of his closing remarks.

On motion of Rev. Wright and Pickering of Priceville, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers chairman and all who had aided in the service.

Presbyterians Bid Farewell to Rev. and Mrs. Gowdy

The members and adherents of Durham Presbyterian church, in very large numbers, spent a most enjoyable evening in the school room of church to say farewell to their pastor and his wife Rev. and Mrs. Gowdy. The event developed into a social and one of the pleasantest kind. As might be expected there was regret on the occasion of it, but all who were there came to express their appreciation of the guests of the evening and were not slow to express it. Mr. Gordon Geddes, Clerk of Session, was chairman of the impromptu program consisting of selection by the choir, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom"; a pleasing solo by Miss Elizabeth Harding, and a humorous reading by Mrs. John Alexander. Rev. and Mrs. Gowdy were called to the platform and Mr. T. M. McFadden read an address as follows:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy: As members, adherents and friends of the Durham Presbyterian church, we have gathered here this evening on the eve of your departure from this neighborhood to your new sphere of labor, we deem it an opportune time to meet with you both in this way, and in a small but humble manner give tangible evidence of our loyal regard for you.

During your stay here, Mr. Gowdy for upwards of three and one half years, as our pastor, you have endeared yourself to the people of this church; from the pulpit you have brought us the Gospel, ever being sincere, courageous, diligent, a good minister of Jesus Christ. In the manifold activities of this church you have been most fervent in spirit, strong and helpful in counsel, expressing delight with us in our joys, and loving sympathy in our sorrows, completing a happy pastorate. We confidently expect the blessing of God to accompany you and attend your service in the new circumstance of your future home.

Mrs. Gowdy, in all branches of the church work, you have been most helpful, your kindness and christian living even reflected genuine devotion to this, your church. The after glow of your life here will long remain to brighten and bless those who have known and felt your influence.

The spirit which has animated our united efforts, as we labored side by side, will lead you on your way, and abide with us, after you both are gone. It is the earnest prayer and hope of each and every one of us that God will always shield and protect you beneath His Everlasting Arms, so that though we say the sad "Good Bye," we may join you at length in the pealing anthems of the choir before the Great White Throne.

Signed on behalf of the Durham Presbyterian church, Rev. and Mrs. Gowdy became the recipients of a walnut writing table and chair, from the congregation, electric table lamp from the choir, a candelabra from the Y.P.S., and to Mrs. Gowdy, a life membership certificate and corresponding pin from the W.M.S.

Rev. Gowdy on behalf of Mrs. Gowdy and himself, made a touching and earnest reply, thanking his people for the kindness they had shown, expressing his regret at leaving and his surety that the work would continue to prosper with the loving spirit which prevailed.

Refreshments were then served and a pleasing hour was spent. Mr. Calder Noble of Camp Borden was a holiday visitor with his mother Mrs. R. Noble.

REV. JOHN E. BELL, B. A. Who left on Tuesday to assume the pastorate of Trinity United Church, St. Johns, Newfoundland.

REV. JOHN BELL LEAVES FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

Since coming east from his recent charge at Brandon, Man., Rev. and Mrs. Bell and family have been visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs J. S. McIlraith here, and among his brothers in Glenelg and elsewhere. On Sunday evening he preached in Queen St. United church to a well-filled church, giving a powerful sermon on "The Cross in Canada". In the early history of our country, Jacques Cartier landing on Gaspé Peninsula, staked a cross thereon, emblematic of the country from which he sailed. Everything of that day and age has disappeared, all but the cross of Christ. Are we doing our utmost to keep its stakes planted within us? This in a few words was the sum and substance of a fine address, which found lodgement in the hearts of his audience.

The resident pastor, Rev. B. H. Halbert, extended to the visiting speaker, the greetings and well-wishes of many friends here on his coming pastorate in Newfoundland.

They left by motor Tuesday for Halifax, and thence will take boat some 540 miles to his new field in St. John's, Newfoundland. He will first occupy his new pulpit on Sunday, August 15th. With a seating capacity of 1600 his new church, Trinity United, has the largest congregation in the Island colony.

BELL FAMILY HOLD FIRST REUNION

The Bell family, sons and daughters of the late Mr and Mrs John M. Bell of Glenelg, held the first reunion with all members present at Oakview Beach, Wasaga. With their families there were over 25 to take part in water sports, games and supper. Dr. Alex M. Bell and family came from Alvinston; Rev. John E. Bell and family who came from Brandon and are en route to St. Johns, Newfoundland, their new field of labor. Mr. Oscar W. Bell came from Noranda, Quebec; Misses Jessie and Mary Bell from Toronto, and Messrs Thomas and George Bell and families from Durham. Mr. Oscar Green, Toronto, an uncle, was also present.

Mr and Mrs Earl Baird and two children were guests of Mrs. David Leith over the weekend. Messrs Alphonso and Angus Cameron of Detroit, whose mother was formerly Nellie McGrath of Durham, were guests of Mr and Mrs John McAuliffe and other relatives in town, over the holiday.

Dr. and Mrs C. C. Ramage visited the former's mother on Tuesday, before moving from his home in Gorrie to Vineland, Ontario.

Mr and Mrs Robert Hewitt, Toronto, were holiday visitors with relatives in town.

Miss Ethel Elvidge, St. Thomas, is visiting with Mrs C. Elvidge. Mrs. David Jackson is visiting with friends in Hamilton.

Miss Mildred Young, Toronto, was a guest of Mr and Mrs A. Hay over the weekend.

Mr. Donald Young, Kitchener, is holidaying with his mother Mrs T. Young.

Mrs. Thos. McGrath, of Toronto, a former resident of Durham, visited friends and relatives over the holiday.

Lawson-Hopkins Reunion at J. A. Graham Home

The annual picnic of the Lawson family reunion was held at the home of Mr and Mrs J. A. Graham on Civic holiday. The first part of the program consisted of sports by the men and visiting by the ladies. About five o'clock all sat down to a picnic luncheon. The president, Mr. Robt. Hopkins then took charge of the program. Mr. Robt. Lawson and son "Bill" delighted the audience with old time violin music. Mrs. Stanley Pust gave a recitation. Mrs. Lance Rumble read a paper entitled "History of Our Family," reminiscences of pioneer days as recalled by her father, R. A. Lawson. The story was very interesting and was thoroughly appreciated by all. Mrs. J. A. Graham was called and she made an address of welcome to all those present. She wished that more of the family could have attended and she offered the suggestion that the family extend its membership to include the descendants of Grandpa Lawson's brothers Joseph, John and Alex Lawson and Ellen Hutton.

Mr. J. A. Graham made a speech in which it was discovered that Mr. Wm. Edge of Edge Hill was the oldest member of the family. He was born July 12, 1859. The youngest member present was Carl Hopkins, three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins. Mrs. George Irwin who came from Winnipeg, came the greatest distance, 500 miles.

Misses Jean and Marjorie Hopkins delighted the audience with step-dancing. Short speeches were made by Messrs Wm. Edge, Wm. Lawson, W. Irwin, Wm. Burgess, Charles Perry and Lance Rumble. The program closed with community singing and Auld Lang Syne. There were fifty three members present. Mr and Mrs Wm. Lawson have invited the family to spend Civic holiday next year at their home in Durham.

An All Night Search for Gerald Tucker

Little Fellow Found at 5 a.m. Sunday

Mr and Mrs. Chas. Tucker townline Egremont and Glenelg, are once more happy, after a bad scare on Saturday night last, when their four year old son Gerald wandered away with the collie dog, sometime before 6 p.m., and was not found until 5 a.m. Sunday. In that interval of time, it is judged the little fellow must have wandered five miles, with his faithful collie at his side. He was first seen at daybreak Sunday, by Hector McEachern, in a line fence corner between the Tucker farm and John Eckhardt's. He introduced himself with a laugh, little realizing he was responsible for so much anxiety.

When the child did not appear for supper, the parents soon became anxious and in a short time the search party increased to between 75 and 100. Realizing about 3 a.m. Sunday, that little more could be done in searching until daybreak, the party search subsided. At daybreak, the search was renewed with increased vigor and anxiety, and shortly after five o'clock, their efforts were rewarded. It is not certain the route the little lad took, but he was last seen by some of the search party in the vicinity of Angus McArthur's creek. When darkness overtook him, Gerald in all probability lay down for the night, the collie his night watchman, not realizing that he had wandered a far or the suspense he brought parents and friends.
