On Wednesday night of last week a number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bryant and presented Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roth (nee Edith Drimmie) with two lovely upholstered chairs and end table also other useful articles. The address was read by Gordon Henderson while chairs and table were presented by Ralph Lamont, Cecil Bryant and Ray Adams. The address reads:

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to spend another social time together and to extend to you our very best wishes for your future happiness, since you have taken to yourself a husband, we trust that in your new home you will find happiness and contentment and that you will be always able and willing to lend a hand of helpfulness. We felt that we could not let this occasion pass without showing to you in some small way the esteem in which you have been held in this community and we ask you and your husband to accept those two chairs and table as a token of our esteem. We hope you will not forget your neighbours but pay us a visit occasionally.

Ralph Lamont, Gordon Henderson, Cecil Bryant, Ray Adams

Mr. and Mrs. Roth replied very appropriately thanking everyone for the beautiful presents and inviting all to come and see them; also thanking Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bryant for their hospitality, after which all sang "for they're a jolly good couple." Egremont Enterprise

Well, the letters to the farmers in central Egremont regarding the credit survey are all in the mail. It is hoped a good percentage will see fit to reply to the questionnaire. It will give Mr. Harvey McDougall, who is to write the articles on farm credit, a little idea of Egremont's financial status.

Since the last weekly letter, (when it was announced that an open meeting would soon be called) a number have suggested our speaker be someone like S. B. McCready, one time Professor at the O. A. C. who has travelled a good deal in Canada and Europe and can give first hand information on the results of Adult education. The following is an anonymous letter received which we feel is worth printing:

Every community should have a five year plan. Its citizens should look forward to improving their standard of living, to increasing their enjoyment of life. Our Department of Highways has engineers who make plans for the maintenance and improvement of our roads. Every community should have its Social Engineer. Let me tell you a story of a social engineer who died recently. Professor E. L. Morgan after seeing service in the Great War was appointed Community Advisor to the Extension Department of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Morgan must have had an absorbing job. He would get a call from a Community much as a doctor might get a call from a patient. "Our Community is sick," they would say, "We have no recreational activities, our young people's society is not up to scratch; the boys are breaking windows, our church attendance is falling off." Professor Morgan would visit the Community, talk to the citizens, the teachers, attend church, meet school children. He would diagnose the needs of the Community, then prescribe what should and could be done about it. Then on his suggestions new ideas would be adopted and a Community would pull itself up by its own bootstraps, so to speak.

For many years he served the farm community of Massachusetts in working out their five year plans. Every community with intelligent members who are interested in its welfare, can similarly bring joy and interest into the life of their neighborhood. —Signed "Betty Saugeen."

Does Egremont need a five year plan? Let's hear suggestions.

STATE MEDICINE

BY
 J. A. HANNAH, M. D.

Usually when we think of Health Insurance, we naturally think of State Medicine because of the frequency with which we hear of the British plan. At this distance we take it for granted that it is completely satisfactory. What we tend to forget is that for 12 or 15 years that plan was unsatisfactory and it was not until the interested parties realized the necessity for cooperation that it was at all acceptable to anyone.

The usual difficulty with State Medicine is that it is planned by politicians who do not appreciate all the factors involved. Usually it is based on the cost only and all other factors are forced into the limits of what the politicians think can be paid. It is a sort of medical service as any other commodity that we pay for. If we wish a first class article we must pay the price.

Possibly the greatest drawback of State Medicine is (1) its lack of elasticity and (2) the suddenness with which it come into force.

Governments: Control by parliamentary acts which are definite expressions of opinions usually of the party in power. Unfortunately, opinions, however sincere, may be wrong. An opinion which appears correct to-day may be proven wrong by experience to-morrow. The unfortunate part of such Acts is that changes can only be made by the Government, and this is of necessity, a slow process. When anyone is ill, they must have the service needed and such a rigid method of control is irritating and often prolongs illness, delays progress and protects inefficiency.

Dates have to be set on which such acts come into force. Immediately after such dates large numbers of people are brought under the act, and at once, numerous problems arise. Without the experience of natural growth, the administrators are forced into hasty decisions which may not be suitable.

The greatest danger of State Medicine is that it would be subject to political patronage and interference. Some of our other commissions are supposed to be free of this but both parties have not been free of such political interference. This may have little effect on the ordinary person in ordinary matters, but in medical services; it will affect the illness of our families with serious consequences.

The Government, however, has an important part to play in any such plan, but this should be done in co-operation as a partner with all other interested parties. The unemployed and poor must be cared for out of taxes from the government.

Finally it is a sign of weakness and lack of ability to ask anyone else to do what we ourselves should. The first step in establishing dictatorship is the surrender of our individual liberty. Every thing has its price. The price of personal liberty is the assumption of personal responsibility. Medical service is a very personal problem and the more personal responsibility we assume in solving the problems it presents, the greater will be our satisfaction.

THE DAWN OF MARCH

The first of March in full display, February is o'er; Although no lamb is out to play We hear no lion's roar.

The morning's dawn comes stealing on, No sun shines bright and gay; A misty dullness settles down Which winds can't blow away.

Bright days are still ahead of us; Our fears of storms is o'er; Whatever comes we still can trust God holds the best in store.

—Teddy.

OVER FOUR BILLION PASSENGERS SERVED WITH PERFECT SAFETY

During more than sixteen years, from the first day of service, the Toronto Transportation Commission and Gray Coach Lines have carried more than FOUR BILLION PASSENGERS—in round figures—4,430,000,000. This is the perfect record achieved by these services.

Not one passenger has ever been fatally injured while using T.T.C. street cars, buses, ferries or Gray Coach Lines on the highways of Ontario.

Gray Coach Lines safety is not a matter of chance. It is completely planned safety. The four main divisions of this plan are:

1. A modern transportation system designed and equipped to ensure maximum safety.
2. Constant inspection and maintenance of the system.
3. Men chosen and qualified for the duties they have to perform.
4. Operating methods and practices proven by seventy-six years of public transportation experience.

Whenever you travel, choose the safest transportation. There is none safer than Gray Coach Lines services. The record proves it.
