How to have More Beautiful Homes

Told by Lionel Scott, Toronto Specialist in Interior Decorating

A unique address was enjoyed Tuesday night under I. O. E. auspices, by a Durham audience when Lionel Scott, famed decorator of Toronto, and writer of "The Home Beautiful" in the Globe and Mail, gave a wealth of timely suggestions and color schemes for improving and brightening home interiors. Frequently, he remarked we see fine residences and attractively kept grounds, but dull and uninviting rooms when we enter the home.

And to brighten our homes, color—and proper colors to suit the room required—is the chief requisite. It is not necessary to have great wealth but limited finances and good taste in furnishings and trimmings will go far to make our homes most attractive and cosy. The housewife often seeks the advice of other women friends as to decoration schemes; instead she should consult her husband, children or men in the home. They are the ones who have to live there, and it is recognized that men, rather than women, have achieved greater renown as designers, chefs, etc.

For interior decoration to be a joy and pride, there are five essential points: there must be proper proportion, balance, scale, rhythm and a focal point of interest. The rooms should be interesting, friendly, and enticing. According to the shape, size and location of the room, what the furniture and colour schemes be arranged. He instanced various colour schemes for various rooms, and stated why such colours were best. The kitchen is the factory of the house—it should be pretty and arresting; the living room should be mellow, comfortable and inviting; the dining room gay and colorful; and the bedrooms should possess "charm" which is hard to define. The bedroom is the heart of the home, the wife's personal domain, and it is every woman's duty, as well as privilege, to be charming.

At the conclusion of his fine address, Mr. Scott displayed many fabrics, cloths, wall paper designs, and paint colors, telling what each was best adapted for. Mr. J. F. Irwin introduced the speaker on behalf of Gan, Greys' Chapter and Miss Florence McLean gave two appreciated piano solos. It is regrettable that the crowd was small. Almost all present were of the gentler sex; in fact, only four males could be found in the audience. Evidently the men in Durham and vicinity are willing to leave home decoration to their better half's judgment.

Our congratulations to Elora Rocks, who have duplicated Durham's feat of two years ago in winning the O. H. A. Int. B championship, defeating Powsassan in the finals. Elora team, with the exception of two players, were all born and brought up in or near the village. Ferguson, with the Durham speedster, Dean, on their lineup were pre-season favorites to win, and they gave Elora their stiffest opposition all season, Elora just nosing them out after a three-game district play-off.

Hirtle will preach at both services on Easter Sunday. Resurrection hymns and anthems, under the leadership of the organist, Mrs. J. H. Harding will be a feature at the Sabbath day services in the morning the choir will render the anthem "Go Quickly and Tell," and at the evening service "Alleluia" by E. W. Norman, and "He Lives Again" by H. Van Berge. A song service of appropriate hymns will precede the evening worship hour.

United Congregations Will Merge in Durham

Subject to the consent of Grey Presbytery, Knox and Queen St. United congregations, Durham, will unite as one congregation, holding regular services in Knox Church, after the close of the present church year, June 30th next. Rev. R. G. Halbert's term as pastor of Queen Street will then have expired, and another appointment will doubtless be given him.

At a congregational meeting in Queen St. Church Wednesday evening, its members voted very strongly in favor of the amalgamation. The schoolroom was filled to capacity. Last Friday night Knox Church Session and Managers met a deputa-tion from Queen St. and the Knox officials were unanimous in assuring their Queen St. brethren of a warm welcome and approval of the union, should Queen St. vote in favor. The union will create a congregation of about six hundred members.

For almost half a year, during the illness of Mr. Halbert, the congregations have worshipped together, but with his happy recovery to health, he will assume his own pulpit this Easter Sunday for the balance of the church year.

A Gray County Memorial, and Park surrounding is being planned for erection on the brow of 6th St hill going into Owen Sound. The cenotaph is to be topped by a constant beacon light, standing 60 feet above ground level. It is to cost about $7,000.

Brant, with three beer parlors, located at Elmwood, Dunkeld and Car-gill, is the wettest rural municipality in the county, and being on the doorstep of Walkerton with a trio of beverage rooms, a brewer's warehouse and a government Liquor Dispensary is the oasis among urban centres in Bruce, a distinction that is hardly worth crowing over.—Walkerton Herald-Times

HELD A "GET-TOGETHER" On Friday evening, April 8th a "Get-Together" was held in the Presbyterian basement. Truck Fell in Creek off Side of Bridge

Frank Bondi's big fruit truck returning to Mount Forest about 2.00 a. m. Tuesday morning, crashed against the east cement sidewalk of the northerly bridge over creek at Orchard Mills on No. 6 highway, knocking the wall into the creek and loosening a few guard posts. The strong wire guard cable along fence held the wheels of truck, and both sets hung against the guard cable.

F. Bondi was driving, and with him were two helpers. Rather miraculously none of the three were hurt, except for a leg bruise by one of the trio, and all climbed out the upper side window of cab. A front tire blowing out as they approached the bridge, we learn, the cause of the accident. The truck was returning almost empty, so no merchandise was lost.

The cost of repairs to truck and rebuilding side wall and guard at bridge will run up into four figures. However insurance will take care of that, and no lives were lost.

TROUT SEASON OPENS ONE DAY EARLIER According to Mr. D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, the speckled trout fishing season will officially open on April 20th this year. May 1, the usual opening day, falling this year on a Sunday, the authorities have decided to shove the day ahead and allow the anglers to get an early start at their favorite pastime without having them break the Sabbath.

Mrs. Thomas McAllister attended the funeral service of a cousin in Fergus.

The Hon. Dr. Jamieson, Toronto spent a day in Durham this week. Mr. and Mrs. D. McCallum left on Friday for Toronto where Mrs. McCallum underwent an operation Saturday at Western Hospital. She is recuperating nicely.
