Why Concentrate on Beer?

Opponents of Government Control concentrate their attacks on our industry. This alone, to any thinking man, is enough to throw doubts on their wisdom.

If the cause of true temperance is their object, rather than a tactical advantage, they surely should not devote so large a part of their time to attacking the mildest of alcoholic beverages, and one which is not habit-forming.

But because a democratic law makes our product available by the glass to working men, under Government Control, the opponents of the present system seek to drive drinking underground—where they do not see it. The truth is, that the individual is less likely to commit abuses in public, and the abuses are more easily correctable.

In fact, licensed hotels are very seldom the scene of excess. Because an intoxicated man is seen near a hotel—it does not follow that he acquired the means of intoxication in a hotel. But it does provide the unthinking people with a useful text... if they do not bother to prove their conclusions.

We find no definite evidence to support the theory that satisfying the taste for beer develops a craving for whisky. On the contrary, we believe that if beers... are more easily obtainable than distilled liquors and are sold in different conditions, there is reasonable ground to expect that the taste of those who wish to drink will be diverted to the lighter and less harmful beverages.

"THE HOUSE THAT HITLER BUILT"

The May issue of "The Reader's Digest" has a highly interesting condensation of a book entitled "The House that Hitler Built," written by Mr. Stephen H. Roberts. His book which is engagingly written and unusually colorful, presents a balanced picture of events that hitherto have come to us in fragments. It has been critically claimed "the best general book yet written about 'Nazi Germany.'" We quote from it in part: "Hitler is transparently honest—he carries the crowds with him because he believes so utterly, so appealingly, in what he is saying. Nevertheless, he can say different things in successive moments and believe in each with the same fervor. It is his terrific power of self-delusion that introduces such an element of uncertainty into every thing he does. His advisers never know what he is going to say next. The Dictator is never alone. His 'suicide brigade' of special guards surround him everywhere. Yet he never has real personal contacts. The charming pictures one sees, in which he is taking bouquets from tiny tots or grasping the horny hands of picturesque old peasants, are all arranged. They are triumphs of the photographic skill of his old friend Hoffman: Hoffman blots out the surrounding guards and we see the result.

Most of his trouble, indeed, seems to be due to his enforced seclusion from mankind. He lives in an unnatural detachment that makes his disease of being a godhead batten on itself: the most balanced of human beings could not stand this kind of life without losing a sense of reality. Nobody would call Hitler emotionally balanced at the best of times, and constant adulation makes him pathological. Nobody can tell him anything or speak frankly, still less criticize his policy or himself. He lives in a mental world of his own, more aloof than any Sun King, and he has only the narrow mental equipment and experience of an agitator to guide him. Unless one accepts the prevalent German view that he gets his inspiration from God, one must conclude that the future of Germany and the peace of the world rest on the tangled working of the mind of one man whom not even his friends would call normal.

HOW GLENELG WAS NAMED

Editor McDonald of Chesley comments: "In reading 'Withdraw's History of Canada,' we notice Lord Glenelg was a British Colonial secretary at that time and we came to the conclusion that the township of Glenelg in Grey County was named after that important official, which portfolio is now filled by the Hon. Malcolm MacDonald. If this is not correct the Durham papers are requested to put this g. f. j. on the right track."

Brother McDonald is correct. The township was named after Charles Grant of Glenelg, in the County of Inverness, Scotland, who was raised to the peerage as Lord Glenelg in 1836. When the Duke of Wellington succeeded Lord Goderich as Premier in 1828, Mr. Grant was President of the Board of Trade, but he left the Government, along with Lords Palmerston and Dudley, Mr. Huskisson and Mr. Lamb (afterwards Lord Melbourne). In 1831 Grant took office under Lord Grey and assisted to carry the Reform Bill. In Melbourne's Government, Lord Glenelg was Secretary of State for War and the Colonies. In that capacity he had much to do with Canadian affairs during the critical rebellion period. One writer says of him: "Lord Glenelg with the best intentions in the world, had a positive genius for doing the wrong thing."

SUMMER TIME IN TORONTO

Daylight-saving went into operation in Toronto Sunday morning April 24, at 2 o'clock. Until Sept 25, it gets you up and puts you to bed one hour earlier than you know actually to be the case.

For years tried and tested as it has been in the majority of cities and towns of Ontario—it has brought a smile to the face of many an urban dweller, and a protest to the lips of many a ruralite. Opinion as to its merits or demerits is by no means unanimous in either instance.

Teachers have been in Toronto this week attending the great Easter meeting of the Ontario Educational Association. There is much confusion in the mind of the teaching fraternity as well as of the public as to what the proposed changes mean, how they are to be carried out and what the results will be. The Department of Education with regard to some of them, does not know its own mind. So far as we can make them out, some of them at least appear to us to be whimsical, revolutionary, unnecessary and inadvisable.

FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

There is a fable that curiosity killed a cat but it was not a fable when Emmanuel Monk's curiosity cost him $15.00 plus 5.75 costs and the cancellation of his driver's permit for 60 days in Magistrate Spereiman's police court in Hanover on Thursday afternoon.

Monk was charged with reckless driving on Hanover's main street on the evening of April 20th, when he crashed into the rear of a parked car near the Hanover movie theatre inflicting damages to the amount of about $12.00 to the parked car.

In his testimony Monk declared that he was looking at the large posters in front of the movie to see what show was on Saturday night, and neglected to watch where he was driving.

A FACT A WEEK ABOUT CANADA

CANADA'S FIRST MOVIES

In 1896 John Griffin, popularly described as "the father of motion picture houses in Canada," opened the first regular Canadian motion picture theatre on Yonge Street in Toronto. Shortly afterwards, L. E. Oulmet opened a similar theatre in Montreal. Pictures were shown of the Corbett-Fritsimmons fight in 1896, Queen Victoria's jubilee procession in 1897, and the departure of the Canadian contingent for South Africa in 1900.

Films of this early period consisted of only one reel and, as the novelty wore off, interest in them began to die out. In 1902 Edwin S. Porter made a picture which told a "story." The narrative was conveyed to the audience by means of pantomime, printed dialogue flashed on the screen to explain the actions of the characters or what they said.

In 1926 Warner Brothers presented the first talking and sound pictures in New York. Over night Canadian theatres installed sound equipment and the "silent" picture practically disappeared.

"Talking" or "sound pictures" technicolor and many other improvements demand a high degree of skill and technical knowledge, as well as heavy capital investment. However, "Short subject" informative films have been produced with a considerable success.

The number of motion picture theatres increased from 862 in 1925 to 959 in 1936.

Education Costs Down in Grey

Education will cost the county of Grey something in the neighborhood of $2,000 less than it did last year, Reeve W. S. Hunter told Grey Council in presenting his report at the special session.

The report was a long one, involving cost per municipality on the county rate and dealing with rebates, high school districts, etc. It evoked some discussion when brought up in committee of the whole council, but there was nothing of a contentious nature.

The following amounts are payable for the maintenance of Grey County pupils attending colleges, high and continuation schools in 1937, being 50 per cent. payable by municipalities in proportion that number of pupil days bears to aggregate attendance of County pupils. Fifty per cent. of total costs equals $18,428.29 and 50 per cent. of cost per day equals $0.2211.

Part of the following townships are not in a high or continuation school district and the amounts after their names are payable: Artemesia $397.32, Collingwood $2,697.64, Derby $1,249.88, Egremont $1,348.05, Holland $1,406.86, Osprey $1,209.86, Sullivan, $1,068.13, Sydenham $1,064.87. A total of $10,432.61. The following are payable by the entire municipalities: Bentleek $992.51; Euphrasia, $428.92; Glenelg $871.58; Keppel $1538.42; Normanby $879.76; Proton $1,355.57; Sarawak $271.51; St. Vincent $1,583.30; Neustadt $89.76; Shallow Lake $47.57; a total of $8,056.85 and a grand total of $18,489.26.

The tall, thin man was quarrelling with the undersized little fellow.

"Yer lanky strip," yelled the diminutive one, "if yer tied yerself in a knot, yer couldn't be fat!"

"And you," retorted the lengthy chap, "if you were to pull your socks up you'd be blindfolded."
