Czechoslovakia has allies, pledged to come to her aid-France and Russia. But now France is tied up in the new Anglo-French military alliance which does not guarantee Britain's help should France choose to aid Czechoslovakia. In fact, Britain is already telling the Czech Premier that his concessions to Germany are not good enough, that he must give in to Hitler still further.

Czechoslovakia is in an intolerably difficult situation. Democracy has never in the history of modern times been put on so bad a spot.
