

Windsor Quits Raising Cattle

"E.P." Shorthorns On Alberta Ranch Will Be Sold at Auction, Manager Announces

The Duke of Windsor is going out of the cattle business on his 3,900-acre "E.P." ranch, near High River, Alta., W. L. Carlyle, manager of the ranch announces. He said the Shorthorn herd, approximately 135 head will be sold by auction September 30.

"I have received instructions that we are definitely going out of cattle raising but will continue with horses, sheep and ponies," said Mr. Carlyle.

Bought It 20 Years Ago

When the ranch was taken over by the Duke of Windsor 20 years ago, steps were immediately launched to build up a fine Shorthorn herd. Much of the foundation stock came directly from royal estates in the Old Country along with some of the outstanding prize winners in the United Kingdom.

Many prize winners, including both imported and home bred animals, are in the present herd which will go on the auction block this month.

Mother of the "Pats"

JENNY MORRIS

Hostess to hundreds of Canadian soldiers at her London home during the Great War while they were on leave from duty in the front lines, Jenny Morris was the guest of Prime Minister W. L. M. King at a dinner given at Ottawa in honor of Lord Stanley, secretary of state for the dominions. Miss Morris is in Canada for a coast-to-coast tour during which she will renew acquaintanceships formed in the war years, with members of the famed Princess Pats.

Lake Superior Has No Tides

An Interesting Theory Was Advanced But Disproved—Hydrographers Call Movement Of Its Waters, A "Seich"

"Lake Superior has a very perceptible tide," is a statement in the Christian Science Monitor, the writer being, evidently, one who has lately come to take up residence in the region, for the further introductory remark is made that "We had never heard of a lake having a tide until we came to live on the shore of Lake Superior."

It is an interesting theory, but does not agree with the observations of the hydrographic departments of the United States and Canadian Governments, says the Fort Arthur News-Chronicle. These departments have been observing and making daily records of the waters of Lake Superior for 70 years, and their conclusions are that there are no tides on Lake Superior, at least of such proportions that in the ever moving waters, they can be measured.

There's a Difference

The rising of shore waters as described by the writer in the Christian Science Monitor was probably what is known by the hydrographers as a seich. This is a movement of water caused by atmospheric or barometric pressure. When the pressure becomes high, say 10, 15, 20 or 50 inches out from the shore, the natural result is to force the water inland. Just as it would be forced toward the side of a tub by the immersion of a nail. When this situation develops, the water rises on shore in exactly the way described by the writer who tells about the floating of a boat that had been drawn up with its prow in the sand so that it would not float.

Changes in Shore Line

These seiches sometimes cause changes in shore line water levels of as much as one and one-half feet.

Tides are caused by gravitation or the attraction exerted by the moon and are of such regularity that their exact time can be calculated years ahead.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON X
SAMUEL: SPIRITUAL REVIVAL
I Samuel 7:1-17

Printed Text—1 Samuel 7:3-13
Golden Text—Direct your hearts unto Jehovah, and serve him only. 1 Samuel 7:3.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
Time.—1121-1101 B.C.

Place.—Kiriath-jearim was located about seven and one-half miles from Jerusalem; Mizpah was in the tribe of Benjamin, and may be what is now known as Mount Scopus, immediately north of Jerusalem; Ebenezer was also a few miles north of Jerusalem, between the cities of Mizpah and Shechem, though we do not know its exact location.

3. And Samuel. Where had Samuel been all of these years, and what had he been doing? How we should like to know definitely! Already his fame as a prophet had spread throughout the land, and the Israelites, though depressed, were inclined to listen to his words more than to the words of any other leader of their day.

Levite, Nazirite, prophet, he possessed every qualification for attracting respect and acting as a teacher. A life of holiness and self-denial, consistent in every particular, well known to all Israel, carried with it an authority that could not be acknowledged by every real Israelite. Spoke unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto Jehovah with all your heart, then put away the foreign gods and the Ashtaroth from among you, and direct your hearts unto Jehovah and serve him only; and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines. At Ramah, where his influence was greatest, he raised an altar and performed the worship of Jehovah with such faithful Israelites as he could find to join him. Steadily and warily he won his way into the hearts of his countrymen. With unwearied zeal he went up and down among them from one end of the land to the other reproving, rebuking, exhorting. He recalled to mind their ancient glory, infused into their hearts the long-forgotten ideas so familiar to their forefathers—the special providence that watched over them; the guidance exercised, the prosperity consequent upon obedience, the punishment that followed the infringement of divine commands.

Paganism Put Away

4. Then the children of Israel did put away Baalim and the Ashtaroth and served Jehovah only. It is a great day for any family, for any man, for any nation, when strange gods, false deities, idols of every kind, are definitely put away.

5. And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpah, and I will pray for you unto Jehovah. "Mizpah" means watch-tower, and was the meeting-place of the national assembly. It was located in the tribe of Benjamin.

6. And they gathered together to Mizpah. And drew water, and poured it out before Jehovah, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against Jehovah. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpah.

The pouring forth of water may have implied that they poured from their hearts fruits of penitence and tears; that they desired by the heaviness of their grief to wash their land free from the accumulated evil of the past years. Here is probably the first time in twenty years that Israel made a public confession of her sin.

Defeat of the Philistines

7. And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid of the Philistines. 8. And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to cry unto Jehovah our God for us, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines. 9. And Samuel took a sucking lamb, and offered it for a whole burnt-offering unto Jehovah; and Samuel cried unto Jehovah for Israel; and Jehovah answered him. How altogether different is the condition of Israel now from what it was twenty years before this when they suffered defeat at the hands of the Philistines! Then they had only the symbol of God's gracious presence, now they had the reality. Then their spiritual guides were the wicked Gophni and Phinehas; now their guide was holy Samuel.

10. And as Samuel was offering up the burnt-offering, the Philis-

Are You Listening?

By FREDDIE TEE

WARING'S 20-VOICE CHOIR

On October 8, after an absence of nearly two years, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians return to the air augmented by an capella choir of twenty men. Waring plans to use youthful college glee clubs or other similar semi-amateur experienced voices. Arias from operas as well as the best in semi-classic and popular field will constitute the basis of this new male choir singing.

TOSCANINI TO CONDUCT

Comprising one of the most complete schedules in the history of Metropolitan Opera, Great Plays and the NBC Symphony Orchestra, Arturo Toscanini will direct 12 of the orchestra series which begins October 15th.

WALTER DAMROSCH BACK

The famous NBC "Music Appreciation Hour" will be presented for the 11th season under the direction of music counsellor Walter Damrosch.

METROPOLITAN OPERA

For the eighth consecutive year, radio will again afford listeners the opportunity of enjoying the greatest music dramas right in their own homes. Each Saturday the NBC Networks will carry a complete performance by the world's outstanding artists, direct-from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House.

"BANDWAGON" FOR DANCERS

From the smooth strains of Guy Lombardo to the swing arrangements of Benny Goodman, a lively new NBC Red Network program starts Sunday, September 4th. Other big names for this series include Lopez, Duchin, Bernie, Dorsey and Kemp, thus giving a complete picture to listeners of today's popular music—Hot, Sweet and in between. This replaces the "Interesting Neighbors" program.

"PIPE FOR BERGEN"

No matter where Bergen and Charlie McCarthy spend their vacation late this month, NBC "Mikemen" will be there with a microphone and "Pipe" him (as they call it) into his usual Sunday night broadcast.

NEW RADIO SETS

The latest contribution to "Magic of Radio" is the spreading out of short-wave bands so that what previously had to be cramped into two bands has now been extended to five channels—thus preventing overlapping of stations—making short-wave reception as easy to tune in an local reception. This is a feature of the new 1939 DeForest Crosley, Music Master, Symphony Series.

Claims Crime Is "Necessary"

Psychologist Says It Keeps The World Away From Savagery—Moral Acts Those in Accord With Public Welfare

A prominent psychologist asserted last week if there were no law breakers and all laws were obeyed the world would revert to savagery.

In the law-breaking class he put the Christian martyrs. The psychologist—Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles—championed the "necessity" of crime in an article for the forthcoming (September) issue of the California Monthly, publication of the University of California's alumni.

Some Laws Are Wrong

Dr. Dunlap argued that there was nothing really wrong about violating a "bad" law and that the "crime" involved might even benefit society in the end by contributing to the elimination of the improper statute.

"If we assume that it is one's duty to promote public welfare and to avoid acts against public welfare," he said, "we can hardly avoid the conclusion that under certain circumstances it is one's duty to commit crime. This situation arises because there are laws which really are detrimental to public welfare."

Says the King Coming in 1939

To Canada and U. S.—Liverpool Paper Declares Trip "Almost Certain"

The Liverpool Post in its London letter last week said the King and Queen will "almost certainly" visit Canada and the United States during 1939, although no plans have yet been discussed and no invitations issued.

It was understood, the column said, that Lord Tweeddale, Governor-General of Canada, mentioned unofficially the possibility of a visit though an invitation from Canada would come through the prime minister.

Will Make Arrangements

The column added that Lord Stanley, dominions secretary might discuss arrangements with Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

At Ottawa, Mr. King recently said the King needed no invitation to visit the Dominion. Canada always stood ready to welcome its sovereign.

Negroes Propose African Homeland

Would Ask Gifts of Territory From France and England—Liberia as Nucleus

A demand that the British Government act to improve the social and economic lot of the negroes of the West Indies was contained in a resolution passed at the final session of the convention of the Universal Negro Improvement Association in Toronto last week.

The resolution pointed out that 1938 was the 100th anniversary of the West Indian negroes, and called on British authorities to rescue them from what it termed wretched economic conditions.

Would Improve Race

The 180 men and women delegates, who represent a 4,000,000

membership scattered all over the world, were in session for eleven days, and considered mainly the position of the race and the means at hand to improve it. They re-elected Marcus Garvey of London, Eng., President-General, and Miss Ethel Collins of New York City, Secretary. Thomas Harvey of Philadelphia, was elected Chancellor.

How Daylight Saving Began

Was Adopted Generally in Europe During the Great War—Called "Summer Time"

Daylight saving was adopted in nearly every country in Europe in the second year of the War, the idea being that, by getting people up an hour earlier, there would be a great saving in fuel for lighting and heating. In many countries, however, it was dropped when war ended.

"Summer time" is observed today in France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Spain and Portugal. Summer time bills were also approved in Canada in 1934, and in New Zealand in 1927. The United States seems unable to make up its mind. Some states use it, while others do not.

He Originated It

The idea was advocated long before the war by a Chelsea (England) builder, William Willett. Willett was himself an early riser, and used to ride in Petts Wood, Chislehurst, on summer mornings before coming to town for business. In the evenings he it was while enjoying these recreations in 1907 that he conceived the idea of extending the hours of daylight available for leisure. He devoted himself to a campaign, and in 1908 Mr. (afterwards Sir Sibley) Pearce introduced a Bill in the British House of Commons to put the clock on by law. At first it was laughed at, but the Bill continued to come up year after year with increasing support. Willett never lived to see the Act in force, for he died in March, 1915. A memorial to him now stands in Petts Wood.

Summer time was introduced for the first time on May 21, 1916, but it was not until 1925 that the final and permanent Act was passed.
