Hanover Fair directors evidently select their Fall Fair dates after they know Durham Fair dates, with the idea in mind they are assured of good weather. The Hanover Post would lead one to think that at least, judging by their comment last week, when they stated "that now Durham Fair was over, they were assured of dry weather."

Gaetna Vezina, of Ottawa, has been appointed teacher to the Dionne quadruplets. Miss Vezina will take up her duties immediately, having just returned home from vacation.

JACK O'SULLIVAN

THE WAR SCARE

The past week goes into history as one of wholesale jitters, emphasizing how closely all the world has been drawn together by the advances of science, and how inter-dependent the various units now are! 100 years ago the Czech mess would have been merely an incident: to-day it is a world imbroglio. Those nations that would manage to keep out of the hostilities if another war should come, will be lucky indeed.

The proposed acceptance by the British and French governments of Hitler's latest demands is unpalatable to the democratic peoples of the world, and hard things are being said about it. Realists look upon it as an evidence of military weakness on the part of Britain and France.

In some quarters it is defended as an expedient for gaining time for the delayed rearmament programs of the democracies. No can deny that the settlement on the basis of Hitler's terms represent the greatest triumph achieved by militarists since the great war. The seizure of Manchuria by Japan, conquest of Ethiopia by Italy, the absorption of Austria by Germany and the control of most of Spain by Italy and Germany fade into insignificance alongside it. The effect promises to make Germany supreme in Europe. Whether a stroger Germany will continue to use power politics and keep the world in a state of suspense and terror is a matter for speculation. Some authorities believe that she will not be content until she has matched strength in a direct conflict with the great democracies and achieved world domination.

FIRE LOSSES CUT

In 1922, Canada's fire losses were $54,390,000, or $6.20 per capita, as compared with a loss of $37,204,000, or 57 cents per capita, in Britain. Such a situation indicated an inexcusable waste of resources and effort. Since that date Canadians have produced a remarkable achievement. In 1937 Canada's fire loss was $22,700,000 as compared with Britain's $68,480,000. On the basis of inherent fire hazard Canada has now one of the lowest fire losses in the world.

Waste by fire was so excessive in Canada twenty years ago that it placed an onerous burden upon the country but more than $600,000,000, based on the old figures has been saved since. Much of the credit is due to the Dominion Fire Prevention Association.

Yet it is a situation that demands eternal vigilance. Mr. Smith, Dominion Fire Commissioner, suggests holding a campaign to renew and install properly every stove and furnace pipe in the country before the snow falls. If there is no such public campaign every householder can conduct his own, and the result will be the same. Fire from defective stoves are treacherous fires, as they frequently come at night and therefore, are a particular menace to the lives of men, women and children.

Defective stoves however, are not the only causes of fires. Careless smokers cause more fires than anything else. More than a thousand fires a month had their origin from cigarettes during 1937.

BENES FROM CZECHO-SLOVAKIA BUILDS STOUTLY IN MANITOBA

Josef Benes, native of Czecho-slovakia and cousin to Eduard Benes, President of that nation and former president of the Assembly of the League of Nations, is proud of his family distinction, but he is even more proud of the fact that he is the owner of 160 acres of good Manitoba farm land and possessor of a home in Canada where his family may live in peace. Mr. Benes moved to Manitoba two years ago under the auspices of the Colonization Department of the Canadian National Railways, and so marked has been the improvements made by him in the property then acquired that it recently inspired a special article in the Winnipeg Tribune in which the work of the builder is admirably described. In particular, the writer is enthusiastic as to the manner in which a stone barn has been built, built for permanence with stout walls smoothly cement-coated inside and out. The writer adds "Looking through a window from the inside you think you are in a medieval abbey. And the total expenditure to date has been thirty dollars—for cement." Manitoba supplied the stone, and Mr. Benes the muscular effort.

KNOX AFTERNOON AUXILIARY

Hold their monthly meeting Wednesday last in Queen St. church, Mrs. House presiding. This was the first meeting held since the churches amalgamated. Mrs. House expressed appreciation for choosing her as their president. She asked for prayer and co-operation in the work, and gave the motto of the W.M.S. "The World for Christ" as an incentive for the W.M.S. to work for. Mrs. House gave the devotional period Mrs. Ylirs and Miss M. McGillivray the study period. Miss McGillivray spoke on the missions in China, particularly in Honan. The missionaries had the Union Jack painted on the roofs of their buildings, and had small flags flying wherever a plane was visible, and so amid the horrors of war, they were safe under the protection of the Union Jack. Miss McGillivray told of the pitiful plight of the refugees, pouring into the compound where only standing room was available. One can only in a small way imagine what that meant.

Plans were discussed to get a speaker for the October Thank-offering. Mrs. House closed with prayer.
