School Teacher Aids Democracy

Leads Children, Helping Them to See Reasons for Behavior And Make Own Decisions

The teacher in a school democracy is a guide, not a boss, says the Christian Science Monitor. She leads the children, supplying them with the facts which they need to make their decisions, helping them to see the arguments for or against certain types of behavior, and gradually influencing their opinions. Through giving them an opportunity to make minor decisions for themselves and to enjoy or to suffer from the results of their decisions, she teaches them ways to approach more complex problems and to become every month more self-reliant and more effective citizens in the school democracy.

Sometimes a teacher thinks she is conducting her room democratieally because she allows the children to vote upon various matters, when, as a matter of fact, the children are voting merely for the sake of doing what the teacher wants them to do. If you ask childien to vote on a matter and you find they are watching you to get their cue as to which way to vote. ther there is no true democratic feeling, no honest judgment passed after deliberation and real thinking. But if you find children anxious to discuss matters of all sorts and to abide by the vote of the group, then you can bure that your school is a true demo-

Adolf Hitler has changed the cut of his famous moustache, according to a photograph in the London (Eng.) Daily Mail. Along with a photograph of Hitler, taken at a Nazi Christmas

The Colorado Fish and Game Commission announced that in the interest of science it would sponsor an effort to catch a fur-bearing trout. The commission will grant permission to Wilbur B. Foshay, secretary of the Salida Chamber of Commerce, to cast out of season in the now icy waters of the Arkansas River. Salida citizens claim trout grow fur in the winter to protect them from the cold. Fred Orsinger, director of the United States Bureau of Fisheries Aquarium, explains the Colorado "fur-bearing" fish mystery. Orsinger said he'd seen hundreds of so-called fur-bearing fish. At this tim, of year most stream fish are extremely laxy, he said, and fungus gets attached to them. "Why I've seen some fish that the average layman would swear were wearing a mink coat," Orsinger claimed.

LESSON V PETER DECLARES HIS LOVE John 21: 11-19 Golden Text-If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments. John 14: 15.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time-In the month of April,

A.D. 30. Place-At the Sea of Galilee, probably near Capernaum. Simon Peter therefore went up, and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, a hundred and fifty and three; and for all there were so many, the net was not rent. Peter ever takes the initiative (John 21:3).

"It Is The Lord"

No more beautiful portrait in all these exquisite Gospel narratives was ever drawn than this early morning scene, where the disciples, more or less bewildered by the Lord's presence, sat down together for a simple break-

Christ Knows Our Needs John 21: 12-14, 12, Jesus saith unto them, Come and break your fast. And none of the disciples durst inquire of him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. 13. Jesus cometh, and taketh the bread, and giveth them, and the Lan likewise. The meal proceeded in silence. Jesus himself passed from one to another, bringing to each the bread and fish. No one dared ask who he was, for all by this time knew him to be the Lord. 14. This is now the third time that Jesus was manifested to the disciples, after that he was risen from the dead. The two previous appearances which are here referred to were, no doubt, those recorded by John in the preceding chapter, the first, verses 19-23; the second, verses 26-29. "Lovest Thou Me?" John 21: 15-17. 15. So when they had broken their fast, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, S'mon, son of John. Lovest thou me more than these? Some days before this Peter had insinuated that he was more faithful and more dependable than any of the other disciples (Mark 14: 29-31. Now our Lord faces him with this penetrating question whether he really loved the Master more than any of the other disciples. "Lovest thou me.?" Jesus Christ sues each of us, not for obedience primarily, not for repentance, not for vows, not for conduct, but for a heart; and, that being given, all the rest will follow. That is the distinguishing characteristic of Christian morality, that Jesus seeks first for the surrender of the affections, and believes, and is warranted in the belief, that if these are surrendered, all else will follow; and, love being given, loyalty and service and repentance and hatred of self-will and of selfseeking will follow in her train. He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. No man can speak this way to the Lord, whether face to face as Peter was here, or, as we speak to Christ, in prayer, unless he absolutely believes in his own heart that he does love the Lord, and, because he is convinced he does love him, he is also convinced that the Lord knows he loves him. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs. As long as they had Christ's sheep to care for. Christ would not seem to be quite gone out of the world. And how are we to feed the sheep? By giving them the word of God. "Feed My Sheep" 16. He saith to him again a second time. Simon, son of John, lovest thou me? He saith unto him. Yea. Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him,

Tend my sheep. The verb here translated "tend" means "to shepherd." 17. He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of John, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time. Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep.

18. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou woulest not. 19a Now this he spake, signifying by what manner of death he should glorify God. Jesus foretells at least that this disciple shall be spared to old age, and that then he shall meet with a violent death. We have now no certain knowleage of the time or place or mode of Peter's death. With the exception of a passing and general allusion to his death in Clement of Rome there is not for a century after it must have taken place any historical mention of him. From the end of the second century, however, there flows a steady stream of tradition, testifying to the fact that Peter visited Rome and suffered the martyr's death there under Nero, probably about "Follow Me"

19b. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, Follow me. During the Lord's earthly life following him implied the abandonment of previous occupations (Matt. 9: 9) and duties (Matt. 8: 22), attendance upon him, perhaps in disgrace and danger (Matt. 10: 38). Now to "follow Christ" required coming to him as a sinful creature, and finding one's whole salvation and hope in humble reliance on the merit of his death. Then we may follow him in obedience and imitation and glad communion.

Rabbit Waits Till He Gets Shotgun

They had rabbit pie at the Victor household in Oshawa last week, and thereby hangs the tale of an optimistic hunter, Charles Victor, a motorman of the Oshawa Street Railway on an early run to Oshawa-onthe-Lake, noticed a large jack rabbit sleeping on the side of the road near the Oshawa Creek bridge. Telephoning home, Mr. Victor made arrangements to have his shotgun available at the completion of his run. As soon as he was off duty he returned to the lake to see the jack rabbit still sleep-

Unwilling to take advantage of the rabbit's trust in safety, the "hunter" roused him, and as he bounded for safety took aim and fired.

Canadian Hens Aim To Produce 144 Eggs Yearly

Head of Poultry Department at Macdonald College Says Average Production Is Now Less Than 100 Annually Per

Hens in Germany must do their best for the Nazi regime. Regimented birds are expected to increase their annual production of eggs from 80 to 90 apiece to 140 apiece a year. That's an order, according to Canadian poultry experts. While it may be quite an order, unregimented Canadian hens are expected to do their full duty. While the average annual production per bird in Canada falls under 100 a year, Canada is aiming at 144 a year. So says Dr. W. A. Maw, head of the poultry department of Macdonald College. Can Do 177 In Contests
