Caribou Meat Keeps Trapper

Armed Only With Axe, Veteran Carries On Four Months Alone In Arctic

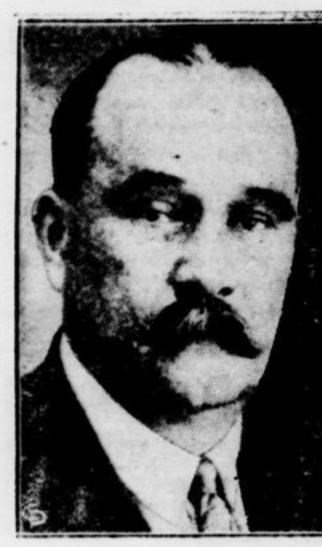

Armed only with an axe, Carl Arhus, veteran northland trapper, lived four months on caribou meat alone at Mackay Lake, 150 miles northeast of Yellowknife, N.W.T. Arhus became stranded when his partner, through a misunderstanding, failed to arrive with winter elothing and camping equipment.

Ate 35 Of Them

A search for the trapper was organized when Ole Leo, Arhus' partner, and other friends became anxious. McMillan said he picked up the trapper and flew him back to Yellowknife, apparently none the werse for his experience. Yellowknife is on the shore of Great Slave Lake, 1,165 miles north of Edmon-

Arhus was flown to the lake in September with only semi-winter elothing and camping equipment and two weeks' supplies of food. He ran out of shells in a month but in that time killed about 35 caribou in the country surrounding his camp. He had no salt to season the meat and often at night, he told McMillan, hungry wolves howled around his light tent, attracted by the smell of game.

Doukhobor Leader Dies

Spiritual leader of the 15,000 Doukhobors in Canada, Peter Verigin, ABOVE, died in Saskatoon in his 54th year, after failing to respond to medical treatment following an operation. He was born in Russia and came to Canada 12 years ago to succeed his father as leader of the "Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood."

Mining Town Moves Entire

Fear of Further Rockslides Brings Evacuation of All Property And Residents from Mascot, B.C.

All residents and property were evacuated last week from the Mascot townsite of nearby Hedley, B.C., scene of a rockslide which caused two deaths and smashed houses and buildings as authorities anticipated new slides.

With reports the summit of Stemwinder Mountain showed signs of cracking, every precaution was taken to safeguard the lives of residents in the townsite area, condemned by officials of the Hedley Mascot mining company.

All houses in the area, except one damaged beyond repair, are being moved, R. H. Stewart, managing director of the company,

Twin Thrones Are Available

At Queen's Park - Will Be Used When King And Queen Pay Visit.

Necessity for election of a new Speaker at the coming session of the Ontario Legislature has provided a nice solution of the government's problem of providing two thrones when the King and Queen visit Queen's Park next May.

There is at present only one throne in the legislature chamber but it becomes the property of Hon. Norman O. Hipel, who resigned the speakership to become minister of labor. By tradition the throne becomes the personal possession of a retiring speaker. A new throne is to be made for James H. Clark, M.P.P., Windsor, Sandwich, who is to be the new speaker, Therefore both these thrones will be available for Their Majesties'

Rescue and relief work by Scout leaders and Boy Scouts following the recent landslide catastrophe on the island of St. Lucia, B.W.I. was officially acknowledged by His Excellency the Governor. Wrote the Governor, who is also Chief Scout for the Windward Islands: "It is with considerable satisfaction that I learnt of, and saw for myself, the excellent work performed by the Boy Scouts of St.

Lucia following the disaster." In addition to numbers of rescues made at serious risk, and recovery of the dead, the Scouts collected clothing and bedding, and gave valuable service at the hospitals and refugee camps.

A troop of Boy Scouts has been organized among the Basque (Spanish) boys at the Laleham Refugee Centre, Margate, England, and registered at Imperial Scout Headquarters as the 36th Margate (Laleham Basque) Troop. "These refugee children were so undisciplined that I was certain Margate would not put up with them much longer," it was explained by Rover Leader Angell. "But Scouting has brought them together in the most marvellous way imaginable, and everyone is astounded at the result. The Centre, which only a tew weeks ago was a flying mass of undiscipline, is now run on the lines of the English school prefect system, and everyone is better for it." The Troop is running so successfully that every one of the Spanish boys has passed his English Tenderfoot tests, including the Scout Law. It is said that the whole atmosphere of the Centre, at which there are 80 children, has been transformed by the introduction of Scouting ideals and ideas.

Salvation Army Head's Successor

May Be Commissioner John McMillan, Well-Known in Canada - To Succeed Gen. Evangeline Booth

The name of Commissioner John McMillan, chief of staff of the International Salvation Army, has been mentioned several times lately as the possible successor to General Evangeline Booth as general of the Salvation Army.

Commissioner McMillan is well known throughout Canada. He started his career in the Salvation Army in Toronto some 50 years ago. He was on the Canadian Territorial headquarters staff for some time and 1896 went to Australia as private secretary to the commissioner.

Known To Canadians

During the Great War he was in Canada again as chief secretary. Later he was transferred to the United States where he was in charge of the Chicago territory. Another transfer took him to New York, the biggest Salvation Army area on this continent.

Then he was made a commissioner for the Canadian territory, which includes Bermuda, Alaska, and Newfoundland.

Sheepskin Rugs

Sheepskin rugs can be washed at home. Soak for an hour or two in a large vessel of warm water, with a small quantity of washing fluid, ammonia, etc. Press the rug into the water and stir about. When most of the dirt is extracted put into another warm-water bath with more ammonia, and press with a vacuum washer or a dolly

Rinse the rug in three or four clear warm waters, and pass through the wringer with a very loose tension. Then shake vigorously before hanging up to dry in a good breeze. Shake continually during the drying process. The lining must be washed separately.

Fungus Causes Lumber Losses

Seasoning Yards Must Be Kept Clear Of Old Decayed Wood And Other Sources Of Infec-

When an unslightly blue stain in sawn lumber causes losses of thousands of dollars to Canadian lumbermen through lost sales, the forest products laboratories of the Dominion Mines and Resources Department tracked the nuisance down to a minute fungus.

Wind-borne spores, investigators found, germinated in the summer months on the moist surface of the freshly-sawn lumber in the seasoning yards. The thready growths all worked deep into the lumber as it dried and produce the dark, tell-tale

Speres Borne On Wind

The remedy proved fairly simple. The scientists found that seasoning yards must be kept clear of old, decayed wood, mill sweepings, weeds and other sources of infection by the spores. As an additional precaution, dousing fresh sawn wood in an inexpensive chemical solution has been recommended to prevent growth of the fungi until the wood has been thoroughly dried out.
