Wm. Haw Fatally Stricken while Driving Home
 (by our Swinton Park Corr.)
 Our writings this week are sad, as the tragic passing of William Haw weighs upon our mind. Willie Haw had been very ill the latter part of January and beginning of February, under the care of Dr. Martin of Dundalk, and good nursing in the home, he had recovered, and since first of March has been going out and attending to business and helping at home. On Tuesday, 14th March, a fine day as this winter goes, he drove five miles to James Wilson's at Boothville to see his sister, Mrs. Wilson, who was ill, and found her improving. He called as was his habit, on his old aunt and uncle here and had tea with us, and for an hour sat and chatted, seemingly feeling very well and hoping to be soon back to usual health.
 About 6.30 he said he would go, as he wished to be home by dark, as roads were not good. We stood at the door and watched him go, little thinking he had gone out for the last time. Opposite Black's Beach, he was met by Ed. Heard who enquired how he was. He said "fine". A half mile further, George Black met him, and while he sat up in the cutter, George thought it odd that he did not give half road. Later he was met by Jimmie McLean, who also noticed that the horse held the full road. It was then getting dark. The horse took him home, had gone up to barn door, then turned and went to water trough, striking the cutter and breaking the harness, but the lines caught on dashboard, and the horse stood, supposedly the better part of an hour.
 In the house, they had thought it was getting late for pa to be out. Charlie went out to fix up for the night, and found his father sitting in the cutter, unconscious and helpless. He ran to the house and called Miss Corbett, who has been assisting him in the house, and they carried him in and phoned the doctor, who made very good time in getting there. Mr. Haw was still living, but in a short time he was gone, never having spoken a word.
 The funeral was on Thursday, March 16th a very stormy day, yet the church was filled by neighbors and friends, all feeling that a true man had gone from our midst. Rev. Mr. Taylor, his pastor, conducted services at home, in the church, and at graveside. Undertaker Alex. McMillan of Dundalk, was in charge. The pallbearers were old neighbors: Sandi D. McCannell, Wilfred Black, Ed. Heard, Andrew Dow, Roy McNaught, Walter Brumpton. There were several lovely wreaths of flowers. Friends from a distance who had braved the storm were William Aldcorn, Mount Forest, Wm. Aldcorn and Charlie of Priceville.
 Willie Haw was the eldest son of Charles Haw and Mary Aldcorn, born in Eremont near Dromore on 23rd of April, 1877, being almost 62 years of age. When a little lad, his parents moved to Swamp College section, and there he has lived ever since. About thirty years ago he married Margaret Nettie McMillan, who in very indifferent health along with two sons, Charlie at home and Jim a student in Toronto; one sister Jennie, Mrs. J. Parlow, of B.C.; one brother Bert on adjoining farm, are left as chief mourners.
 Many years ago Willie became a

AMONG THE CHURCHES IN DAYS OF YORE

25 YEARS AGO
 (from Review file, March 19 1914)
 While in Holstein on Monday the Editor had the privilege of a look through Rev. Dr. Marsh's big telescope which can pick up the stars in the daytime and bring the moon several thousand times nearer us. Saturn's rings were beautifully distinct and the Spectroscope attached to the telescope showed us the beautiful solar spectrum. Both of Mr. Marsh's son are experts in the construction of telescopes and they make and adjust everything themselves except the lenses and have made many complete telescopes during past years. The workshop of the son John and the study of the father are perfect wonder worlds to the novice in constructive astronomy.
 Tuesday evening Mr. Hugh McArthur, Glenelg, passed over to the greater number, and suddenly. His brother Duncan, with whom he had been living, found him in bed and a life extinct, though not long previously he had spoken with him.
 Swinton Park Corr: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aldcorn, of Toronto, and Miss Bertie Aldcorn and Mr. Will Aldcorn, of Priceville, spent Sunday with friends here.
 North-East Normanby Corr: Mr. Archie McDonald and Harold Barber have been assisting Mr. R. R. Watson in the bush this last week.
 Saugeen Valley Corr: Mr. Thos. Binney bought a pacer from Mr. John McInnes of Owen Sound.
 Yeovil Corr: Maple Lane has been fortunate in securing the office of Township Treasurer again. We wish Mr. J. R. Philp all success and have confidence that he will make a good Finance Minister.
 Holsteia Corr: The Conservative party in Holstein are at variance with their leader, Sir James Whitney in the matter of his temperance policy and wish him to adopt the measure of N.W. Rowell, the Liberal chief, and have the bar completely wiped out. So strong are they in feeling in the matter, that a petition is being circulated and signed among the Conservatives here, to be sent to the Premier requesting him to submit a plebiscite to the people to abolish the bar in Ontario.
 S.S. No. 9 Eremont, has decided to erect a new school and will replace the structure which has rendered excellent service in an educational way for about 40 years. However some friction is said to exist among the section residents, some desiring to have the site chosen on the 5th farm. An arbitration meeting is being held this Thursday to settle matters.
