

Swing Losing Its Popularity

Trend Seen Again To "Sweet" Music

In spite of the sounds you've been hearing on your radio, there are some important signs today that "swing" music has passed its peak popularity with the public and is beginning the inevitable decline.

This does not mean, however, that "swing" music has suddenly become unpopular.

Peak is Passed
In an excursion into popular tastes, a new American Institute of Public Opinion survey shows that a majority of persons still like the jittering rhythms that have been poured over the air for almost two years.

But two years is a long time for any dance fad, and the America Speaks survey reveals that the non-swingers and other dissenters are a little more numerous this month than they were in a previous check-up last August.

Fifty-six persons in 100 in the April survey say that they like "swing", as compared with 62 in every 100 eight months ago.

Semi-Sports Trend In Men's Clothing

Smart Blending Of Town And Country Fashions Seen In Spring And Summer Styles.

After an extended survey of style trends as indicated in several style shows and designers' conventions, the designing staff of a big Toronto clothing firm has prepared an outline of spring and summer fashion preferences which seems to show that the Canadian man will select his summer clothing with an eye toward comfort, ease and informality. In other words, the trend will be toward a semi-sports effect in a smart blending of town and country fashion. Some of the highlights in the forecast are:

Tropical worsteds will be found in the majority of wardrobes; color; two and three combinations will provide added attractiveness. Tans, greens, browns, grey-green, blue-grey and slate brown will be popular shades; the British blade back will be featured in many models, restoring the natural chest lines; country type fabrics will find a prominent place in town wear apparel.

A complete semi-sports suit will be used for both urban and rural wear; the waistcoat is eliminated in many models; tweeds will be featured in topcoats; dark grey in Irish homespun will be worn. Stripes and tick effects will find a definite place in many models.

Two Anthems Are Recognized

Dominion Says "O Canada" And "God Save The King" Sanctioned

The national anthem is not recognized by any law but is a "question of convention and custom," according to a reply tabled by the government in the House of Commons.

T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto-Broadview, had asked whether any national anthem other than "God Save The King" was recognized by the government of Canada, and, if so, by what authority.

By Custom And Usage
"As a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations," the reply said, "Canada is using, as a national anthem, and will continue to use, 'God Save The King.'"

"As is the case with other members of the Commonwealth, another anthem with particular reference to the country itself also has been sanctioned by custom and usage in Canada, namely 'O Canada'."

LESSON VI

PAUL WORKS A HARD FIELD
Acts 17:16-18:17;
I Corinthians 2:1-5;
Printed Text, Acts 18:1, 4-11;
I Cor. 2:1-5

Golden Text.—I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me. Phil. 4:13.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
Time.—Paul's visit in Athens and Corinth occurred A.D. 50 to 52; he wrote his First Epistle to the Corinthians in A.D. 54.

Place.—Both Athens and Corinth were in what we might call the central part of southern Greece.

1. After these things he departed from Athens, and came to Corinth. The record of the second missionary journey of the apostle Paul is found in Acts 15:36-18:22, by which we shall see at once that in the chapter we are now to study Paul is drawing to the end of this great preaching tour. He probably came to Corinth in A.D. 50, remaining there about eighteen months.

Corinth was the commercial capital of Greece, occupying a commanding position at the southern extremity of the narrow isthmus which joined the Peloponnese to the mainland of Greece. As an emporium of the trade of the East and the West Corinth grew into a splendid city, the home of merchant princes, adorned with temples and filled with works of fine art.

But as it increased in wealth and refinement, Corinth became proverbial for abysmal profligacy. Into this centre of commerce, shrine of art, and vortex of iniquity, St. Paul came. How long he had been in the city before he found Aquila and Priscilla we do not know, nor do we know whether they were Christians or not before they met the apostle Paul. Paul first met them because they were engaged in the same craft by which he made his living, namely, the making of tents. As time went on, these two people became co-laborers of the greatest helpfulness in the mighty labors of the ever-acting apostle.

Co-Laborers
4. And he reasoned in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded Jews and Greeks. 5. But when Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia, Paul was constrained by the words, testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ. The effect produced by their arrival seems to have been an instant increase of the zeal and energy with which Paul resisted the opposition which was even now beginning to hem in the progress of the truth.

6. And when they opposed themselves and blasphemed, he shook out his raiment and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean; from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles. Paul did not say he would give up the work because of the opposition of these people. Let us never give up the work. We may turn in vexation of soul from stolid unbelief, and preach to ignorant and bewildered heathenism, but do not let the work have less of our energy because of that particular circle.

7. And he departed thence, and went into the house of a certain man named Titus Justus, one that worshipped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue. 8. And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized. It was a continual revival after Silas and Timothy came, and a great church was gathered here during Paul's labors in this city.

9. And the Lord said unto Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace.

10. For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee: for I have much people in this city. 11. And he dwelt there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them. particular word here translated "dwelt" may be purposely used here to indicate the quiet and settled work to which the apostle was directed by the vision which had calmed his troubled spirit, and had taught him that his cherished plan of revisiting Macedonia must be postponed to preaching during this period I and II Thessalonians were written. Men attacked him with a view of injuring him, but without success, for his continuous abode in Corinth was a fulfillment of the promise in verse 10.

I Cor. 2:1-5. Paul wrote more to the church at Corinth, as far as the New Testament documents inform us, than to any other one church of all those he visited. In these epistles to Corinth Paul

Former British Prime Minister, Earl Baldwin, Visits Canada

Shown here en route to Convocation Hall, Toronto, to deliver the first of 3 addresses in the Sir Robert Falconer lectureship, Earl Baldwin, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, RIGHT, is accompanied by Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto. In his lecture Earl Baldwin defended the party system of government as it had evolved in England.

Price Of Unity Has Gone High

John M. Imrie, managing director of the Edmonton Journal, last week appealed for a "new individual dedication to Canada and unity within the Dominion" in an address to Vancouver's Canadian Club.

Mr. Imrie said the "price of unity" has gone high as Canada has become older and more developed and differences have become more pronounced. But unity is still possible, he said, "if there exists in sufficient measure and diffusion the will to find it and the willingness to pay its price."

That price expressed in one word, he told his audience, would be "Understanding."

"Without tolerance and decent treatment of minorities, democra-

worked out, for the instruction and guidance of the Christian church, for all ages to follow, the great principles of church government and church polity.

1. And I, brethren, when I came unto you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, proclaiming to you the testimony of God. 2. For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified. Whatever else Christianly comes to be—and it comes to be a great deal else—the principle of its growth, and the germ which must vitalize the whole, lie in the personality and the death of Jesus Christ. We are called upon to preach an applied Christianity, a social gospel.

3. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. Paul had been "shamefully entreated" at Philippi. He had been driven by persecution out of Thessalonica and Berea. He had been left alone to be mocked at Athens. He had been virtually expelled from the synagogue in Corinth. This was too much for even his iron nerve. His courage was tottering, and Luke shows how the Lord cheered his heart again.

4. And my speech and my preaching were not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: 5. that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

Planes Are Coming Challenge to Auto

Vast Expansion Is Looked For In Airplane Industry In U.S.—To Be Brought Within Reach Of Average Citizen.

Igor Sikorsky, noted airplane designer, asserted this week at a private flying conference that within the next decade there would be a vast expansion of light airplane building in the United States which would have an effect in promoting prosperity similar to that which the general use of automobiles produced.

Landing to Backyards
Mr. Sikorsky, whose aviation interests always have been concerned with huge bombing planes and giant clipper ships of the skies, told delegates that he was certain that the airplane was about to be brought into the homes of ordinary citizens through the development of new types of much lower landing speeds than any now in existence. The director of airplanes possessing the ability to make vertical landings in back yards, he said, was "just around the corner" and would benefit private flying when it was perfected. He stressed that neither the automobile nor the radio ever would have come into general favor if it had been necessary to go ten or twenty miles to use them.

3 British Suicides Laid To Newscast

Three persons have committed suicide in London within the past month after listening to broadcasts on the European situation, according to verdicts at coroners' inquests. One coroner commented: "News is not always happily expressed over the wireless. People with nervous dispositions are liable to be tremendously affected by it."

Sheep which wear blankets during the rainy season produce more and better wool than those without such protection, according to tests made recently near East London, South Africa.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE POWER IN THE JAWS OF ALLIGATORS LIES ONLY IN THE CLOSING MOTION! ONCE CLOSED, A MAN CAN HOLD THEM SHUT EASILY WITH HIS HANDS.

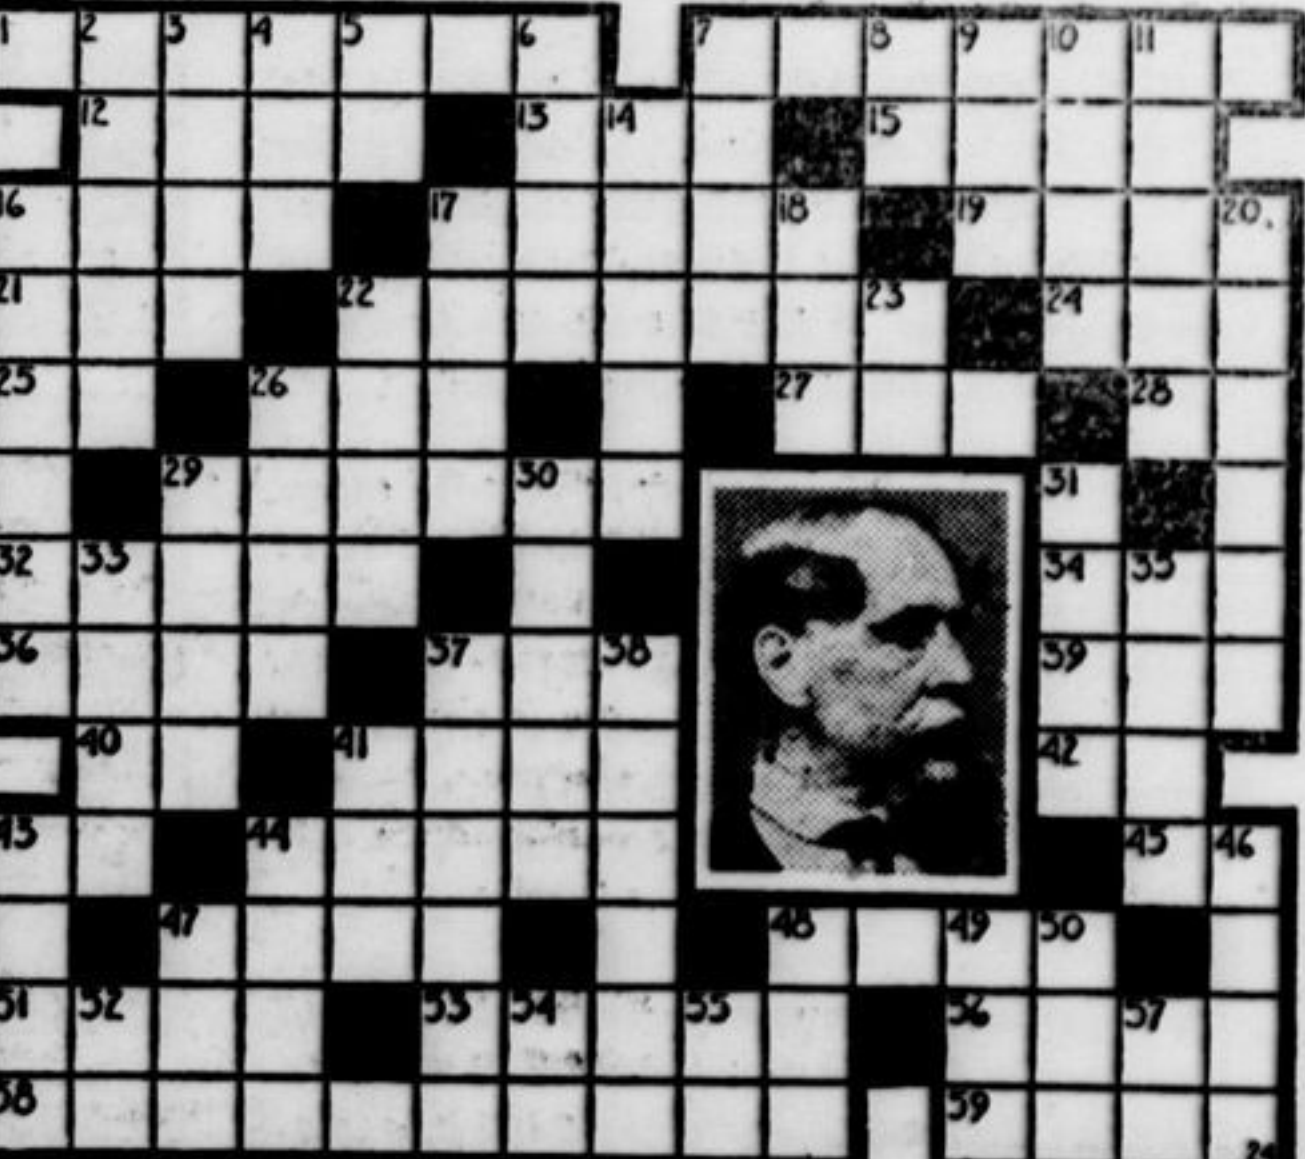

IN THE UNITED STATES, IT REQUIRES ABOUT EIGHT YEARS AND $5,000 TO DEVELOP ONE ACRE OF DATE PALMS TO THE POINT WHERE THE GROWER BEGINS REAPING RETURNS.

THE jaws of the crocodile and alligator are brought together with terrific force, and are hard to dislodge, once they have fastened to their prey. To add to the destruction, after attaching themselves to an arm or leg of a victim, they roll over and over in the water, thus twisting the member loose from the body.
