"SAFETY AND COMFORT" ROUTES TO ROYAL CELEBRATIONS

With the arrival of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth less than a week off, Minister of Highways, Hon. T. B. McQueen reinforced his programme for reducing highway accidents throughout Ontario during the Royal visit.

Mr. McQueen said every effort was being made by his department to avoid any serious traffic mishaps which might mar the pleasure of Their Majesties' tour. The program was designed as a tribute to King George and his keen interest in accident prevention.

The highways minister urged all motorists to cooperate in attempts being made to prevent heavy congestion on roads leading to cities where the Royal will pay formal and extended visits.

Mr. McQueen pointed out that the King's Highway system near these cities would be heavily congested with motor traffic coming from distant points. He felt that motorists who lived comparatively close to these cities might reach their destination with much more comfort and convenience if they used the many good secondary roads available to them.

He also suggested that many motorists coming from distant points would find these secondary roads a means of avoiding congestion and delay.

To the end of promoting traffic safety and motoring comfort, department of Highways engineers have mapped out alternative routes which, if followed, will relieve some of the pressure on the main routes and help to avoid some of the heavy congestion. The map above emphasizes the roads, apart from the principal highways, by which motorists may travel safely and comfortably to see the Royal celebrations.

PARLIAMENT MAY PROROGUE BY END OF THE WEEK

Parliament at last seems to have fixed a tentative date for concluding its work—the end of the present week—but with a formidable volume of business facing it and the likelihood that its objective will not be attained.

Although the House of Commons has been working an almost double shift since early in the month, no Government spokesman has ventured to indicate any particular date on which it was hoped to prorogue.

Now a forecast has come from Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government Leader in the Senate. He told that body there was reason to hope prorogation might be reached "at the end of next week."

Monday the House will return to consideration of the Senate bill providing compensation for railway workers who may lose employment through co-operative efforts of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National.

MEMBER HASN'T PATRONAGE

When discussing the tender system of awarding rural mail contracts, in Parliament at Ottawa last week, the political patronage angle also came up. Miss Agnes Macphail M. P. said she hoped to see the day when the elected member was the people's representative in every way. For nearly 18 years she has been a member of the House, but in all that time a defeated candidate had been "in absolute control of the running" of the business of that constituency.

"If that is democracy, I am mistaken. I don't think it is. It is a misuse of the term. It is such things as that that bring democracy into ill repute and make even its friends wonder whether it is worth struggling to preserve," she said.

TEA AND BURNS

About 45 per cent. of fatal burns occur during first five years of life. Why is this? Chiefly because of the carelessness of parents, nurses and servants. Three out of five dead children die from burns in women and girls. From the fourth to the thirty-fifth year there is a relatively high deathrate in females. Between the ages of five and nine, twice as many girls as boys die from burns. After thirty-five there is a higher deathrate from this than men than women. In old age the deathrate is again higher in women. Burns in women are more frequent because of the type of dress they wear. These fatalities in women usually occur in the home. They are commoner in winter than in summer.

According to the damage they do, burns are classified into those of first, second and third degree. In first degree burns, the skin becomes inflamed and reddened. Except for the pain caused this degree of burn is not very serious. In second degree burns, the skin is reddened and blisters form. Third degree burns include those of great severity including charring of the skin and deeper tissues.

The danger of a burn usually depends upon the extent of surface skin involved. The simplest and most convenient household remedy for a burn of, say, the first two degrees is the application of a strong infusion of tea. This remedy has been used by the Chinese for 5000 years. In all cases of any severity the aid of a doctor is necessary, but the use of tea as an emergency measure will relieve the pain and make the victim of a burn comfortable.

If one could be so fortunate as to meet the King and Queen this month or at any time, the following hint may be useful: "The King and Queen are addressed as "Your Majesty" when first addressed, but in subsequent conversation, it is not necessary to use this form of address all the time, but simply "Sir" or "Madam."

KNOX CORNERS

Mrs Earl Matthews and Miss Ruby mont visited on Sunday at the Porter home.

Mr Irwin Matthews and Miss Ruby Matthews were visitors on Monday with Mr and Mrs Wm. Porter.

A large attendance at the service again on Sunday. The interesting program prepared in honor of the King and Queen to Canada was followed.

Our pastor in his message outlined our King's life and his early training and how he and the Queen both set a noble example in their high office. They attend the public worship of God on the Sabbath and King George reads the Bible daily. We have good reason to be loyal to them. Yet there is one who is even more deserving of our loyalty—Jesus Christ, the King of Kings, to whom some day every knee shall bow. Twelve members of the choir were present and they sang "Coronation" "Crown Him Lord of All."

Mr and Mrs Ronald Smith and children visited on Sunday with Mr and Mrs Carl Smith of Conn.

Mr and Mrs Archie Watson, daughters Jean and Virginia of Detroit visited over the weekend with Mr and Mrs Bert Watson and Mr and Mrs Harold Watson. Pleased to have them visit us too.

MULOCK

The B.Y.P.U. members of this church are putting on a play entitled "Brown-Eyed Betty" in the church here Friday night, June 2nd. This promises to be a good play, humorous and wholesome in its content throughout. Remember the date and come.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Frank Twamley, member of the school board, had to be rushed to the General Hospital, Toronto last Wednesday, by ambulance. He had an operation Saturday, and is getting along as well as can be expected. Mrs Twamley accompanied him to Toronto and is still there up to time of writing. We hope that he will have a speedy recovery.

The B.Y.P.U. members from this church were invited to Lamplash Tuesday evening and had a very enjoyable time. The address given by Mr E. R. Storms entitled "The Bible the Best Selling Book," was much enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served at the close by the Lamplash young people.

Maurice Brown and Conny Eldor from this school section were favored with a trip to Lake Couchiching by motor with Mr J. R. Hamilton Principal of Hanover High School to carry off honors in high and broad jumping, running and throwing the shot-put.

The Edith Clutton Mission Circle of the Hanover Baptist Church presented a Sacred Drama entitled, "The Challenge of the Cross" in the church here on Friday evening, May 26th. Rev. C. Saunders was in charge of the opening exercises and welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Circle. The drama was a vivid description of various types of cross-bearers, the only true cross being the one of Jesus and a willingness to sacrifice in His service. Miss Nettie Oppertshauer, in her capable and gracious manner, took the leading part of Evangel pleading for followers of the Cross. Five disciples offered to bear a cross, but the sixth was the true Cross of humility and sacrifice. The closing tableau was effective with a large cross and grouping of girls in various colored costumes. A choir of members of the Circle rendered suitable music with Miss Theda Gruetzner accompanying at the piano. A solo "The Old Rugged Cross" was effectively rendered by Mrs Saunders.

The girls taking part were: Ruth Whitman, Clarabel Davis, Carol Knechtel, Betty Dankert, Janet Patterson, Vera Youngblut. They were trained by Miss Nettie Oppertshauer.

POETS' CORNER

BLOSSOM TIME.

Orchard trees are gay with blossom
Fairlyland of pink and white,
Gay festoons of magic splendour
Flaunt their joy from morn till night.

Down the aisles of regal splendour,
Hoary trees ethereal roem:
And their sweet Elysian beauty
Far transcends our fondest dream.

Wave on wave of floral grandeur,
On the breezes rise and swell:
B't of joy vouchsafed by Heaven,
Hand Divine doth here excel.

Coy, sweet buds, unfolding softly,
Rose-white petals, drenched in dew
Shimmer in the golden sunlight,
Earth can show no fairer view.

Interspersed among the blossoms
Sprigs of tender, soothing green,
Harmonized in perfect blending,
Lend enchantment to the scene.

Sweet, unto intoxication,
Is the fragrant, sweet perfume
Thrice distilled by Nature's censer
In this sea of virgin bloom.

Feathered songsters here hold revel,
And from each seraphic throat
Melodies of ravished sweetness
On the balmy breezes float.

Swaying in a sea of nectar,
Velvet, honey-bees revel;
Till a wealth of golden vintage
Overflows each waiting cell.

And the trees, all hoary laden,
Pregnant hopes within us raise
Of a glad, resplendent fruitage
In the golden Autumn days.

Sweet their span of life, but fleeting
Soon decay will dull their brow:
But in Memory fond we'll cherish
Joy of bloom upon the bough.

AT THE END OF THE LANE

A little stone church at the end of the lane,
Is a place that I'm yearning to visit again,
For nobody goes there to pray any more,
Where the golden rod covers the path to the door.

There isn't a sound, but the buzzing of bees,
And whispering leaves in the great willow-trees,
Soft cob-webs sway gently in wind-dows so tall,
And sunshine and shadows flit over the wall.

Birds nest on the roof, for the bell never rings,
Disturbing their brooding or fluttering of wings;
There over the graves, that are clustered around,
Pink clover and nodding white daisies abound.

And sometimes I've thought as I've mused there alone,
The earth shook again with the organ's deep tone,
And down the dim pathway there floated with grace,
Sweet old-fashioned ladies with mittens of lace.

The voice of the parson has come to my ear,
His rich intonations rose sombre and clear,
And hymns broke the still of the warm Sabbath day,
But the sound of the singing has faded away.

It faded away—and the life of the past,
Was pillowed to rest 'neath the old trees at last.
At the end of the lane where the butterfly perch,
On the roses that bloom,
Round a little stone church.
