Platinum Fox Most Expensive

Three-Pelt Cape Costs $12,000; Scientists Intrigued

The newest luxury fur to captivate feminine fancy-platinum fox, which is so rare that a three-pelt cape might cost $12,000-intrigues the interest of scientists as well as of fashion pace-makers.

The Duchess of Windsor owns one of these striking, pale blushgray skins which are scarcer even than chinchilla.

The interest of science, however, centres not in the fashion aspect but in the hereditary factors that produced a platinum fox seven years ago, to the amazement of Norway, and enabled the proud line to continue.

The First Specimen The first platinum , Mons, was born on the farm of a poor fisherman who owned only a few animals. It was so pale that there was thought of destroying it as detrimental to the breed. A farmer neighbor had a hunch as to its value. He bought Mons for $180.

The fox, a prime example of the scientific principle of mutuation, was mated to medium silver females.

We Should Preach Merits of Canada

Boosters For the Country Are Needed, Says Ontario's Minister of Agriculture

Agriculture Minister Dewan told the graduating class of the Ontario Veterinary College of Guelph that "preachers" are needed to tell of the merits and advantages of Canada as compared with other countries.

Observing that successful business men are ones who are "in a degree venturesome" and that the graduates should have an objective as they go out into business, Mr. Dewan said:

'Someone will say it is all very well to talk, but we are entering apon our careers in times of economic stress. Wel, I fear that a great deal of our trouble in this country is due to an unhealthy state of mind. I sometimes think that what we require most is a body of forceful preachers with the power to inspire Canadians with the great merit and advantages of this country as compared with those of other lands."

At lunchtime he usually has a fresh fruit or vegetable salad which prevents that afternoon drowsiness. He is shown eating a fresh pineapple and cottage cheese salad in the studio's commissary.

Relief Totals For Province

Windsor Had Highest Percentage Receiving Aid in 1937-Woodstock the Lowest

According to the newly published report of the Department for 1937, says the Port Arthur News-Chronicle, there were only six cities in Ontario with a larger percentage of population on relief than Port Arthur.

Average 9.3 Percent The tabulation for 1937 shows an average of 9.3 per cent of the population of Ontario cities drawing relief in the year mentioned. Windsor had the highest ratio, at 15.3 per cent. Woodstock the lowest at 2.7 per cent. Port Arthur's percentage was 8.2. The average for cities with under 20,000 population was 5.8 per cent nothwithstanding the inclusion of Niagara Falls with 14.1

per cent. Other percentages: Sudbury, 3.1; Sarnia, 3.2; Owen Sound, 3.6; Galt, 3.8; Chatham, 3.9; Sault Ste. LESSON X PAUL PLEADS HIS OWN CASE Acts 21:27-23:11; 24:10-26.32 Printed Text-Acts 21:40-22: 4; 24:14-16; 26:19-23.

Golden Text .- I have lived before God in all good conscience until this day. Acts 23:1. THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time.-All of the events recorded in these six chapters occurred A.D. 58 to 60. Place.-Jerusalem and Caesa-

In the former part of chapter 21, we have an account of Paul's reception when he came to Jerusalem on the last visit which he ever paid to the Holy City.

21:40. And when he had given him leave, Paul, standing on the stairs, beckoned with the hand unto the people; and when there was made a great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew language, saying, 22:1. Brethren and fathers, hear ye the defence which I now make unto you. 2. And when they heard that he spake unto them in the Hebrew language, they were the more quiet: and he saith, 3. I am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel, instructed according to the strict manner of the law of our fathers being zealous for God, even as ye all are this day: 4. and I persecuted this Way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women. The charges against Paul which were made by this multitude were absolutely

Felix was a brother of the favorite of the Emperor Claudius, appointed to be procurator in Palestine, who had married the grand-daughter of Antony and Cleopatra. He arrived in Palestine in A.D. 52. The cynical disregard of Felix for justice and his inordinate greed are both brought to view in his treatment of the apostle Paul. How easily and courageously and manfully Paul conducts himself before this Roman officer. From a denial of false charges he proceeds to an affirmation of his faith Talks To Guilty People 14. But this I confess unto thee, that after the Way which they call a sect, so serve I the God of our fathers, believing all things which are according to the law, and which are written in the prophets; 15. having hope toward God, which these also themselves look for, that there shall be a resurrection both of the just and unjust. 16. Herein I also exercise myself to have a conscience void of offence toward God and men always. The apostle proceeds to tell Felix exactly what had happened in the temple; and then he challenges his accusers to contradict with any adequate evidence the statement he has made. This was enough for Felix. He would not himself give a decision this day, but he would wait for further evidence. After certain days the apostle was sent for, and this time spoke not only to Felix but to his wife Drusilia. the youngest of three daughters of Herod Agrippa I, who was married in A.D. 53 to Azizus, the king of Emesa, but who not long afterwards was persuaded by this very person, Felix, to leave her husband and to join him as his third wife. This time Paul did not offer any defense of his actions, but preached a sermon of searching power to these wicked people, on righteousness and temperance and judgment to come. Once again there is no verdict; charges have not been proved, Paul is not convicted, yet he is not set free. Thank God also, Paul is not broken, nor is he now in any mood to compromise. The longer the trial goes on, the greater a man Paul appears to be.

Before Festus and Agrippa After two years Felix was succeeded by one Jorcius Festus, as procurator of Judaea. The Jews, still seeking the death of Paul, tried to persuade Festus to send Paul down to Jerusalem from Caesarea, hoping to kill him on the road; but Festus refused, insisting that the Jews come up from Jerusalem instead, and bring their charges once more into the Roman court, "which they could not prove." There was nothing else for Festus to do but to accede to Paul's request, and sooner or later send him up to Rome for final

It happened about this time that Herod Agrippa II, king of Chalcis, with his sister Berenice, came on a complimentary visit to the new governor, and stayed some days. Festus took advantage of this opportunity of consulting one better informed than himself on the points in question. Paul was brought before Agrippa.

19. Wherefore, O king Agrippa, was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision: 20. but declared Chauffeur To The King and Queen Chauffeur of the governor-general, Thomas Southgate, is shown here at the wheel of one of the cars he is driving throughout Canada as acting chauffeur to Their Majesties during their Canadian tour. Above the windshield of the car can be seen the royal crest and behind it the blue light that will be used to illuminate it at night.

GYDDENING DAKPERINU

Dahlias, tomatoes, large cosmos or nicotine, young shade trees, new climbers, all benefit from some artificial support while they are getting started.

For tall individual flowers or tomatoes, 6-foot stakes of wood or steel are advisable and the plant is tied to these loosely with soft twine or raffia. Stouter and perhaps longer stakes will be used with shade trees, and correspondingly shorter ones for the smaller flowers. With vines getting ready to cling to fence or wall, string is used or perhaps adhesive tape or staples where it is impossible to

FILLING IN

It is a good plan, old gardeners state, to use started annual flower plants of the kinds mentioned above for planting among tulips and other spring flowering bulbs which will be past their best in a few more weeks. They need something to hide dying foliage. Then again quick growing annuals will always be useful for filling any blind spots in the perennial beds where Winter has been unusually

GARDEN PESTS

Garden insect enemies are divided into two groups,-those that eat holes in the foliage and those that suck out the juices. For the first named, poison is usually applied. while the suckers are attacked with a burning spray which penetrates. Often when both are present, a combination of poison and something that burns, such as lime sulphur and arsenate, gives the best results. The damage from the bit-and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the country of Judaea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, doing works worthy of repentance. All the years since his conversion had Paul tried to do nothing but obey this command from heaven, and yet because of this obedience did the Jews desire to put him to death. 21. For this cause the Jews seized me in the temple, and assayed to kill me. 22. Having therefore obtained the help that is from God, I stand unto this day testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and eses did say should come; 23. how that the Christ must suffer, and how that he first by the resurrection of the dead should proclaim light both to the people and to the Gentiles. And what of the verdict? There has not been a true official verdict passed upon the apostle Paul in all these different trials, and there is no official verdict passed here, but Agrippa and Festus both agreed that this man had done nothing worthy of death or of bonds. and might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed unto Caesar. Paul must go to Rome!

ing insects is usually quite apparent, but the presence of the other kind is only shown at first by a wilting or withering of the foliage. For sucking pests, chief of which are the aphids or plant lice, spray with whale oil soap, a quarter pound of soap to a gallon and a half of water; nicotine sulphate, or 'Black Leaf 40', or any other repellent secured from a reliable seed store.

Q.-How can I clean leather goods?

A .- Leather can be very nicely cleaned by rubbing with one part vinegar and two parts linseed oil, then polishing with a dry cloth. Q.-How can I lessen excessive perspiration under the arms?

A .- Dissolve one-half teaspoon of ordinary cooking soda in a small cupful of water, and apply. This solution is very cooling. Q.-How can I remove the burned edges of a cake? A .- Use a fine grater and rub lightly over the black parts, and remove the crumbs. Place the icing on the new surface and no apologies will be necessary. Do not put icing on a cake that is burned on the edges.

Trained Men Obtained

Nearly 60 students recruited from the departments of geology and mining engineering at Ontario universities will participate.

Among others Dr. A. Brant will conduct a geological and magnetometer survey east and west from the producing mines in the Little Long Lac Belt, near Geraldton in the Thunder Bay district. This will be the biggest geo-physical examication ever conducted by the department.

Dr. M. E. Hurst, provincial geologist, wil investigate recent developments in the Porcupine area and examine properties in different parts of the province.

Dr. Hurst said he thought the 1939 exploration program was as large as last year, which set a record for provincial survey work.
