BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY. In speaking of a person's faults, Pray don't forget your own: Remember those with homes of glass, Should seldom throw a stone. If we have nothing else to do, But talk of those who sin, 'Tis best that we should start at home And from that point begin. We have no right to judge a man, Until he's fairly tried; Should we not like his company, We know the world is wide. Some may have faults, and who have not? The old as well as young, Perhaps we may for aught we know Have fifty to their one. My own shortcomings bid me let The faults of others go. So let us all, when we commence To slander friend or foe, Think of the harm we p'raps might do. To those we little know. Remember curses, sometimes, like Our chickens, "roost at home." Let's then not speak of others' faults Until we've none of our own. —Kathleen Parker, Toronto (Formerly of Priceville)

MACCANNEL FAMILY HELD 2ND ANNUAL RE-UNION

Members of the MacCannel clan, numbering almost 100 assembled at Black's Beach on Saturday, July 8. The afternoon passed very pleasantly and far too quickly.

A splendid program was held in the pavilion. Mr. Neil MacCannel presided over the program, in his usual witty manner. This consisted of a welcome song by Mrs MacCannel; recitation by Miss Irene Love; duet by Mrs Jean Love and daughter Marie; instrumental on piano by Eleanor McPherson; solos by R. Malone, Mrs George Shand, and Mrs Mary Calder; quartette by Clifford, Dan and Arthur MacCannel, and R. Malone, accompanied by Mrs Calder. This number was heartily applauded and they responded graciously. A humorous reading "The Old Fashioned Hired Man" was given by Mrs Gilbert MacCannel; Bag pipe selections by Mr. Donnie MacDonald; instrumental by Miss Marie Love; songs by Teddy MacCannel; Reading by Mrs A. L. Hincks; step dancing by Miss Dorothy MacDonal accompanied by her father on pipes; Duett by Mary MacCannel, and Mrs Jean Love; step dancing by Dan MacCannel and Eennie MacDonald, accompanied by

Fred Runciman on violin. Officers and committees were appointed for the coming year. Pres.—Arthur MacCannel Secy.—Treas.—Mrs A. L. Hincks; Sports Com.—Dan and Sandy D. MacCannel; Prog Com.—Mrs Jean Love.

A bountiful supper was served by the ladies, after which dancing was enjoyed. Music on violins by Fred Runciman and Dan MacCannel and Mrs Calder and Mrs Hincks at piano. Sports, games and races were then enjoyed and prizes given. It was decided to have the re-union again next year at the same place

Those present from a distance were: Mr and Mrs Ronald MacDonald and Mrs McDermid, Collingwood; Mr and Mrs Donnie MacDonald, Jack, Donald and Dorothy; Mr. and Mrs R. Malone; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnston; Mrs Katie McCannell and daughter Jean, Toronto; Mr and Mrs Robert McPherson and daughter Eleanor from Pekin, Illinois, besides friends from Holstein, Dromore, Proton Station and Bothville.

Later in the evening all journeyed homeward, feeling they had spent a pleasant afternoon meeting so many friends and relatives. It is hoped that next year that the clan may be represented in even greater numbers than this year.

MacLEAN — MARSHALL Rev. Caleb Harris, formerly of Hanover, officiated at his nephew's wedding Saturday at Indian Road Baptist Church, Toronto when Anna Jean McLean became the bride of Calob James Marshall.. The bride is the daughter of Hector R. MacLean and the late Mrs MacLean, Priceville, and Mr Marshall is the son of Mr and Mrs John S Marshall of Toronto. The ring used in the marriage ceremony belonged to the bride's mother.

The bride was in a sheer street length dress of white sheer with tucked bodice, tucked sleeves and a bolero jacket. She wore a white straw pillbox hat with a veil and a corsage of deep red roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Eleanor Marshall, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore mistle pink sheer with sweet-heart neckline, scalloped waistline, and a full skirt. Her picture hat was of pink mohair and she was wearing a corsage of pink roses and cornflowers. Givray MacLean of Kitchener, brother of the bride was best man. After a reception at the Diet Kitchen, the couple left on a wedding trip to Haliburton and Muskoka by motor.

IN DAYS OF YORE

25 YEARS AGO (from Review file, July 9th, 1914)

Principal Allan has secured the refusal of Madoc Model School at a salary of $1800 a year. The officials of the Department have recommended him for this position and the Durham High Sch. Board was notified by him of the likelihood of his accepting this tempting offer, if reasonable guarantee of permanence is given.

At a special meeting of the members of the Durham Musical Society on Tuesday night, the resignation of Mr Geo. Yirra as bandmaster was accepted and Mr Thos. Box, who for the past few months has been a valued member as solo trombone player, was elected leader.

There died on Thursday, 7th July, 1911 one of the best known men of South Grey, Jas Allan of the 3rd concession of Egremont. He had passed by a year or two the three score and ten of the Psalmist. His was an active life, much of it spent in the service of his fellows and for his fellows and for this and other public qualities, he will be long remembered.

The death occurred to-day, Wednesday, 8th July of Mrs Robert Al-Joe Sr., in her 90th year. Her aged husband, two years her junior, survives her and notwithstanding his years, gets around town almost daily.

Misses Annie L. and Margaret McKenzie leave Wednesday to visit their many friends and relatives in different parts of the West. Miss Blanche Reid teacher at Dornoch, leaves the same day to visit her brothers and sisters at Webb, Sask.

At last the plans of our new Post Office are issued and a set of them are in the possession of Postmaster Smith. The main building is 40x60 feet and above the Customs department rises a square tower 65 feet high, with apparently a clock with four faces.

A flag staff on the south end rises 55 feet. From the tower a beam projects on which a bell is suspended, which will no doubt be utilized for fire alarms.

The community was made very sorrowful last Thursday, as the news was passed along that Mr Harry Grady had died in the morning of that day at the early age of 27.

Mulock Corr: Mr Donald and Miss Flora McDonald and Mr and Mrs Barclay attended the corner stone laying of the new Baptist Church in Chesley last week.

Chemical analyses of the roots of alfalfa plants, from which the hay was cut when all plants were in full bloom, have been made to determine the amount of carbohydrates and both soluble and insoluble nitrogen present. The roots of plants that were allowed to come to full bloom showed more than twice as much reserve foods as did the roots of plants that were cut in the bud or one-tenth bloom stage. It has also been noted that plants that are harvested when the bloom is full come through the winter with less loss. The more vigorous condition of the root, as indicated by chemical analysis, for the plant that is allowed to come to full bloom and harvested only twice in the season, is a big factor in carrying the plants over winter.

Many alfalfa fields are ruined by late September and October cutting—the roots are left in a too weakened condition to stand the rigors of winter.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. College.

A fourth laboratory analysis and field test of the commercial product known as "Soligno" at the O. A. College by special request. The results of this test tallied with those that were previously reported by the Department, and were to the effect that this product, which retails at six dollars per gallon, is of no benefit to crops on ordinary soil.

TOMATO IS POPULAR

POINTS TO SECURE SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION.

Wide Range of Choice Both With Reference to Soils and Fertilizers.—Pruning and Harvesting. (Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Tomatoes are grown extensively as a truck crop, as a market garden crop and in the home garden. The total acreage grown for canning in Ontario has reached many thousand acres.

The tomato does well on a wide range of soils. However, for the early crop light sandy or gravelly loams are preferred, while for a heavy yield, later crop, the rich sandy loams or clay loams are preferred.

Fertilizers and Manures. General recommendations at best can only be a guide for the use of fertilizers and manures with this crop. The character and treatment of the soil, along with what may be the ultimate use of the crop, together with the length of season for the district, all help to suggest what treatment is needed. It is generally recognized that the tomato crop requires a soil in a high state of fertility.

Fresh manure should not be applied just previous to the setting of the plants, far better if applied the previous autumn, or with the previous crop. Tomatoes will do well following clover, ploughed under the previous autumn. Of the commercial fertilizers, those bearing relatively high quantities of available phosphorus are most generally satisfactory.

Sometimes a light application of nitrate of soda applied just when early plants are setting a start is useful to help them on after the shock of transplanting from frame to field. Since early fruiting and ripening is important with this crop, too much nitrogen will prolong the growth at the expense of early fruiting.

Planting. Tomato plants are tender and should not be set out into the field until after danger from frost is over. Previous to setting out they should be well watered and as much of the soil and roots be moved with the plant as possible. It is well to choose a dull day or else delay planting until late afternoon.

The usual distance of setting the plants is four by four feet. Various methods are used to facilitate the work of setting—some growers plough out furrows, others mark their fields and dig the holes, while the most common method with the small grower is to use a crowl in setting the plants. It is good practice to set plants somewhat deeper than they were growing in the pot or box. Firm the soil well around the roots of the plant, this is important.

Cultivation. Cultivation should be frequent. Keep all weed growth down. As the plants develop the tillage should become more shallow and finally cease when injury to the roots is noticed. Growing Staked Tomatoes. Many commercial growers produce a crop of tomatoes from plants supported by stakes and pruned to a single stem. This is an excellent way to grow the home garden crop.

Training. Plants may be set from twelve to eighteen inches apart in rows that are three or four feet apart. Individual stakes of wood or iron may be used to support the plants or such may be supported by tying to wires. Rafta is the most satisfactory tying material, used as a loop around the plant stem and attached to the support.

Pruning. In order to produce a single stem plant, all side shoots and suckers must be pinched off as soon as they appear.

Harvesting. Tomatoes allowed to ripen on the vine have a superior flavor, so fully colored fruits only should be picked. The eleven-quart basket is the most popular marketing package used in Ontario at the present time.

Firm, sound, well graded, clean fruits should be packed for market.—Dept. of Horticulture, O. A. College.

ALFALFA. Food Reserve and Ability to Withstand the Winter. Chemical analyses of the roots of alfalfa plants, from which the hay was cut when all plants were in full bloom, have been made to determine the amount of carbohydrates and both soluble and insoluble nitrogen present. The roots of plants that were allowed to come to full bloom showed more than twice as much reserve foods as did the roots of plants that were cut in the bud or one-tenth bloom stage. It has also been noted that plants that are harvested when the bloom is full come through the winter with less loss. The more vigorous condition of the root, as indicated by chemical analysis, for the plant that is allowed to come to full bloom and harvested only twice in the season, is a big factor in carrying the plants over winter.

The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER By ALFRED BISSON

Time dries all tears. Don't advertise your good deeds. We generally get what we deserve. Say neither too much nor too little. Advice is the cheapest kind of help. Only a small part of what we learn stays with us. Nature provides strength enough for most burdens. Deeds are greater than words, but thoughts can be greater than both. A man was fumbling at his key-hole in the small hours of the morning. A policeman saw the difficulty and came to the rescue. "Can I help you find the keyhole, sir?" he asked. "Thash all right, old man," said the other cheerfully, "you just hold the house still and I can manage."
