SISTERS

Oh, sister with the dusky skin, Give me your hand to-night, Though yours be deeply black or brown And mine a pale-washed white. Oh, daughter of another land, Stern nature's old decree Gave you a color unlike mine. But what is that to me? Help me to break forever down, These barriers of race— Teach me to read God's signature On every dusky face. Oh, sisters yelow, red and brown, Love sees beneath the skin: Our common badge of sisterhood, Is the white heart within. Gertrude Bowen Webster, Lansdowne, Ontario

The 3 selections given were of a high order, that of the second (musically) containing a harmonic chord, seldom heard in a quartette. It was beautiful and thrilling. SWINTON PARK

This week we tell of the death of Mrs Marie McKay, who has suffered intensely from cancer. Last November she first went to hospital in Toronto for treatment, and underwent an operation in mid-winter. At times there was hope of better health, but again she would go down, until death came as a release from suffering.

Mrs McKay died Saturday morning, August 19th, and was laid to rest on Monday in the little cemetery here beside her husband, James McKay, who died seven years ago. Alex. McMillan of Dundalk was the undertaker in charge and Rev. Mr. Muir of Priceville, in the absence of Rev. Mr Taylor, her pastor, conducted the services at home, church and graveside. A large gathering of friends and neighbors showed their respect for the dead, and sympathy for the bereaved family by their presence. The pall-bearers were close neighbors: George Haw, Bert Martin, John Lane, Ed. Heard, Robt. Ferris, Howard Watson. The flowerbearers were Delbert Haw, Everett Martin, Maurice McLeod, Edgar McLeod.

Mrs McKay before marriage was Marie Maes, born in Normandy, 54 years ago, and married in Hamilton 28 years ago to James McKay. They lived in Holland township until coming to Proton 10 years ago. There are left to mourn, three daughters and two sons: Gordon, Maurice, Marguerite, Stella and Beatrice; also a sister, Mrs. Shackleton of Dornoch, and two brothers, Oscar and James Maes of Dornoch. All were at the funeral. Such is life, and death comes to all!

Every one of these visits is a news item of interest to at least one of our readers, and we are very anxious to receive these items. Send them in, or bring them in, phone them in, or if you live in the country, let your district correspondent know. We do not wish to miss any of these "comings and goings," but if someone doesn't tell us, how are we to know of all the visiting? May we count on your co-operation?
