

Technique Of Job - Hunting

"Sell Yourself" Is Good Advice to Applicants — Prepare Before Applying

Two women interested in finding out the common faults in the job-getting technique of young people persuaded the employment manager of a large organization to let them sit behind a screen, and unseen, listen to the applicants being interviewed for jobs.

They heard what hundreds of young people had to say for themselves — and they learned that most of them made the same mistakes.

They hadn't done any preparation before going to the appointment. That was obvious, for they knew nothing of the business. And they didn't even know what to offer for sale. All they knew was the fact that they wanted a job — and they would "do anything."

Most of them were pretty nearly tongue-tied. Instead of taking an employer's question as an opening for selling themselves, they were content with "Yes, sir," and "No, sir" answers.

The women listening behind the screen decided that the young person who could present a different picture — one of intelligent interest in the employer's business and what he could bring to it — would seem so outstanding that an employer would be willing to take a chance on him.

Modern Wars Not Declared

Last Official Warning of Conflict Given In Gran Chaco

The last formal declaration of war was on May 10, 1933, when Paraguay started hostilities with Bolivia in the Gran Chaco dispute.

During the World War, Honduras was the 23rd and last nation to join the Allies by declaring war against Germany July 19, 1918.

Undeclared war in modern times goes back to Sept. 18, 1931, when Japanese troops opened their attack on Mukden, which resulted later in the setting up of the new state of Manchoukuo.

Japan did not and has not yet declared war in the current invasion of China.

There was no official declaration of war when Italy marched into Ethiopia in 1935. And, likewise, there was no declaration when Italy took over Albania in April, 1939.

Not Stumped

There's no stumping the post office officials.

A letter addressed to "the lady in the pink knit suit, Inshore information booth, Toronto," was delivered promptly — and correctly — to Miss Barbara Brennan. It was from Mrs. D. F. Fraser of Ashville, N. C., thanking Miss Brennan for aid she gave Mrs. Fraser and her party during a visit to the Queen City.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON XIII

ISAIAH: FORETELLING THE BIRTH OF THE MESSIANIC KING.—Isa. 7:14 9:1-7; 11:1-5 Golden Text.—His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Isa. 9:6.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time.—Isaiah prophesied from about 740 to 701 B.C. The prophecies in this lesson were uttered approximately at 734 B.C.

Isaiah is beyond question the greatest of the Old Testament prophets. In a prophetic activity extending through a long period of varied experiences and historical change, he has given us one of the grandest monuments of inspired thoughts and utterances. The name "Isaiah" means "Jehovah saves."

Prophecies Christ's Birth

14. Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign: behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. This prophecy was given during the reign of Ahaz, in the midst of calamities. The child is a sign or a pledge that God is with his people.

This is a truly Messianic passage. The word "Immanuel" means "God with us." Isaiah believed the Messiah to be different from, higher and more divine than any other person who had ever appeared in human history.

Isa. 9:1-7. 1. But there shall be no gloom to her that was in anguish. In the former time he brought into contempt the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali; but in the latter time hath he made it glorious, by the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the nations. 2. The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwelt in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined. Isaiah here prophesies the terrible Assyrian invasion but says that in the midst of it there will be hope and light. (Zebulun and Naphtali were tribal areas in northern Palestine, directly west of the Sea of Galilee.)

3. Thou has multiplied the nation, thou has increased their joy; they joy before thee according to the joy in harvest, as men rejoice when they divide the spoil. "Nation" refers to the Jewish nation which will rejoice when their agonies are over. 4. For the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his oppressor, thou has broken as in the day of Midian. 5. For all the armor of the armed man in the tumult, and the garments rolled in blood, shall be for burning, for fuel of fire.

His Government

6. For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder. And his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Five remarkable titles are given to this predicted son.

7. Of the increase of his government and of peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to establish it, and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of Jehovah of hosts will perform this. The government of Christ as predicted here will be a righteous and just government, an everlasting government. It will be a government set up not by men, but by God, its King appointed by God himself.

The Righteous Judge

Isa. 11:1-5. 1. And there shall come forth a shoot out of the stock of Jesse, and a branch out of his roots shall bear fruit. (a) And the Spirit of Jehovah shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of Jehovah. Here is pictured the endowment (by the Holy Spirit) of the Messiah with eminent prophetic gifts and qualifications for his ministry on earth. How is each one of these gifts of the Spirit of God manifested in the earthly ministry of the Lord Jesus?

3. And his delight shall be in the fear of Jehovah; and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither decide after the hearing of his ears. 4. But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth. And he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth; and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked. 5. And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins. The girdle is the symbol of vigorous, unimpeded strength. Christ is righteousness incarnate and all his judgments will be according to his character. He will know all circumstances, all motives.

Imputes Success To Upbringing

Educator Doubts Heredity Is Influence In Making Families Advance

Upbringing of a successful family is a matter of training, not of heredity, the annual conference of secretaries of Canadian branches of the Young Men's Christian Association was told by Dr. Joseph Kopas of Cleveland.

By Learning How

Dr. Kopas, director of student guidance and orientation at Penn College, said that intelligent planning and conscious activity on the part of young people themselves in all phases of living is the key-note to a greater degree of success. Such a program of living is needed particularly, he said, in "the highly complex condition of society today."

"It is a matter of learning how to live successfully with oneself, with others socially, with one's family," Dr. Kopas declared. "People are not born to have a successful family—it is a matter of learning to have a successful family."

Claims Indians Not Decreasing

Population Rises One Per Cent A Year On This Continent, Government Official Says

Contrary to popular belief, the North American Indian is not decreasing in numbers, according to Dr. H. W. McGill, director, Indian Affairs Branch, Ottawa, who addressed a seminar conference at the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto, recently.

Dr. McGill says there is a natural increase of about 1 per cent a year in the population of the Indians. This applies, he declared, to the pure-bred tribes on reservations, as well as to the inter-racial mixtures. The last census in Canada, five years ago, showed a total of 112,500 Indians, Dr. McGill said, and he was confident the next census would show a substantial increase in this number.

Adjustable To Modern Conditions In relating facts which showed the Indians were readily readjusting themselves to modern conditions, Dr. McGill mentioned that the Caughnawaga Indians from Montreal Island were the best structural steel workers on the continent and were in great demand.

Ontario Tries Winter Barley

In response to inquiries about the suitability of winter barley for Ontario, Mr. Robert Keegan of the Field Husbandry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, gives the following brief statement:—

During recent years there appears to be an increasing interest in winter barley in Ontario, and some very high yields of grain have been reported.

This crop has been in field tests at the Ontario Agricultural College for many years, but has not been unreservedly recommended to the farmers of Ontario as no variety yet tested has been hardy enough to ensure a crop in seasons following severe winters.

Experimental results at the College and the experience of farmers who have grown winter barley indicate the following facts about this crop:—

It is not as dependable a crop as spring barley, but, when not winter killed, it produces exceptionally high yields.

The quality of the grain is generally excellent. It can be grown on well drained land in parts of the province where the snow cover is good and where winters are not too severe.

It matures very early and thus gives an excellent opportunity to control weeds by after harvest cultivation.

Since summer cultivation is necessary to provide a good seed bed, growing this crop gives good control of weeds as partial summer following can be practised both before seeding and after harvesting winter barley.

Man Who Never Heard Of Hitler

Only 10 miles from Downing Street, London, lives a grey-haired hermit, Henry Tillyer, 74. He knows nothing about Hitler and little about the war.

Henry boiled a can of tea over a fire in the wooden hut he built on a lonely lane in the village of Harlington, Middlesex.

"Hitler?" he said. "I don't know what you're talking about. I've heard folk talk about him but who is he and where does he live?"

Can't Afford Newspapers Henry explained he cannot afford newspapers or radio and mostly reads the Bible.

Shown a gas mask, Tillyer decided it would be a good thing to keep flowers in.

"I've heard nothing about any crisis except the one I had a few weeks ago when my hut burned down," he said. "That was the biggest for 40 years."

One super diligent CBS engineer who stayed on the job for 48 hours straight, following Hitler's epochal Reichstag speech, was finally made to go home. ## Speed King To Go Faster Yet

John R. Cobb, 39-year-old London fur broker, is supreme ruler of the straightaway speed world, after smashing three more international automobile records, but he yearns to go faster.

After roaring across the saline lake bed twice at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, to make the old five kilometre, ten kilometre and ten-mile marks look slow by comparison, the big Briton began planning for the future — and a goal of 400 miles an hour.

"I hope ultimately to achieve that mark," Cobb commented after holding the land speed record to 359.74 miles per hour and adding three new marks to his string.
