THE DURHAM REVIEW, Durham

IT CANNOT HAPPEN HERE

When the ostrich buries its head in the sand at the sign of approaching danger, the bird believes, presumably, that it will not be affected. This is an apt analogy in Fire Prevention Week, to be observed throughout the Dominion from October 8 to October 14, because it would seem, most of us bury our heads in the sand, figuratively speaking, when we think of fire losses. They are something remote, something that cannot happen to us, as individuals. But they do happen to someone, otherwise there would be no accounting for Canada's fire loss of $25,899,180 in 1938 and the loss of 263 lives.

Why is there such an appalling loss in a country such as this, populated by approximately 11,000,000 souls? The answer is simply because most of us are incredibly careless. We do not stop to think. A carelessly discarded cigarette; misuse of gasoline or other inflammable liquids, or materials; carelessness in winter heating of the home or in watching for possible sources of fire through pipes near wooden beams becoming overheated... these are simple instances of "causes" which constantly appear in the fire records.

In Canada the "Board" insurance companies have, during the last few decades, built up a system of inspection, co-operation with governing bodies, distribution of educational matter and, in divers ways, helped to reduce the loss to its present level, but, they still admit, there is a

416,000,000 BUSHEL CANADIAN WHEAT CAN BE EXPORTED

Canada has available for export during the crop year which began Aug. 1st, some 416,000,000 bushels of wheat, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimated in a report on the wheat situation recently released.

The amount is arrived at by adding the 1939 carryover of 95,000,000 bushels to the new crop of 449,000,000 bushels and deducting the estimated domestic requirements of 128,000,000 bushels.

THE CANADIAN RUBBER INDUSTRY

As Canada is the sixth largest importer of raw rubber in the world, it is obvious that an industry of considerable magnitude exists for its utilization. Not only is the rubber industry large; it is also diverse in production, says "Canada's Weekly."

Plants manufacturing tires and miscellaneous rubber products represent the eleventh largest industry in the Dominion from the standpoint of volume. For example, the $74,000,000 which represented the value of the rubber factories' output in the latest year for which statistics are forthcoming exceeds the value of the production of the tobacco establishments, the boot and shoe factories, domestic industries that are regarded as holding major positions in Canada's economic life.

A FACT A WEEK ABOUT CANADA

GOODS FROM ABROAD

Sometime ago we had a chat about the immigrants that come from abroad on great ships that sail the seas. Let us look now at the material things that have been carried in the hold of the ship, or in the strong box in the skipper's cabin. For the vessel has articles that we want, and some of them, possibly most of them, what we actually need.

Cases of black tea from India and Ceylon, along with green tea from Japan and China, are laid ashore. Comparatively speaking, there is not so much green tea wanted in Canada now as there used to be. Black tea is far and away the favorite beverage in this country. It overshadows everything else in the way of a stimulant. But not all of the black tea is coming from Asia. There is a family of vigorous young population in East Africa, more particularly Kenya, people of the same racial origin as ourselves, who are going ahead at a great rate in the growing of certain things that the world wants. Tea is one of them and apparently the Kenya tea is good. We are getting some of it.

From Kenya, too, we are getting coffee. It must be good coffee for of late that is where we've been getting a great deal of our supply.

Sometimes the Brazilians burn their surplus coffee in order to keep the price up. Whether that is good business or not you can determine for your selves. We consume much Brazilian coffee, but the trend recently has been in favour of the product of Kenya and Jamaica. Kenya seems to be especially well situated for the raising of coffee for it borders on Abyssinia. Coffee is a natural product in that country, where it grows wild.

For many years we have been getting a small quantity yearly from Abyssinia, and we have continued to get it since the occupation by the Italians. Some particular people profess a special liking for it.

The sugar we take with our tea and coffee is made almost entirely of cane or beets grown in the Empire and we get cane from the Fiji Islands, Australia, South Africa, British Guiana, and the West Indies. The animal charcoal used by the refineries for clarifying the sugar, comes mainly from Egypt.

TURTLES

Turtles have no teeth, but their jaws are often very sharp and the jaw muscles are extremely powerful. Some turtles have tooth-like ridges that remotely resemble teeth, but they are not true teeth. Yet without teeth some turtles can inflict painful bites.
