PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT PUBLIC SCHOOL

An educational program somewhat different to the usual routine was put on by the staff of the public school on Friday under the leadership of principal G. A. Noble. The pupils took part in the singing of the National Anthem, O Canada, Rule Britannia with Miss Norma Gagnon presiding at the piano. John C. McKechnie read Dr. John McCrae's immortal message "In Flanders Fields"; Benjamin Firth read "The Flag of Freedom," and Norman Greenwood told the reasons for being in the war.

Principal Noble gave a talk on present world conditions and Remembrance Day. He stressed the fact that if we say "Good will win," and mean what we say, there is no doubt what the outcome will be, and concluded with the timely thought, "There is but one task for all for each one life to give, who stands if freedom falls, who dies if England lives?"

POCKET RADIOS AND ROBOT SERVANTS FORECAST FOR 1959

Pocket radios that will permit men to converse "with the ends of the earth," nearly "indestructible" buildings of glass blocks, armchair controls to put automotons to work in the kitchens and laundry, these—and more—were predicted for 1959.

Leaders of science, industry and education made the forecasts at the dedication of a radio station's new 50,000-watt transmitter. The prophecies were engraved on wax transcription disks and hermetically sealed in a glass crypt to be preserved for the next two decades. They will be broadcast in 1959 as a greeting from the past.

Among developments the speakers held possible in the twenty years were:

Increased leisure, with science directing man's work, and art occupying his play; distribution of work among all, "so that none shall ever more go hungry, naked or athirst"; control of dread diseases, and all-glass building blocks that will slash almost indestructible structures.

Dr. Samuel Hardin Church, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, predicted that "all men will carry the radio in their pockets and converse through it with the ends of the earth," and Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, forecasts:

"The progress being effected in treating pneumonia will no doubt bring this dread disease under medical control in next twenty years. Likewise cancer will be much better understood."

George H. Boucher declared the home of the future will be "built around its electric power supply and that from any of a number of control centres 'the homemaker can give her commands to appliances at work in the kitchen and laundry.'"

Former Durhamite's Wife to Entertain the Soldiers

The wife of a former well-known Durham merchant, Mrs. H. H. (Be.) Moeckler, a charming and talented Hamiltonian—at one time the toast of London and Manchester—is turning her stage talent to wartime service. She has a military concert party fully organized ready to entertain the lads of the C.A.S.F. She was Mollie Gray before her marriage to Mr. Moeckler. She was known wherever she sang or gave her famous impersonation-songs as "Cousin Mollie."

"Our concert party has been in strict rehearsal since Sept. 5th, two days after was declared, and first performances are now ready to be presented to the troops in Hamilton," Mrs. Moeckler said.

Immediately war was declared Mrs. Moeckler went to Toronto to confer with Brigadier R. O. Alexander, officer commanding Military District No. 2. She was told entertainment of the troops was one of the most important angles, for morale must be kept up. Also that she was the very first one to offer such service.

"It was only because I knew what had been done in England in the Great War and was sure some thing would be most necessary in Canada, especially if troops were trained here, that I offered such service as I can give," Mrs. Moeckler said. She allowed no publicity of any kind until the show was complete in every detail.

Typical English modesty as to her talents and performances in England characterized all her answers to questions.

The cast of "The Brigadiers"—title of the party—including Hamilton musicians and soloists, all of whom volunteered their services for the duration of the war.

A FACT A WEEK ABOUT CANADA

Not only is the warble fly one of the worst insect pests of cattle but it is a destructive enemy of the ancient Canadian art of leather making. Cattle hides comprise the principal material used in the tanning industry of Canada, and approximately 70 per cent of the cattle hides used in the manufacture of leather come originally from Canadian farms. The remainder has to be imported. But for the damage caused by warble flies to the hides, Canadian farmers would be able to supply the entire amount.

The full extent of the losses involved every year through warble fly damage is not generally recognized. As the result of an extensive survey it has been found that at the very minimum, 50 per cent of all Canadian hides taken off in one year were damaged by open or healed grub holes, and on this basis Canadian hides were worth $700,000 less in finished leather than if they had been clear. Owing to control measures now adopted, 70 per cent of the Canadian hides are entirely usable. The total losses in Ontario have been stated to be $5,000,000 a year, and according to the pamphlet issued by the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture, "Warble Flies and their control in Canada," it is estimated that the losses from all causes (damage to hides, injury to cattle from fright and worry, reduction of milk production, and wastage of beef) attributable to warble flies throughout the Dominion are from $7,000,000 to $14,000,000 annually and in some seasons may exceed even the latter figure. This pamphlet gives full information on the best way to control the pest.

Two species of warble flies have become widely distributed in many parts of the world, particularly in Europe, North America, and to a less extent in Asia. There are no warble flies in South America, a fact which is not overlooked by the Argentine exporters of cattle hides. Warble flies occur in every part of Canada where live stock is raised. In Canada and in all countries where they are prevalent, and abundant, warble flies are one of the worst insect pests of cattle.

Wedded in Meaford

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Meaford on Saturday, at high noon, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends, when Helen Athelda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Knight of Meaford, was united in marriage to Benjamin Francis Rice, son of Mrs. Rice and the late Edward Francis Rice, of Hamilton. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. H. W. Wright. The ceremony was performed in the living room at the home of the bride's parents and pink and white chrysanthemums formed the setting. Charles Knight of Meaford and Dr. Walter Rice of Toronto were in charge of the signing of the register. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor length chiffon gown in berry shade with a bustle effect and trimming of gold lace. She wore matching accessories and carried a nosegay of Tallahassee roses.

Mrs. Edna Greenfield played the wedding march. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Charles Knight sang beautifully "Oh Perfect Love." The groom's gift to the bride was an engraved gold wrist watch. Mrs. F. A. Knight, mother of the bride, received in a gown of crushed strawberry crepe with matching accessories and she wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Edna Rice, mother of the groom, in a mourning gown of black crepe with satin applique and corsage of Premier roses. Mrs. Rice was bereft of her husband, Edward Francis Rice, missionary, who died at the Sudan Interior Mission in Africa, just three weeks ago. The young couple left on a trip to Western Ontario. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Rice will take up residence in Hamilton.
