

Canada To Get U.S. Aviators

Air Training Plan — Schools Expected to Have 10,000 Instructors

A staff of 40,000 is being assembled under the British Commonwealth air training plan to man air schools across the Dominion and probably 10,000 will be flying instructors.

Already hundreds of competent pilots have been enlisted from flying schools and commercial companies to assist the regular Royal Canadian Air Force instructors in teaching young Canadians to handle a military plane but it has been anticipated that some American aviators also will be brought to Canada under the training plan.

AMERICANS CAN SERVE

Special provision has been made to allow Americans to serve with the R. C. A. F. and the necessary qualification of being a British subject to serve with the Canadian Active Service Force does not apply to the air force.

It was reported in New York that British agents are recruiting 55 American aviators for the air training plan and it was indicated that this number might be increased as the training progresses.

Dive Bombers Protect Our Western Coast

Guarding Canada's western coast against enemy attacks, patrols of dive bombers, wing their way along the coast line and far out to sea in search of any naval craft. These dive bombers are named because they release their bombs as they dive and then quickly rise before the resulting explosion, as their deadly missiles find their mark. A dive bomber is shown here, diving to the attack with the resultant explosion also shown.

London No Longer Is World's Largest

Evacuation of 3,000,000 People Has Put It in Third Place Among Biggest Cities

London has lost pride of place among the big cities of the world, writes the Toronto Telegram's London correspondent.

She used to be the world's largest, with a population of 8,203,818. New York next, with 6,939,446; Tokyo third, with 6,000,000, and Berlin, fourth, with 4,250,000. But 3,000,000 of her people, including nearly half a million children, have gone to live elsewhere, partly for safety, partly because of the decentralization of government and commercial offices.

The principal gas company reports the loss, since the outbreak of war, of 1,500,000 customers. That means almost as many families.

It is, of course, from the populous suburbs that the largest number of removals have taken place. Examples are Purley, 12,000; Wandsworth, 15,000, and Ilford, as many as 18,000.

Canadian Firms Are Busy Building Planes For R.C.A.F.

Canada's air force is rapidly being expanded to meet the war emergency and to give 100 per cent. co-operation to the British Commonwealth Air Training scheme, which is now getting under way. Designed for these planes are fast, all-metal low-wing monoplanes which can carry a crew of six and attain a speed of 205 miles per hour. In addition to these planes, huge Stranraer flying boats are also being built at the Vickers plant. These huge boats carry five men and have a range of 2,000 miles and are the biggest planes built in Canada.

THREE QUESTIONS

It was customary for any one who desired to ask questions of a rabbi in public, even interrupting him at pleasure. 15. Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might ensnare him in his talk. (The Pharisees were essentially a religious party, fanatically opposed to whatever was non-Jewish. They sought to attain purity and holiness by the most rigorous and scrupulous observance of the written law and the unwritten traditions down to the finest detail. They were soul of the opposition to Jesus, opposing him on national and religious grounds. Their spirit is characterized by Jesus as hypocrisy, i.e., the spirit of untruthfulness in religion and life). 16. And they send to him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying, Teacher, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, and carest not for anyone; for thou regardest not the person of men. (The Herodians were not a religious sect, but a court or political party, supporters of the dynasty of Herod.) They early perceived that Christ's pure spiritual teaching of the kingdom of God was irreconcilable with their political aims, and that Christ's influence with the people was antagonistic to their interests. The Herodians' purpose here was to trap Jesus, not to gain information. 17. Tell us therefore, what thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not? "Tribute" means poll-tax; but Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why make ye trial of me, ye hypocrites? 19. Show me the tribute-money. And he brought unto him a denarius. 20. And he saith unto them, Whose is this image and superscription? (On one side of the coin were stamped the features of the Emperor Tiberius; on the obverse his title of Pontifex Maximus). 21. They say unto him, Caesar's. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's. The true basis for citizenship implied here is devotion to God, and no political theory or party allegiance can be taken for a substitute for loyalty to him. 22. And when they heard it, they marvelled, and left him, and went away.

THE GREAT COMMANDMENT

34. But the Pharisees, when they heard that he had put the Sadducees to silence, gathered themselves together. 35. And one of them, a lawyer, asked him a question, trying him. (The great sphere of the activities of the lawyers was the law as it was contained in the Scripture or handed down traditionally; they gave instruction in the law, and trained disciples; they interpreted and developed the law.) 36. Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law? 37. And he said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. 38. This is the great and first commandment. 39. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. 40. On these two commandments the whole law hangs, and the prophets. The teaching of Jesus here rests upon two well-known passages in the Pentateuch, Deut. 6:5, and Lev. 19:18. If we really love the Lord with all our heart, we will do voluntarily and gladly all the things which are divinely commanded, and will naturally refrain from doing those things which the Lord prohibits. Love is the "royal law."

RADIO NOTES AND NEWS

ONTARIO WEEKIES ON AIR

Listeners on the Ontario network of the CBC are hearing a new type of news broadcast every Sunday from 10:00 to 10:15 a.m. EST, when "Neighborhood News," a programme of the interesting happenings in the province's towns and villages and rural districts goes on the air.

Material for the programme is secured from the weekly newspapers of Ontario, and broadcast by Andy Clarke, whose "Good evening friends" opened the news broadcast of the Globe for five years. Mr. Clarke is a former news editor of the Globe.

"Neighborhood News" tells of the events which transpire in the rural communities and towns of the province. These are of interest to thousands of listeners in the cities as well as the smaller centres. The programme is presented through the co-operation of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Writes About Blockade

—Elliot & Fry

Sir William Beveridge, author of "Blockade and the Civilian Population" (Oxford Pamphlets on World Affairs), has been Master of University College, Oxford since 1937; held important economic posts under the government in the last war (including that of Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Food), and was Director of the London School of Economics from 1919 to 1937. He is the author of many standard works on economic subjects.

Rodent Breaks Monkey's Heart

McGill University Monk Adopted Rat Who Proved to be Ungrateful

Unrequited affection brings unhappiness to monkeys as well as to human beings, it seems. Minnie the Monk, as she is popularly known in the McGill Medical Buildings, Montreal, is languishing these days in her cage quite unlike her usual self.

Minnie unfortunately "took up" with a rat about a month ago when the latter entered her cage in search of food. She expended all her pent-up maternal love on her new-found friend and with great tenderness held the rat in her arms while she regaled it with the finest morsels of her food.

RAT WILL BE PUNISHED

The rat, a white experimental specimen, grew fat. With his hunger for food satisfied, he began to shun Minnie's cage. He forgot that elemental virtue—gratitude. Minnie, however, has not forgotten. She looks each day for her foster-child, and each day her spirits droop lower.

Minnie has the sympathy of laboratory attendants who vow that Sammy the rat will "do right by our Minnie" or else. The "else" means a complete and final experiment for Sammy.

FARM NOTES

THE FARM FRONT PLANS CAMPAIGN

Quality farm products for wartime export indicate the basis on which the 1940 new crop year enters its initial preparation stage, says G. R. Snyder, soil chemist. Good food is first class ammunition in any war and more particularly in a war of nerves. The front line fighters and the civilian population in the war area need the best we can send them.

Don't Sacrifice Quality

The objective is not entirely unselfish, however, but has a foundation in the mistakes of the first world war when quantity production was pushed at the expense of quality. Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms, illustrated this point very forcibly at the Ontario Experimental Union Meeting, when he drew attention to the fact that it had taken Canada the whole of 20 years since 1918 to regain the confidence of the British consumer for Canadian bacon. Disregard of soil fertility and the growing of grain on sub-marginal lands are some of the other mistakes that should be guarded against. New scientific knowledge of matters pertaining to the growing of field crops and the feeding of livestock are potent assets in the present programme. Higher yielding varieties of rust resistant wheat, such as Renown, and of oats — Erban or Vanguard; better type bacon hogs, with a greater supply of good breeding stock available, are foundation factors for the necessary expansion.

Adapt To Environment

In presenting his report to the members of the Experimental Union, Dr. G. P. McKelvie stated that varieties should be chosen with a view to their adaptation to the specific environment. Information regarding the most suitable varieties for any particular district can be obtained from the nearest experimental station.
