Farm Income Too Low
To meet Cost

I BELIEVE

A Nation at War needs a National Government.
Absolute and rigid Economy to be essential.
In a clear-cut business administration of the country's affairs.
No War Profiteering should be allowed.
In stabilization and control of commodity prices.

No political patronage or favouritism should exist
We must avoid extravagance and waste so as to prevent unnecessarily high taxation.
The Farmer and Workingman should have a better chance.
The welfare of Canadians should be above petty politics and Party following.
We do not need conscription. Canada will do its part voluntarily.
A War Veteran's experience should be of value to a War Time Government.

VOTE Karl D. Knechtel
National Conservative Candidate

Hear Karl Knechtel every Thursday night at 6.30 p. m. over CKNX, Wingham.

NOMINATION WAS QUIET

For a large Riding like Grey-Bruce, the attendance at the official nomination in Walkerton Monday was disappointingly small. When the "Review" scribe arrived about 2.00 p. m., we expected to find a full hall: instead only 30 to 40 electors were on hand. Then next half hour what crowd there was arrived, but in all, there were no more than 250 present.

The small turnout may be ascribed to several causes. One is perhaps lack of interest of the public, who fail to see much difference in the main issues of the parties in this campaign, all parties upholding the vigorous prosecution to the war. Again we doubt if Bruce electors have the habit of thronging to nomination to hear all candidates together as is usual in Grey. Had the gathering been held in Durham or Hanover, we believe the hall would have been crowded, instead of little over half filled. The cold day and poor roads for farmers off the main highways, and meeting held in extreme west end instead of in the centre of the Riding, were also contributing factors.

All candidates delivered well reasoned, calm addresses, and no heckling or questioning of any nature was indulged in. Even the applause was less vigorous than usual, and judging by it, all three candidates had approximately even support present.

Miss Macphail spoke for 47 minutes, Mr Harris for 23, and Mr. Knechtel 30. Not having heard Mr Knechtel before, we were favourably impressed with his earnestness, calm argument, and freedom from personalities, as also were the other candidates.

The following was written by the Newmarket Era for consumption in its town, Newmarket. It is so applicable to Durham that with a few changes it is herewith re-published:

Perhaps there are times when the town weekly does not live up to our expectations. Perhaps there are times when we think that the community weekly might do a much better job. Undoubtedly town weeklies are not what they might be, if their staffs were tireless, their readers were countless, and their advertisers were never discouraged. But weeklies have unnecessary difficulties.

For instance, there are few people who bear in mind that a weekly newspaper needs copy on Fridays and Saturdays as well as on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Press secretaries and other contributors who often might have their material in a week ahead of time, will send it in on Wednesday and expect to see it published. When such material is sent in later than 6 p.m. Tuesday the writer need not be surprised if it does not appear. Our staff will do its best to handle late copy but can do just so much.

A weekly newspaper has a peak-load. Just like Durham Hydro Electric System has a peak-load. That peak falls on Wednesday, when the weekly staff has far too much to do. People who do not think of sending in their items of news or their advertising until Wednesday, are contributing to that peak and are making economical production of their weekly newspaper very difficult.

The Review is your newspaper and you can help to make it better by your co-operation in sending in your copy early.

ONLY FOUR PAPERS NOW LISTED ON "ENTRANCE"

One of the last two surviving departmental systems of examinations, the entrance class schedule will be commenced this year on June 27. It will continue for two days. As was the custom adopted in 1939 writing has been discontinued as a separate special subject, but marks for writing are determined by studying other papers written.

According to copies of the examination program received here English literature and mathematics will be written on June 27 with English composition and spelling on the following day. Grammar is included with composition.

The voters' list for the Federal general election is expected to total 6,400,000 voters, and usually between 70 and 75 per cent. of those entitled to vote actually cast their ballots in a Dominion election. In 1935 the popular vote, as tabulated unofficially by press sources, was as follows: Liberal, 1,955,487; Independent L.B.I., 1,430; Liberal-Progressive, 18,215; Conservative, 1,311,392; C. C. F., 390,200; Reconstruction (Stevens party), 384,222; Social Credit, 177,045; Communist, 31,151; Labor, 15,206; U.F.O., 9,065; all others, 16,744.

Daylight saving has a special meaning in European countries this year and already, Gt. Britain, France, Belgium and Portugal have advanced their clocks one hour with Germany scheduled to follow suit on April 1st. The extra hour of daylight in the morning will mean an economic saving in electrical power and lighting gas, two commodities which are much needed in countries busily engaged in wartime manufacture. The extra hour will mean also more time for transportation of products of all descriptions, which has been greatly hampered by blackout conditions.

Although 32 per cent. of the people of Canada reside on farms, they draw only nine per cent. of the total income, according to Farquhar Oliver, M.L.A. for South Grey, who addressed the convention of the Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen in Kitchener, Friday.

"When this is the case, is it any wonder that young people are not content to live on farms and leave them to their parents to look after?" he asked, asserting the income of the average farmer in Canada is not sufficient to meet his expenditures. This condition he said, is due to the advance in prices of all farm machinery and feed for livestock.

He said the most prosperous year for Canadian farmers was 1913, as taxes and expenses were unusually low. "Since that time, however, the price of feed and other farm equipment has risen by leaps and bounds until the farmer now has to work hard for little pay," he stated.

He criticized the tax the farmer is required to pay on gasoline and for the installation of Hydro. "The Canadian farmer in addition is faced with stiff competition in the markets of the world, for while farmers in Australia, New Zealand and the Argentine can turn their cattle out in the fields the year round, Canadian farmers must provide expensive feed for their animals for four months of each year."

HYDRO PLANS $1,100,000 ADDITION OF 10 STOREYS

Plans for immediate completion of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission buildings on University Avenue, Toronto, of 16 storeys at an estimated cost of $1,100,000 were announced last week by Thomas H. Hogg, Commission chairman. The project involves construction of a 10-storey addition to the present building which has been used since 1923.

The Hanover Post sports editor must have felt rather grouchy last week when he penned the following:

"The sports writer of 'The Post' and a couple hundred more Hanoverians attended the O. Sd.—Durham game in Walkerton last Friday night which ended in a tie 4-4 and suffered the season's big disappointment. This fixture was advertised as a sudden-death tilt and the fans were therefore entitled to witness a game played until a winner was declared to the extent of 30 minutes overtime. Local fans will recall a Chesley W. O.H.A. club being suspended a couple of years ago for refusing to play overtime in a game at Durham. The majority of the players on both these teams can be classed as veterans and we don't hesitate to predict that the Hanover Sports could take the measurements of either of them."

The Post scribe has several errors. It was not the season's big disappointment, but one of its thrillers, and was not played overtime as both teams had another strenuous game only two nights before and Durham was short-handed for players, through injury. The majority of both teams are not veterans. Durham has only four who might be called veterans, only one of them over 30 years of age, while the Trappers are a young team. And again "Hanover Sports" or any other Hanover aggregation would be swamped by at least 4 goals margin either Durham or O. S. Trapper Cubs.
