W. Lake Found after All-Day Search

After having disappeared from his home at 6 a. m. Friday morning, William Lake, of Bruce St., aged 71 years, was discovered by his son-in-law Wilfred Elliott of Kenilworth about 7.30 that evening, when hopes of finding him alive were fast fading away.

Without saying a word to his wife or others in the home, Mr Lake arose and dressed, and left at 6 o'clock without any breakfast. At 6.20 he was walking down the C. N. R. tracks, thence he had returned to business part of town, where Mr. J. A. Simons reported seeing him about 8 o'clock.

His son-in-law, Wilfred Elliott of Kenilworth, was telephoned, as it was thought he might have hailed a passing car and gone there. When not there, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott drove up and joined the search.

Great relief was felt that he was unhurt, though weak from his day's experience of tramping without food, and medical aid summoned. Since then he has been confined to his bed, and on Monday, was reported considerably weaker.

Only one case was heard in police court last Friday before Magistrate Spereman, while another was adjourned for two weeks.

Seirl Becker was charged with disorderly conduct in the local Chinese restaurant one night at end of March to which he pleaded guilty. It appears that Becker had shoved the proprietor into the vault there and locked him in.

Magistrate read Becker a stern lecture for rowdy conduct against quiet citizens who minded their own business, and warned that no option of a fine would be available another time, but a stiff sentence. A fine of $5 and costs amounting to $12.25 was imposed, or 5 days in jail.

THE ROLL CALL

ROBERT ALJOE

For fifty-one years a resident of Durham, Mr Robert Aljoe passed away on Thursday afternoon in Toronto General Hospital after a three weeks' illness there.

For some months he has been in failing health though able to be about, and walk over town, until his final illness. Had he lived until July next, he would have been seventy-nine years of age.

The late Mr. Aljoe was born on the old Aljoe homestead in Gleneg township east of Durham, a son of late Robert and Ann Aljoe.

In young manhood he learned the blacksmithing trade, and his earliest shops were at Arnott and Holland Centre, at which latter place he married his life partner, formerly Miss Ruth Crowther, over fifty-five years ago.

Shortly after they removed to Durham, where for years he conducted his blacksmithing business in his shop at top of Durham hill (now the Ed. McAuliffe residence) and over twenty-five years ago, removed to lower town, to his shop on Lambton St. and home on Bruce St.

Five years ago, Mr and Mrs. Aljoe celebrated their golden anniversary. Besides his sorely bereaved wife, two daughters and a son survive.

Miss Clara, teacher on Toronto school staff; Mrs Harry Falls (Ruth) of Chichester; and Dr. Harold, dentist of Toronto. Another son Carman died in 1911. The deceased was one of a family of six, only one sister Mrs Mary Crowther of Toronto now surviving.

The late Mr Aljoe was a man of sterling integrity and sound Christian principles. He was an active worker and devoted worshipper in the former Methodist Church, serving for many years on its Quarterly Board. Since Union in 1925, he has been an elder of Queen St. United Church, and latterly of Knox United Church.

He took a deep interest in school matters, serving on Durham Public School Board as a trustee for over twenty years. He was also a member of Durham Bowling Club, and of the Chosen Friends insurance society.

A large concourse of mourners attended the funeral service Monday at the home and to Durham cemetery where interment was made. His pastor, Rev. W. H. Smith was in charge, speaking from Daniel 8:17 on the subject "The Vision at the End." The pall bearers were Dr. J. F. Grant, Alex A. Aljoe, W. A. Glass, R. E. Richardson, W. S. Hunter and Robert Campbell.

Beautiful floral tributes were given by: The Family; Knox Church Session; Chosen Friends; Bowling Club; Mr and Mrs J. B. Duffield; Mr and Mrs Alex. Aljoe, Durham; Mrs. J. Roderick, Penatang; Mr and Mrs W. R. Alder, London; Mr and Mrs Hugh McCullough, Owes Sound; Dr. and Mrs M. J. Rudell, Guelph; and the following from Toronto: Downes family; Mr and Mrs A. W. Grant; McNaughton family; Vic. and Annie Aljoe and Mrs. Crowther; Miss Louisa and Miss Hooey; Mrs Macfarlane and Mrs A. E. Millard; Perdue family; Mr. Tapley; Mr and Mrs Harry McElroy; Latimer family; Earl Grey School; the Laidlaws.

Friends from a distance on Monday or at the funeral Monday were: Mr and Mrs Downs and Mr Bert Downs, Mr A. W. Grange, Mrs A. W. McNaughton, Dr. and Mrs Geo McNaughton, Miss Annie Aljoe, Miss Winona Londry, all of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. Rvdell, Guelph; Mr and Mrs W. P. Alder, London; Mr and Mrs McCullough, Mr and Mrs John Hicks, Owes Sound; Miss Mary Atkinson, Holland Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dixon Strathavon; Mr Russell Ross, Mrs LeGarde; Mr and Mrs Harry Kress; Chatsworth; Mrs W. H. Bean, Mr. and Mrs Stanley Bride, Fordwich.

ANDREW FULTON

A pioneer of Hampden vicinity passed away at his home Saturday in the person of Andrew Fulton, in his seventy-second year.

He was born and spent all his life in Normanby township, the son of pioneer citizens, the late Thomas and Jane Fulton. One brother of Hutton Hill, is the last surviving member of the family. Forty years ago he was wedded to Isabella Henderson, who survives him with two sons and two daughters, all at home: Thomas, Norman, Myrtle and Mae.

The deceased was a consistent member of Hampden United Church, and has served for years on its Board of Managers. The funeral service on Monday afternoon from the home, conducted by his pastor, Rev. L. Pickering, was very largely attended. Interment was made in Hampden cemetery, the pallbearers being Thos. Derby, Wm. Little, Wilfred Anderson, James Byers, Wm. G. Henderson and Osborne Hickling.

Floral tributes were carried by Geo. Henderson and John Corbett. Friends from a distance were Irvine Henderson of Guelph; Mrs Anson Barfoot and two daughters of shallow Lake; Mrs. George Mackie of Barrow Bay; William Sharpe and Mrs James Greig of Keppel and David Greig of Hepworth.

WILLIAM MARTIN

One of Durham's best known citizens, William J. Martin, died at his home in upper town on Tuesday in his seventy-third year, after a lengthy illness. For the last four weeks he has been bedfast, but for two years, he has not been able to go down town.

He was born near Arthur, but was not known in this locality until 1905, when he came to Durham as shoe repairman for J. S. McElraith, having learned the trade with Mr Greig in Arthur. He spent a number of years at McElraith's store then many more with J. & J. Hunter doing repairing in his own quarters at the rear of their store.

On their giving up business, he continued at his home until failing health three years ago forced him to retire. For several years he was caretaker of the Anglican church, and of the bowling green.

Twenty-seven years ago he was married to Caroline Wilson, who survives him with one daughter Florence at home. A sister Mrs Pringlemeir of Detroit and a brother Albert of Lucknow, who visited him a week ago, also survive.

"Billie" as he was familiarly known was a jovial, quick-witted Irishman, who was fond of a story and an upholder of all moral issues. He was a strong Liberal in politics and enjoyed a friendly argument.

His rector Rev. M. H. Farr of the Anglican Church, will conduct a private funeral service at the home on Thursday afternoon, and interment will be made in Durham cemetery.

George St. Home Guttled by Fire

Tuesday evening about 9.30 the home occupied by Mr and Mrs Howard Dalgarno and little daughter on George St. East was badly damaged by fire and water before the local fire brigade could quench the flames.

It is the house formerly owned by the late Mrs Mary Whitmore, now owned by her son James, just west of McGowan Bros. mill.

Early in the evening, Mr Dalgarno, who is employed with Schutz Pump & Tile Co., was turning grass at rear of the house and believed the blaze had been all extinguished. The family and boarder Harry Rimmer had gone early to bed, but soon after Mr Rimmer awakened and smelled smoke. They soon discovered that some grass must still have been smouldering, for the frame woodshed was ablaze and frame kitchen as well was doomed.

The front part of house is of great construction and when the Brigade arrived they devoted their efforts to saving it. Most of the furniture was carried out safely, but 20 bundles of shingles in woodshed, bought to re-roof the house were completely destroyed with the shed and kitchen, while the front part is badly wrecked by fire, smoke and water. It will take probably $700 to repair the loss.

The fire was the first of any consequence in Durham for some years and attracted a big crowd. Fortunately no other buildings were close and the night was calm.

April Weddings

STEEDES-WEBSTER

About fifty guests were present in the home of Mr and Mrs G. C. Webster, Albert Street, on Saturday afternoon, when their only daughter, Edna Jean, and Lieut. James Reginald Steeds, R.C.A.F.C., son of Mr and Mrs W. J. Steeds of Durham, were united in marriage by Rev. M. H. Farr, the wedding music being played by Mrs L. E. Miller of Baden.

The pretty bride in her dress of white lace with net insets over satin, the long full skirt sweeping into a graceful train, and the wedding veil worn with French tiara, carrying white roses and bouvardia was given in marriage by her father. The attendants were Miss Anne Baldwin of Orest, Sound and William Webb of Durham. Miss Baldwin was charmingly gowned in robin-egg blue taffeta, with American Beauty accessories carrying American Beauty roses.

During the signing of the register, Miss Kathleen Smith of Walkerton sang most effectively, "Day of Golden Promise." The bride's mother wore a gown of turquoise blue sheer and a corsage of sweetpeas and the groom's mother was in orchid sheer with a corsage of sweetpeas.

The dining-room table was centred by the bride's cake and the cake was cut by the bride with the groom's sword and served at the buffet luncheon. Four of the groom's officer comrades from Camp Borden were present and formed a guard of honor for the wedding party.

For travelling the bride donned a navy blue sheer dress with navy coat and matching accessories and left by motor on a short wedding journey. The happy couple will take up residence in Barrie. Friends were present from Mimico, Chesley, Walkerton, Owen Sound and Baden.

Beautiful snapdragon standards and graceful ferns formed the setting in the livingroom for the ceremony.

PATTERSON-NEWELL

On Saturday at 12 o'clock noon at the United Church manse, Rev. W. H. Smith, B. A., united in marriage Olive, the eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs John Newell of Glenak and Clem Patterson, only son of Mr and Mrs Palmer Patterson of Normanby. The bride wore a becoming dress of dusky rose shade and was attended by her cousin, Miss Emily Whitmore. The groom's attendant was Arthur Newell.

The wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents to the immediate relatives and the table was centred with a three storey cake, the work of the bride's aunt, Mrs Margaret Whitmore. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver, to the bridesmaid a brooch and the groomsmen, a tie pin.

For travelling the bride donned a suite of heavenly blue with dusky rose hat, purse and gloves. After a short wedding journey the happy couple begin homemaking on the groom's farm south of Varney.

An automobile can be driven 15 miles on pavement for the same cost as it can be driven 12 miles on gravel or 11 miles on earth roads if all operating costs are considered, a survey by the engineering experimental station reveals.

Miss Agnes Macphail, who met her first defeat in the election a month ago, stated Monday that "certain people" in Saskatchewan riding have asked her to be a candidate in the Federal by-election in that riding, under auspices of the Canadian Commonwealth Federation.

She declined to say whether she would accept a formal nomination if it were offered to her. She added that the late member-elect, Rev. Walter G. Brown, whose death caused the by-election, had been "doing much the same thing for his electors as I was trying to do for mine."
