PATENTS ON CHICKENS— MOST EFFICIENT MAN-MADE MACHINE

An article in the American Weekly with the August 4th issue of the Detroit Sunday Times, tells of efforts to protect the outstanding hens since scientific human brains have built them up from a measly 12 to 15 eggs a year to about one day—and points out that hens' brains had nothing to do with it because the dumbest hen can lay the most eggs. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times.

What to do for loss of sleep and appetite, in the case of a young man, was answered this way: "Marry the girl."

Every unmarried man in Canada, medically fit and between the ages of 21 and 45 years, may be compelled to take 30 days' training within one year, War Services Minister Gardiner told the House of Commons. "There is no reason why Canada should not train an army of 1,000,000 men under this system and still operate her industry and primary production to meet demands upon it," said Mr. Gardiner.

THE WEED OF THE WEEK - CHICORY

Chicory is a persistent perennial weed with a deep tap root. Introduced from Europe years ago it was grown as a cultivated plant for its roots which were ground and mixed with Coffee. At the present time it is considered one of Ontario's troublesome weeds on roadsides, fence lines, vacant places and occasionally in cultivated fields. This weed may be distinguished by its almost leafless, much branched stems, bearing numerous clusters of flower heads on the naked branches. The flowers are about 1 1/2 inches across, bright blue in color, and usually close in mid afternoon. The leaves, which are long with irregular edges, spread out on the ground and resemble those of the common dandelion, states John MacLeod, Ontario, Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

The presence of Chicory in a cultivated field is an indication of lack of thorough cultivation. A short rotation of crops is important, with deep ploughing as soon as the crop has been removed, followed by thorough cultivation until late fall, using broad, sharp shares which overlap on the cultivator. A hoed crop following this method should clean up all Chicory. You can keep on pulling Chicory but due to the length of the roots, plants cannot be pulled out successfully. Scattered plants may be spudded off well below the crown.

A 100 percent eradication of Chicory by the use of chemicals is possible and this method is recommended for areas where cultivation is impossible. Consult your Agricultural Representative regarding the use of chemicals.

An average plant of Chicory will produce 3000 seeds, therefore the importance of destroying plants before seeds mature cannot be emphasized too strongly. The seeds are impurities in clover seed and are very difficult to remove.

This weed is now established in every county and district in the Province and is growing more objectionable each year. Complete eradication should be the objective of every farmer and township council, Mr. MacLeod states.
