A Sad Accident.

KILLED WHILE WITNESSING HOLIDAY SPORTS

At the athletic games at Cornwall on the Queen's Birthday, Mr. R. R. McLennan the champion hammer thrower of the world after repeated solicitations from a number of those present to give an exhibition of his power and skill as a hammer-thrower, de cided to accede to their requests. Several parties were sent out to warn the crowd keep back, and everything being announced in readiness Mr. McLennan took up the hammer, a twelve-pounder we are informed and after swinging around with it five six times sent it spinning through the distance of about three hundred feet. A soon as the hammer left his hand all eyes were turned in the direction in which was going, as it was evident it would fall in the crowd at the south-west corner o the field. The people at that end of the field were seen making every effort to get out of the way, but alas! they were not all able to escape. A shriek of horror went up from the crowd when the hammer was seen alighting among them and striking a young girl. All rushed to the spot fearing that it was a daughter, sister, or some friend that had been crushed beneath the hammer. It was soon made known that the victim was a daughter of Michael Kavanagh. The ball struck her on the back of the head com pletely, smashing in her skull. Those who were near by say the girl never moved a muscle after the hammer struck her. The blood poured out of her mouth, nose, eyes, and ears. She was about thirteen years of are so small?" answered the father. "Beage, and had lately commenced to work in cause I read the other day of a sailor going the cotton mill. She was a great help to to sleep on his watch," replied the young her parents, who are poor. Had it gone in the direction he intended, it might not have reached and Yelverton, were constantly quarrelling the crowd. We think, however, that the before the bench. One day the dispute committee who had charge of the grounds arose so high that the incensed Doyle should have made the circle larger, as it knocked down his adversary, exclaiming, was evident to those looking on that had vehemently," You scoundrel, I'll make you McLennan given the hammer that force it behave like a gentleman!" The other, was in his power to do he would have sent smarting under the blow, as he lay on the it beyond the bounds of the circle. How- ground, energetically replied, "No never! ever, it is but fair to the committee to state I defy you! you cannot do it, sir!" that had the spectators kept outside of the circle the accident would not have happened, as the poor girl was five or six feet inside of the rope when the hammer struck Thomas' Eclectric Oil! Worth Ten Times her. The chairman of the committee immediately after the accident announced that the games were closed. Mr. McLennan is well known in this neighborhood, having had the contract for building the T., G. & B. R. to Orangeville.

THE Paris Patrie gives some particulars about the "treasures of Islam." It says that all the pilgrims who visit Mecca cast an offering in the three sepulchers for the defense of Islam. The writer calculates that no less than $3,000,000 a year are thus contributed, and adds that from one of the seputchers, which was opened in 829, immense sums were drawn. Another sepulcher was opened during the Crimean war, and now the Sheik-ul-Islam has gone to Mecca to draw funds from the third, which has not been opened since 1415. Taking the three sepulchers together, it is computed that they must contain about $120,000,000.
