POETRY. ONE BY ONE.

BY ADELAIDE E. PROCTOR.

One by one thy duties wait thee; Let thy whole strength go to each; Let no future dreams elate thee. Learn thou first what these can teach.

One by one (bright joys from Heaven), Joys are sent thee here below, Take them readily when given, Ready, too, to let them go.

One by one thy gifts shall meet thee :

Do not fear an armed band; One will fade as others greet thee. Shadows passing through the land. Do not look at life's long sorrow.

See how small each moment's pain; God will help thee for to-morrow, So each day begins again. Every hour that fleets so slowly

Luminous the crown and holy If thou set each gem with care. Do not linger with regretting, Or for passing hours despond, Nor thy daily toil forgetting,

Has its task to do or bear :

Look so eagerly beyond. Hours are golden links, God's token, Reaching Heaven; one by one Take them, lest the chain be broken Ere the pilgrimage be done.

SYNOPSIS OF THE PREMIER'S ADDRESSES.

The Reform Demonstrations held at

And at different towns along the route the Premier was attended by from fifteen to twenty standing. He said :-Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I feel somewhat as Paul felt when he was permitted to speak for himself, because I believe (as he believed) that I am at least before an upright judge; and I am quite sure that the words I address to you, and which are addressed generally to the people of Canada, will find a hearty responce among the vast majority of the people of the country. I know full well how difficult a task the Premier of this country has to perform. We have a country vast in extent, vast in its territorial magnitude, vast in respect to its sectional views, and in its diversity of creed and race; and it is a task which any statesman may feel great difficulty in accomplishing, to harmonize all these interests and bring a genuine feeling of union to bear upon the No. 256 be read a third time this day six prosperity of the country which he has to govern. Under the most favorable circumstances any one would feel necessitated to ask occasionally not merely the indulgence but the forbearance of friend and foe alike in a country like this. Conservative leaders throughout the country at the present moment. (Hear, hear.) But, Sir, I am not very much surprised at that, for I recollect very well the events which were developed in the earlier days of the history of this country. I was astonished, however, to find that Mr. Tupper a few evenings ago, in pronouncing the highest elogiums upon his leader, Sir John Mcdonald, called that hon, gentlemen the well-known champion of civil and religious liberty.
