The Toronto Telegram says:—"Some foolish newspapers are attempting to throw upon the Premier the responsibility for the Orange troubles in Montreal and the consequent murder of Hackett. It is not necessary, neither would it be wise, to preach a sermon to a newspaper that would make such a charge as that; but we may be permitted to point out to what debasing lengths partisanship frequently impels a certain class of newspapers to go."

An eminent Scottish divine happened to meet two of his parishioners at the house of a lawyer, whom he considered too sharp a practitioner. The lawyer jeeringly and ungraciously put the question "Doctor, these are members of your flock; may I ask, do you look upon them as white or black sheep?" "I don't know," answered the divine, dryly, "whether they are black or white sheep; but I know if they are here long they are pretty sure to be hanged."

At a recent meeting, in which there was much religious interest, an old man gave expression to his joy by shouting, and continued it until he began to interrupt the services. Brother H— said to Brother W—, "Go and stop that old man's noise. He went to him and spoke a few words, and the shouting immediately ceased."

Brother H— asked Brother W—, "What did you say to the old man that quieted him so rapidly?" Brother W— replied, "I asked him for a dollar for foreign missions."

Serious riots have occurred in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco, where a mob of hoodlums indulged their anti-Celestial propensities by breaking into and wrecking the dwellings of the Chinese. A severe fight took place between the mob and the police, in which several persons were wounded and one was killed.

"THE PRESENT COMPANY EXCEPTED."—At a public dinner in the country a farmer, while relating something to the company about two Chinese women, said, "I declare they were the ugliest women I have seen anywhere." There happening to be two maiden ladies present of no remarkable beauty, the farmer, who was a little misty, began to think he had made a mess of it, and that they would imagine he was alluding to them, so to put matters straight (as he thought), he added, "the present company excepted."

VALUABLE ANIMAL MURDER.—On Sunday morning, about nine o'clock, Mr. Andrew Orr, while walking in the vicinity of a marsh on his farm, near Galt, noticed the head of a valuable two-year-old Durham bull sticking out of a bog, the body being completely covered. He at once gave the alarm to one of his sons who was near at hand, and while the father kept the animal's head up the son notified the other members of the family and neighbors. In a few moments a number of neighbors arrived with ropes, and attached them to the animal's horns, which by this time was the only part, with the exception of the nose, above ground, and pulled it out after great exertion. By the time the animal was safely landed, those who had been engaged in assisting were covered with the black slimy soil of the marsh, and looked more like Indians fitted out for the war-path than anything else that could be imagined. The animal was a very valuable one, and had it not been that Mr. Orr saw it immediately after it was mired, it would have been missed and no clue could ever have been obtained as to its disappearance.—Guelph Mercury.

St. John.

We learn from the St. John News of the 18th that the books of the Relief Committee on that day showed that applications from 2,900 persons had been received. These represent some 14,000 individuals. The food department runs itself now, so excellent are the arrangements which have been made under Mr. Swett's superintendence. The furniture department has been improved, but still works rather more slowly than is desirable.

The crush around the door has been stopped by taking the tickets up on presentation, and delivering the goods free. This entails a considerable expense for cartage, but the improvement in the appearance of things is great. The only eyecore now is the crush around the clothing department.

No arrangements has yet been made by which the people can be accommodated there in an orderly fashion. A feeble attempt has been made to effect this, but the arrangement is even worse than it was at the beginning. The visitor is struck very forcibly by the number of people who are complaining about having received nothing but rags. Many persons, by applying to Gen. Warner and others in authority, have had their clothes exchanged for those of a better quality, and many have put in a second or third application, been revisited, and secured supplementary orders. The temporary tenement houses which have been erected on Queen-square are well planned, combining the most possible comfort for the money. Each family has one fair-sized room, with a fire in one corner, and a window and door in front. The rooms look water tight, and will be very comfortable when warmed by a stove.

At a Sunday school a teacher asked a little boy if he knew what the expression "sowing tares" meant. "Couth I do," said he, pulling a part of his trousers round in front, "there's a tear in my sewed; I teared it when I was sliding down hill."

An old miser who was very ill said to his physician: "Doctor, I'll give you a hundred dollars if you'll keep me alive another year." To which the doctor replied: "I don't think I could do it for that but I'll undertake it for five hundred."

"No," exclaimed the miser, "That's too much, I'd rather die than pay such a price. And he died."

A gentleman called last week at a large stationer's to order some note-paper with a heading. On being shown various designs, monograms, &c., "No," he said, "I want something simpler just a flower, such as a forget-me-not." "But, sir, that would surely be more suitable for a young lady." "I know what I want," was the prompt reply; "I'm a tailor, and the paper is for my customers."

FATAL ACCIDENT IN BRAMPTON.—Malcolm Dyde, a lad about twelve years old, while attempting to jump from the platform of the freight house to a flat car in motion at Brampton on Monday, fell between two cars and was crushed to death instantly. The parents of the child, who came to that town only recently, feel their loss very heavily, more especially as not long since he had a little girl killed by an accident. No inquest was held.

The Toronto Telegram says:—"Some foolish newspapers are attempting to throw upon the Premier the responsibility for the Orange troubles in Montreal and the consequent murder of Hackett. It is not necessary, neither would it be wise, to preach a sermon to a newspaper that would make such a charge as that; but we may be permitted to point out to what debasing lengths partisanship frequently impels a certain class of newspapers to go."
