OLD ENGLAND. There she sits in her Island home. Peerless among her peers! And liberty oft to her arms doth come, To ease its poor heart of tears. Old England still throbs with a muffled fire Of a past she can never forget; And again shall she banner the world up higher For there's life in the old land yet,

They would mock at her now, who of old look In their fear, as they heard her afar ; But loud will your wail be, O kings of the earth! When the old land goes down to the war. The avalanche trembles, half launched and CUTTERS AND SLEIGHS,

Her voice will in motion set : O ring out the tidings, ye winds of heaven the best material, good finish and at There's life in the old land yet. The old nursing mother's not heary yet, There is sap in her Saxon tree; Lo! she lifteth a bosom of glory yet, Thro' her mists, to the sun and the sea. Fair as the queen of love, fresh from the foam, Or a star in a dark cloud set :

Ye may blezon her shame,-ye may leap But there's life in the old land yet. Let the storm burst, it will find the old land Ready-ripe for a rough, red fray !

For the right in the olden day. Rouse the old loyal soul, Europe's best hope Is her sword-edge by victory set! She shall dash freedom's foes down death's bloc For there's life in the old land yet.
