

Methodist Church of Canada.

At the recent meeting of the Owen Sound District, held at Markdale, the following resolutions were passed:—

Moved by the Rev. J. Scott, seconded by Rev. T. Hadden and resolved, That this District Meeting, Ministers and Laymen now assembled, desire to express our thankfulness to Almighty God for the onward march of the principles of temperance and prohibition throughout the land, as manifested in the sweeping onward of the Blue Ribbon or Gospel Temperance movement, taking hold of the centres of population and lifting up from paths of vice and sin hundreds and thousands that a few short months ago were the victims of strong drink, leading many of them to Christ, and thereby increasing the working power of the Church of God, and making happy many families that a few months ago were wretched and miserable, thus lessening the ranks of the enemy and increasing the number of them that are battling for the right.

This meeting would also desire to place on record its best thanks to those men in our Dominion Parliament who without reference to party lines, or difference of political opinions have united their combined wisdom to give the temperance people of this Dominion one of the best prohibitory enactments ever placed on the Statute books of the British Empire; and we sincerely hope that all our ministers in every possible manner by precept and example as well as public agitation to carry out their wise and timely enactments for the further suppression of the legalized liquor traffic, never losing sight of the great end and object in view. We must work on, hope on, and pray on until the glorious day arrives when the banner of total prohibition shall wave side by side with the glorious old flag of liberty and equal rights that has "braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze."

Moved by Rev. J. Scott, and seconded by J. W. Armstrong, Esq., That this District meeting desire to place on record its hearty thanks to Rev. D. C. McDowell for his kind and friendly counsel to ministers and members on the various circuits, and for the able and impartial manner in which he presided as Chairman of this District during the past two years.

GROWTH IN GRACE.—No real life is ever stationary. It is a unsatisfying thing to a parent when a child does not grow as it should grow. It is not that the parent is ambitious that the child should grow tall, but the apparent stoppage of growth may be a sign that something is interfering with the healthy development of the bodily fabric, and that some radical evil is at work which will weaken the whole constitution, and entail a heritage of ill-health in later life. Just in the same way the gardener likes to see the little green envelope shoot up and spread, and let forth the bright colours of the flower within. Cessation of growth means mischief at work—a worm at the roots of the plant, or a sudden frost; for he knows it is the very nature of the plant to grow, and his surprise is, therefore, not that it should get larger and fairer, but that it should cease to do so before it has reached its maturity. No real life is ever stationary. We look for growth as naturally as we look for morning, and we are disappointed and astonished if we do not get it. Why, then, should we wonder that God expects growth from us? It is a very strange law of our being that we constantly alter our principles for ourselves. What we naturally expect others to give us are sometimes surprised that they should expect from us. We are like the judge who reversed the sentence, and remitted the damages, when he found that it was his own case that had broken down the hedge. Circumstances alter cases. The proverb is no doubt true; but the way we apply it is often wrong. We make ourself exceptionally circumstanced; we are those who have greater needs than the rest of mankind; we stand in peculiar need of sympathy, or of support, or of service, or of kindness; and we wonder why people are so unkind, and why they are so slow in giving us what we have never made an effort, perhaps, to give to them. We expect sympathy, but we have rather made light of other's sorrows; we expect kindness, but we have, perhaps, been distinguished by our harshness of manner, or our thoughtlessness of the needy. We forget what man demands of us, while we keenly remember all that we demand from men.—Quaker.

THE BENEFIT OF LAUGHING.—Dr. Green, in his "Problem of Health," says there is not the remotest corner or inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some wavelet from the convulsion occasioned by good hearty laughter. The life principle, or the inward man, is shaken to its innermost depths, sending new tides of life and strength to the surface, thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who moderately indulge therein. The blood moves more rapidly and conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular mystic journey when the man is laughing from what it does other times. For this reason every good hearty laugh in which a person indulges tends to lengthen his life, conveying, as it does, new and distinct stimulus to the vital forces. Doubtless the time will come when physicians, conceding more importance than they now do to the influence of the mind upon the vital forces of the body, will make their prescriptions more with reference to the condition of the mind, and less to drugs for the body; and in so doing, will find the best and most effective methods of producing the required effect upon the patient.

The Caffre war has apparently drawn to a close, the natives having broken up and abandoned their position in the bush. The troubles in the Transkei have also subsided, and part of the troops employed in that quarter are to be sent to Natal in case of a difficulty with the Zulus.

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.

SWISS BREAKFAST MUFFINS.—Sift two spoonfuls of baking powder with one quart of flour; add one cup of sugar; rub into the flour a piece of butter the size of an egg, then stir in one pint of milk. Beat free from lumps to a smooth batter. Bake in muffin rings on the top of the stove or in iron in the oven.

MENT SAUCE.—Pick over and wash clean fresh green mint; chop it fine, and put to two tablespoonfuls of the mint two table-spoonfuls of granulated sugar and a teaspoon and a half (scant measure) of cold vinegar. Let it stand for half an hour or more in a cool place, to have the vinegar well flavored with the mint. It injures the flavor to make it with hot liquid.

CHEESE OMELETTE.—Butter the sides of a deep dish and cover with thin slices of rich cheese. Lay over the cheese thin slices of well-buttered bread, first covering the cheese with a little red pepper and mustard; then another layer of cheese. Beat the yolk of an egg in a cup of cream—milk will do—and pour over the dish, and put at once into the oven. Bake till nicely brown. Serve hot, or it will be tough, hard and worthless.

TO CLEAN A CARPET.—This must be an excellent way to clean a carpet. Try it. First, have it thoroughly dusted and the floor well cleaned. Then tack down the carpet as you want it; take a half-pail of water, hot as can be borne; put in a table-spoonful of ammonia—Have a stiff scrubbing brush and borax soap, and scrub a small piece; have a second pail of water and ammonia; rinse off with this, and with a woollen cloth, wipe as dry as possible. Renew the water often, until the whole carpet is cleansed. Tison open the doors and windows to dry it. This removes the grease stains and brightens the carpet. Another and less troublesome way to clean a carpet is, to sprinkle salt over the surface, after it is tacked down, and thoroughly sweep. Then the grease spots are not removed by this process. The carpet, however, is made to look very clean and bright.

A correspondent of the New York Independent gives his experience in raising tomatoes. He says:—"Having a little border, three feet by twelve feet, on the east side of a board fence eight feet high, I planted therein seven tomatoe plants, and trained them till they reached the top and fell down three or four feet on the other side. The first week in August we began to gather fruit from them, and continued to do so nearly every day till November 2nd, when the last ripe ones were picked. As they were gathered in small quantities, it is impossible to be perfectly exact; but, from the best measurement and estimate possible, we gathered over four bushels of ripe tomatoe, and about one bushel of green ones for pickles at the end. We supplied our family of five (some of us very fond of them), and gave away to others about a peck. If anyone can do better I shall be glad."

Irish Wit.

An Irish Munchausen has turned up at a Boston restaurant in the humble capacity of a waiter.

A guest who has been served with a small lobster:—"Do you call that a lobster, Mike?"

"Fairs, I do believe they do be callin' them lobsters here, sur. We call 'em crabs at home."

"Oh!" said the diner, "you have lobsters in Ireland?"

"Is it lobsters? Begorra, the creek is full of 'em. Many a toime I've seen 'em when I lepped over the stramines."

"How long do lobsters grow in Ireland?"

"Well," said Mike, thoughtfully, "to spake within bounds, sur, I'd say a matter of five or six feet."

"What! Five or six feet? How do they get around in those crooks?"

"Behold, sur, the creeks in Ireland are fifty or sixty feet wide," said the imperturbable Mike.

"But," asked the guest, "you said you had seen them when you were leaping over the streams, and lobsters here live in the sea."

SETTING HENS.—Put a tablespoonful of sulphur in the nest as soon as hens or turkeys are set. The heat of the fowls causes the fumes of the sulphur to penetrate every part of their shells, every louse is killed, and all nits are hatched within ten days, when the mother leaves the nest with her brood safe is perfectly free from nits or lice. It is convenient to have two hens hatching at the same time, since, if accidents happen, the two broods may be united. Again, on the hatching day it frequently occurs that, to prevent the newly-born chicks, being crushed by eggs that are behind time, it is desirable to give all that are hatched to one hen, while the other takes charge of the eggs alone. Not only does this give security to the chicks, who run some hazard of being crushed, if they are kept for any prolonged time under the mother; but the unhatched eggs also stand a far better chance. For when a hen finds herself under her sits higher from the eggs, and less warmth is afforded them at the time they require most.—N. Y. Independent.

A gentleman, who was a good shot, lent a favorite pointer to a friend, who had not much to exceed himself in the slaughter of birds, however much he might have frightened them. After firing at several partridges, which the old pointer had flushed for him, without bringing them down, the dog turned away in apparent disgust, and home, and never could be persuaded to accompany the same person afterwards.
