THE FALL SHOW.

The great event of the Season, like days were everything that could be desired, and perhaps on no similar eccasion has so large a number of persons visited Town. The display of agricultural products was good. The number of entries was not perhaps as numerous as was expected, but the quality of the grain and the roots exhibited, was considered to be quite up to the standard of former years. However that portion of the exhibiti building set apart for horticultural products and fancy work was very interesting and attractive. The ladies certainly de serve all praise for the taste displayed the preparation of the various articles exhibited in that department. The show cut flowers also was exceedingly good. Indeed we question whether so late in season anything better could be furnished by any other town, situated as we are, in the Province.

And this reminds us of the fact that Horticultural Society exists amongst us-Those who take an interest in the culture of truit and flowers might bear this mind, so that before another season comes the necessary steps may be taken for establishment of a horticultural society i our midst. Such an Association would r only be a source of pleasure and profit. those who already have a taste for horticulture, but it would be the means of fusing this taste more generally, and thereby opening up a field of advantages which at present seems to be utterly unknown to a large proportion of the people. However, after all is done, it is a question whether such exhibitions as are being held just now all over the country fulfill the expectations of their promoters. There is no question but that so far as manufacturers and artizans are concerned, great good does result. Mechanics who exhibit their goods have an opportunity of seeing similar works of their neighbours and determining wherein any superiority may exist, and hence the various trades and nevertheless surely, advancing towards perfection. W. F. Clarke, of Lealands, near Guelph, to lecture on Agricultural subjects during the coming winter, wherever he is asked to do so, and at the expense of the proprietors of the Witness newspaper. The lecturer is well qualified for this work. For many years he has been the agricultural editor of the Canada Farmer, of Toronto, and the Farmers' Advocate, of London, and besides, being a practical farmer himself, he is in every way qualified from a theoretical and practical standpoint of view, to give instruction on this important subject to all who are willing to learn. ### Owen Sound Correspondence

Owen Sound has been rather dull for some time past, but this week it is the very opporite, the streets being crowded with a mixture of jurymen, witnesses, and lawyers, who are attending to the Assize Court

The Rev. Dr. Grant, Principal of Queen's College, Kingston, was here at the beginning of the week raising funds for that College, He preached on Sunday morning to a large audience in Division St. Presbyterian Church. and in the evening to a still larger in Knox

There have been teachers added to the High School teaching staff, Dr. Hunter has left, and Mr. Robertson, a graduate of Cambridge and Oxford, has taken his place.

The Tribune, the new weekly newspaper which did not some out last week, as advertised, will be out this week if nothing bappens. The Assize Court opened here on Monday last, 30th Sept., Chief-justice Hagerty being on the Bench Thers are about twenty cases on the list. There were four disposed off up to Tuesday afternoon, when the judge ad-Indian corn, 1st, S. Felge; 2nd, D. Earl Dufferin at Toronto. According to arrangement the Earlof Dufferin has paid his last visit to Toronto. and on Tuesday, the 24th vit., opened to Provincial Exhibition at that city. His Excellency left the Queen's Hotel, at half past two in a carriage drawn by four groys, and was accompanied by the Lieutenaut guished persons including the members of the City Council, the officers of the Corperation as well as gentiemen from a distance. On arriving on the Exhibition grounds his Excellency was received by Mr. Stock. President of the Agricultural Association. by whom he was conducted to the central building and introduced to a number of visitors, among many may be mentioned Hon. Messrs. Mowat, Crooks, Christie, Brown, Pardec, Macdongall, Howland, Crab apples, 1st, S. Paterson; 2nd, M. Young, McKellar, &c., &c. The President then read an address of welcome to Earl Dugerin, expressing the pleasure with which his visit to the Exhibition was regarded and the regret felt by the Assortation at his early departure from the De-

His Excellency replied in a very able and somewhat lengthy speech. After eulogizing the Dominion, congratulating his auditors on the noble country of which they were possessed, and referring to the untold resources of the country which were lying ready for the active hand of man, he said that he was at a loss in finding a suitable subject for this his valedictory address, but his parting counsel to the citizens of the Dominion would be-"Love your country, live for her, die for her," and concluded a most interesting address, which was fre-
