-It is something very extraordinary that in an agricultural country like Canada so few farmers and business men should occupy seats in the Legislature while legal gentlemen hold so large a proportion. In the House of Assembly in Ontario a large proportion are lawyers. And of the 136 names of persons published in a late number of the Canada Gazette, as elected to serve in the House of Commons, only 19 are given as farmers, whereas 40 are said to be lawyers. One of the many evils resulting from this state of things is, that legislation is too often of such a character as to result in interminable Iltigation than to the Presidency of the Senate, but among so occurred to Mr. Burnie Lang, of Lang bait, the gilded bait, promised him possibly paid each $4.—carried. he a means of preventing it.
