That Bar of Iron.

THE Subscriber begs to inform the peo-ple of Dundalk, and vicinity, that he is still carrying on the Trade of Blacksmithing, and is pro-pared to put A BAR OF IRON into any shape that Fancy or Necessity may demand,

From early morn till dewy eve, John Norval's door's ajar, And if you want a Needle made, He'll form from a Bar. For favors past, to Patrons he Holds thankfulness at Par; And hopes they ever will believe He'll suit them from a Bar.

When Seas were rough and days were dark, John Norval, like a Tar, Stood many a blast and held his poot. And made things from a Bar.

And when the times were out of joint, And cash as scarce as spar, He never failed to strike a Nail, And form things from a Bar. But times anon began to mend:
His Iron came in a Car;
Yet still without advance in price.
John Norval struck the Bar.

And when Bundalk began to strive, So like the Morning Star, His Hammers with redoubled ferce, Came down upon the Bar.

And now within that lively Town, He has Declared a War; And set the hammer, vice and file, To fight against the Bar. To suit all Grades and Ranks of men.

No matter who they are.

That want a job raade strong with Iron,

He'll bind it with a Bar.

A Bar of Iron in Norval's hands, Will shine to please the Cryar: So if you want an anchor made, He'll form it from a Bar. JOHN NORVAL.
