Case vs. Ritchey et al .- This was au action to recover the value of three acres of wheat said to have been taken from the plaintiff by the defendant. The parties live in Keppel. It appeared that John Ritchey, the defendant, was the original owner of lot No. 4, on the 15th con. of Keppel. He mortgaged the property to the Loan and Savings Society, but failing to meet his payments, the Company sold it, when it was purchased by the defendant's son, David Ritchie. After the purchase, an agreement was made between the son and the father, that the latter should remain in possession of the place, for which he was to pay the taxes and perform the rondwork, and that, in the event of the son's redeeming the place, he was to have the payments, the place, with the three acres of fall wheat, was sold to the plaintiff, Joseph Case, for $700. Ritchey claimed Resolved, that this Council adjourn and meet again at Holstein on the 7th of No- that, in selling the place, he had reserved the wheat to himself, which Case demed. When the wheat, which was said to be badly rusted, was about ripe, Case cut it, notwithstanding that de had been notified by Ritchey not to do so. Ritchey brought on teams and drew the wheat away, hence this action. Verdict for plaintiff, $53 Cameron vs. Ferguson-This was a case of seduction. The parties live in Egremont.

There was no defence. Verdict, $450 Melville vs. Welton-The parties live in the township of Collingwood. The defend-3rd Slass-E. Ritchie, Mary Ector, ant Welton has a place rented to the plaintiff. Melville. The action arose out of a scizure made by the landlord on the tenant's goods, for rent due for the years [1877 and 1878. The tenant claimed that the landlord had not complied with the terms of the lease. Case still going on.
