Among the bills read a third time, that respecting the Agricultural College, in answer to a question, Mr. Mowat said was not the intention of the Government to bring down this session a bill to extend the jurisdiction of Division Courts.

Mr. Waters moved the second reading of his bill to amend the School Act, the object of which was to reduce the summer holidays to three weeks. The Minister of Education had introduced a bill which was intended to meet his (Mr. Waters') views, but it did not Monk, and Mr. Awrey with Mr. Robertson, go far enough. The Minister's bill only provided for a reduction to four weeks, and made that reduction optional with the trustees. He would not mind the reduction to only four weeks, but he did not like that reduction being permissive, as it would in all pro- Lyon, Appleby, McCraney, Graham, McKim, bability lead to disagreeableness between the Robertson, Cascaden. teachers and the trustees. He would, therefore press his bill.

Mr. Crooks said he could not assume to go Attempt to Kill the Imperialso far as the hon, gentleman proposed. If he sequiesced in the principle of the measure he would be recreant to his duty, or in other words, he could not assume to take further holidays than his own bill proposed.

Mr. Mowat said it was quite impossible t assent to the bill; and there was not time t deal with the matter this session.

The bill was allowed to stand, Mr. Mowat moved the second reading of the bill to amend certain particulars of the law of real property. The object of the bill was to deal with the rights of the owners of real estate. The reasonable rule was that the owner of real estate should be at liberty to do what he pleased with it, but as the law now stands, if the owner's neighbor built a house in which there was a window overlooking his the owner could not interfere with. This right was acquired without the consent of the owner of the property, and the only way of preventing it was by making the neighbor sign a deed declaring that he would not press his right, or by building a board in front of his windows.
