Biographical Sketch of Hancock. Major-General Winfield Scott Hancock was born in Pennsylvania about the the year 1824 and entered West Point Academy in 1840. He graduated in 1844 in the same class with General Pleasanton, and received his commission of Second Lieutenant the same year. He served in the Mexican war, and he was promoted for gallantry. Having filled several subordinate posts, he was made Assistant Quartermaster-General, which rank he held at the outbreak of the civil war. In 1861 he was appointed a Brigadier General of Volunteers, and attached to the army of the Potom-He accompanied General McClellan's army to the peninsula in 1862, and distinguished himself both before York Town and at Wil- Christiana. liamsburg. At the Battle of Fredricksburg in December, 1862, he commanded division of the second corps, which sufseverely and he himself was wounded. For his services on this occassion he received his commission as Major-General. He also took part in the battles of Chancellorville and Gettysburg (1863), and in one of the many struggles which took place during that eventful campaign, was so severely wounded as to be carried off the field. In the decisive engagement, July 3rd, Hancock's own division bore the prominent part, although he was wounded early in the action. He recovered sufficiently to return to duty Dec. 27, 1863 but was unable to command a body of troops till April, 1864, when he was promoted to the command of the 2nd Army corps, and was engaged in all the battles of the Wilderness campaign, from May 5 to June 19, 1864 when the breaking out of the old wound received at Gettysburg, compelled him to leave for a time. He returned to his command in July, and remained with it till November 26, 1864, being sul sequently engaged in lighter duties till the close of the war. He was promoted to be Brigadier-General of the regular army in Aug., 1864, Brevert Major-General, March 13, 1865, and Major-General, United States Army July 26, 1866. After the war he was Thursday in the river Thames while fishsuccessively Commander of the Middle De-ing, about halfway between Innerkip and partment (1865-66), of the Department of the Woodstock. Missouri (:866-67)of the Department Louisiana and Texas (1867-69), and of the Department of the Dakota (1869-72). Upon the death of General Meade, Nov., 1872, although Gen. Hancock was politically opposed to President Grant, and although personally they were not even upon speaking terms, the President, in acknowledgment of the great military services of Hancock, appointed him to the command of the Depart- forgeries and great burgularies, and that of the East, with his head quarters at New York, a position which he still holds (1875). In 1868 Gen. Hancock was a promineut candidatd for the Presidency, and in the Democratic nominating convention he recieved on the 18th ballot, 144 votes, the highest number (with the exception of 145, cast for Mr. Pendleton, on the 12th ballot) cast for any candidate, until, on the 22nd ballet. Horatio Seymour, whe had before positively declined the candidature, was suddenly nominated by way of compromise, and received the unanimous vote, but at the ensuing election was lying at the wharf, Minneapolis, Minn., exdefeated by Gen. Grant.

Phillips, near Welland, committed suicide by drowning in the Welland River near his house. He had been labouring under mental depression for several weeks .

On Friday a young man named Costley, together with two other men, got into an altercation in Owen Sound with a man named Lachlan Taylor, which resulted in Taylor stabbing Costley in the side, abdomen and thigh. PECULIAR ACCIDENT AT UNBRIDGE, -On Saturday evening as a little girl 11 years of age, daughter of John P. Hilbourn, was amusing herself on a swing crected in the barn, her father entered the barn with a pitchfork in his hand, and while standing in the doorway commenced playing with the child by pointing the fork towards her, pretending he would let her swing against it, but of course withdrawing it as she came towards him. Unexpectedly the door in which he was standing awang shut, striking the end of the fork handle as the swing came forward, causing one of the prongs of the fork to enter the lower part of the abdomen of the child, penetrating it is supposed to a distance of two or three inches. She lies in a very critical state, with little hopes of recovery.

GRANGERS AND CASH PRICES .- Sarys the Monetary Times: It is very satisfactory to find the Canadian organ of the Grangers the Grange Record, coming out fairly and strongly against the needless and pernicious excess of credit purchases indulged in by Canadian farmers, which, it tells its readers, "a superabundance of small stores encourages, and which you (the farmers) are helping to fasten." Many granges, it is here admitted, purchase goods at wholesale through their secretary, and it is stated as a fact that upon the advent of a grange in any neighborhood, the members immediately order their supplies from Toronto or elsewhere, sending cash for goods the right way, but these members at the same time are in debt to their village storekeeper for goods purchased a year or two previous. "Now," says the Record, "don't do this; pay up your debts first, then give your home dealer a chance to offer you ? CASE PRICES. Buy only what you can pay for is our advice; it may be a little difficult for a time, and subject vou to some moonvenience, but after catching up and getting square with the world, the benefits of cash trade will warrant you lower prices, and a sense that what you have is paid
