Church Music.

To the Editor of the Gray Review.

SIR,-It is much to be regretted that Mr. Nichol in his anxiety to make a strong case against instrumental music, should so far forget the obligation which he in common with other ministers of the Presbyterian Church has taken upon himself. In his letter which a peared in your paper of the 25th, he says that the precept and practice evident that he rejects the Old Testament as a rule of faith and practice. Now let us gramine what the fundamentai doctrine of the Presbyterian Chrack on this subject is. The Confession of Faith chapter first, section second, after enumerating all the different books of the Old and New Testaments says: "All are given by inspiration of God to be the rule of faith and life," and the Shorter Catechism says: "The word of God which is contained in the criptures of the Old and New Testaments, is the only rule to direct us how we may glerify and enjoy him."
