

Dreams That Came True.

A belief in the truth of dream-warning has lingered even to our own day. It was yet more prevalent in past centuries.

Bishop Hall relates a curious story of a cure effected by means of a dream; a cripple dreaming that he bathed in a certain well in Cornwall and he was restored to health.

The Best Reference.

'Have you a recommendation?' 'Yes, sir.' Robert had been seeking a situation for almost a week, and now that he had met with something that promised success, he was as nervous as a boy can be.

One of the most eccentric old ladies in Europe died the other day at her residence, in the Stralauer Strasse, Berlin, where she had lived in all but absolute seclusion for nearly half a century.

A farmer of Chatham township, named Fredrick Bennett, started to chop wood in his bush on Wednesday morning, and not returning at the usual hour search was made by the neighbors, who found him near the tree which he had partly chopped, in a kneeling posture, unconscious, with a large gash in the top of his head, and a portion of the brain protruding.

On Sunday last Rev. Gavin Lang, of Montreal, in a sermon, dealt with the circumstances which led to the recent revision of the Scriptures, and in conclusion said:—I, for one apprehend nothing that can be mischievous, hope for much that will be helpful and a means of grace.

The piercing of the spherical tunnels of the St. Gothard Railway—that at Wattingen, 1,000 metres long, has just been completed. It is confidently anticipated that within a few months all the minor tunnels on the lines of access will be finished.

An Astonished Editor.

A rural editor tells us of a wonderful surprise, and tells it in a most laughable manner. He says: We find upon our table one of the newest pictures. It is a beautiful design, small, but showing great artistic skill in its make up.

Tim Doolan's Will.—In the name of heaven, Amen! Timothy Doolan, of Barrydownery, in the County Clare, farmer, being sick and weak on my legs, but of sound head and warm heart—first be to Heaven.—So make this my last and last will and testament.

Honolulu is just now scourged by a small pox epidemic, brought on chiefly by the wretched sanitary condition of the city.

A racking cough, oh why endure? When there is found a perfect cure, That from weak lungs relieves the strain, And gives the sufferer ease again.

Put down in one corner of your memory for future use the fact that in the year 1900, February will have but twenty-eight days, although leap year.

Many a man has been crippled for life by an accident met with in toil, who might have been spared from the surgical knife had he promptly applied Yellow Oil.
