-The Afghanistan embroglio has bee at last settled. Peace has been restored and the British troops will evacuate the country so soon as the new Ameer, Abdurhaman Khan, who is pushing forward as rapidly as possible, arrives at Candahar. Thus ends the day dream of Lord Beaconsfield's Scientific frontier after the expenlars and the loss of thousands of British the Jeweller, Flesherton & Dundalk. troops, and the destruction of the homes and hearths of an unoffending people. Mr. Gladstone's Government has also suceeeded in extricating the country out of another heritage left them by Lord Beaconsfield's jingo policy. The latest advices inform us that peace with the Boers of the Transvaal in South Eastern Africa is as sured. The Boers have agreed to accept the terms offered by Her Majesty's Government, which in effect are, that the Transvaal becomes subject to the British Power, while "local control over local affairs" is to be placed in the hands of the people themselves.

-When the Rev. D. J. McDonnell o Toronto, in addressing the Presbyterian Alliance in Philadelphia and more recently in Toronto, gave utterance to opinions on the use of alcoholic liquids which were thought by many to be very inconsistent with his position, he said that he would endeavour to construct a Temperance Society ance of this resolve, a number of philan running order. evil. However all were agreed on the desirability of suppressing intemperance, and an association was formed on that basis. One of the speakers referred to the evils of treating, and it was recommended that one of the planks in the platform of the new association should be, that no member would be at liberty to give countenance to this habit and on no account to enter a saloon.

Suppen Death.-On Wednesday last a farmer living in the vicinity of Henworth named John Harrison, drank a very large quantity of malt whiskey at Plew's Hotel which had the effect of causing his death on Thursday morning. An inquest was held by Coroner Cameron, and the medical examination disclosed the fact that death was caused by alcoholic poisoning, and s verdict to that effect was rendered by the jury. It was "sent up for one month at hard labor!" The circumstances of the are very complicated, but appear to be follows :- The mother of the child, whose name is Chookee, has been living with a man named Morgan, alias Davis, in an isoenham. She had given birth to a child few days previous, and the man she living with had gone off and left her destitute, with not even a stick of wood to make a fire. In this condition she determined to walk to town, a distance of about four miles, to seek assistance. This she did taking the infant with her and leaving the two year old child behind in the hut. In the meantime, the Chief Constable had re ceived a telegram authorizing him to arrest Morgan on a charge of being an escaped convict, he being one of three prisoners who escaped from the Central Prison about nine months ago. The Constable, in com pany with two other gentlemen, drove out on Wednesday evening to where the couple had been living, for the purpose of arresting Morgan, but only succeeded in finding the child, which the mother had left the day before, its only company being a host of rats, who disappeared on their entrance be accounted for.
