April showers make May flowers. When April blows his horn, it's good for hay and corn. So say old proverbs.

More Floods in the West.

Omaha, April 28.—The steamer from Nebraska rescued from the flooded points on the north river of that place two hundred men, women and children, some of whom had been without food for two or three days and were suffering extremely.
Thousands of people along the river bottoms in Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas are homeless and destitute on account of the inundations.

St. Paul, April 28.—The water is still rising here. Several small houses in West St. Paul toppled over to-day. In some sections of the city the situation is serious.
The railway offices and tracks are submerged, and traffic is suspended. The levee is completely flooded. Barracks have been erected for destitute people.

Kansas City, April 28.—This has been a day of great excitement here. The water continues to rise. The tide raised along the Missouri River in front of the bottoms gave way and a torrent poured through, driving people from their homes in great terror. All efforts to stay the flood were unavailing, and within an hour a large district was inundated to a depth of four to five feet. At noon a torrent poured over Ninth Street, submerging another district as large as the first and driving the terror stricken inhabitants before it. The water backing up the Kansas River submerged a large part of the stock yards and surrounded the district inhabited by the families employed in the packing houses. The water stands several feet deep in a large number of stores, and covers the street railway in five or six squares. Across the river large numbers of colored families were surprised by the flood, and at least five were drowned.
The water rushed over the doomed town so rapidly that the inhabitants could only flee for their lives without removing any part of their household goods. About 7,000 people are homeless.
