

The Massacre in New Guinea.

A correspondent writes as follows to the London Christian World:—A few months since you published in your columns details of the terrible massacre of several of our native teachers, their wives and children, at Kalo, one of the villages of New Guinea. In all, twelve persons connected with the mission were destroyed by the murderous hands of the savage Papuans. Your readers will be interested and delighted to hear that the great calamity has in no way checked the missionary zeal of our native Christians. On the other hand, it has intensified their desire and determination to win New Guinea for Christ. I have just received from my brother missionary, Rev. J. L. Green, of Tahiti, a letter in which he tells me that soon after the news of the massacre reached that island, a communication was received from the Committee of the Papuan Mission, asking for three new teachers and their wives from the Baineian Institution to fill up the gap occasioned by the recent disaster. Immediately every student in the institution was anxious to go, and so strong was their enthusiasm to undertake this long voyage of three thousand miles and settle as missionaries among this heathen and murderous people, that the brethren were compelled to select lots in order to select three from the heroic band of students. The lot fell upon a young man from Tahiti, another from the island of Rorutu, and another from the island of Rarua. A schooner was at once chartered to take these young men and their wives to Rarua, where they joined the "John Williams" and were taken forward to New Guinea. They were followed with the blessing and the prayers of thousands of our South Sea Island Christians. Three students were also chosen from the institution at Rarua, and three more from the College at Niue. All have gone forward with the same undaunted spirit of heroism. Mr. Green says, "I should like many of our Christian friends at home to have seen the stouthearted (and) our native brethren and many of our theological students in England would get good by witnessing the enthusiasm of our native students." Our churches at home will surely follow their constant prayers this brave missionary party who have thus gone forward to fill up the ranks of their brethren and sisters who have fallen in the fight.

DELL TIMES.—A commercial traveller from Boston having had a run of hard luck in prosecuting business on the road received from his firm the following exhilarating despatch:—"If you can't make expenses, come home at once." To which he sent the following reply:—"All right. Can make plenty of expenses, but in what way?"

A BACHELOR IN DISTRESS.—A bachelor farmer residing at Oak River, Manitoba, wants a wife, and says there are forty others within a radius of six miles of his farm in the same condition as himself. He asks the editor of the Rapid City Standard to use his influence in persuading some Ontario girls to come out there and rescue the poor bachelors from their fate.

DEATH OF THE LIBRARIAN OF THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.—The death of Mr. Samuel J. Watson, Librarian of the Ontario Legislature, which took place at his residence in Toronto on Sunday, will be deeply regretted by the large circle of his friends. Mr. Watson was known not only in Canada, but in England and the United States as well, having contributed freely to the periodicals of both countries. He was known to many there and elsewhere as the author of a volume of poems, and of a valuable constitutional history of Canada. His connection with the press in Canada was a long and useful one.

RETURNS OF MACOUN.—Prof. Macoun, of the Dominion Exploratory Survey, has just returned from the North west. During the past season he has been engaged in exploring the country to the north of Fort Pelly. With that object in view he left Winnipeg on the 9th of June by way of Lakes Manitoba and Winnipeg, ascended Deer River and explored the country along it, and Promontory Mountain. He then passed along the head waters of the Swan River; thence down to Livingston and on to Fort Ellice via the Assiniboine, reaching Winnipeg on the 8th Inst. Nearly all the country traversed he found covered with thick forest, and everywhere found a rich soil.

A singular treatment of the ruins of Babylon, and one which might readily be overlooked in its predictions of Scripture in minute detail respecting this city, has not escaped the observation of Mr. H. Rassau, a thorough explorer of the site. "There is one fact connected with the destruction of Babylon and the marvelous fulfillment of prophecy which struck me more than anything else, which fact seems never to have been noticed by any traveller, and that is the non-existence in the several modern buildings in the neighborhood of Babylon of any sign of stone which had been dug up from its ancient ruins, because it seems that, in digging for old materials, the Arabs used the bricks for building purposes, but always burnt the stone thus discovered for lime, which fact wonderfully fulfils the divine words of Jeremiah:—namely, "And they shall not take of the stone a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations; but thou shalt be desolated forever, saith the Lord." (Ch. li. 26).

THE GREAT MATERIALISM OF THE 19th CENTURY. The gross materialism of the 19th century, the prosy materialism of the romance which float around the goddess, have conceived the plan of bling up the canals of Venice and converting them into streets. This, too, after the neglected gondoliers have been ruined by the competition of steamboats on the Grand Canal.

Get out Doors. The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operative pallid face, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physical and medicinal in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Burdock's Blood Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rays of light in them. They cost but a trifle—checklist ready.

Keep the Feet Dry.

This is the season of sloppy weather so productive of colds, and lung troubles; neglect of cold or damp feet is a great source of these difficulties. Care your feet with Hagar's Foot-powder. Pleasant to take and always reliable.—b191

To evade the Scott Act in Charlottetown, P. E. I., where it is enforced with vigor, some of the dealers practice the dodge of mixing all sorts of grog with harmless lard and selling it for medicine.

No article ever obtained such unbounded popularity in so short a time as Burdock Blood Bitters, and that too during the existence of countless numbers of widely advertised bitters and blood purifiers. It is evident that this medicine begins its work at once, and leaves no desirable effect unattained.—b191

Mr. Gladstone gives this account of himself:—"By blood I am a Scotchman; I am by residence a Londoner; I am by marriage a Welshman, and I am by birth a Lancashire man."

In the Whole History of Medicine No preparation has ever performed such marvelous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation as Hagar's Cherry Pectoral, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. In long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates, it has made itself universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, make it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and everyone recommends it. It is absolutely certain in the remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.
