HIGH PRESSURE IN SCHOOLS.

The School system of Ontario is generally regarded as being as perfect as it well country. But however perfect the system may be theoretically, it is evident that practically it is defective and capable of much improxement. That this is the case is fully borne out by the investigation into irregularities at Intermediate examinations object and aim of the High School Teacher seem to be to push pupils through the Intermediate examinations, and every effort be reached by honest means, then, surrep- care, titious means are freely reserted to, and 2nd-That access was had to those anon the testimony of one of the head mast- swers in 1879 and in 1881. every High School in the Province. mediate, the higher he stands in the estimation of the Board, and too often, the retention of his position depends upon the successful issue of his labors in that direction. It is not to be wondered at then, that attempts should be made to obtain access to examination papers, that teachers should resort to questionable methods, for the purpose of conveying to their pupils coaching and cramming should be resorted on an extensive scale. Water cannot rise above its source, nor can a different state of things be reasonably expected, so long as School Boards overlook the true end of education, the development of charactor, and make the results of the interpacity of the teacher. But it is not in the High Schools slone that this vicious system prevails. In our Public Schools the will exists to a still greater and more injurious extent. The pupils are of tender years, attendance at school is often of a very irand fitness. The remedy for this state of solute necessaries of life. It has taken the court about a week to decide these. At that rate it will take 140 weeks to get through all estate and before half of them are decided there may be a thousand or more fresh applications handed in to await the lagging processes of the law. There is another thing however to be feared by the tenants and that is that the landlords may take some combined legal or political action to frustrate the operations of the Act. Municipal matters in Proton are again may hope, however, that this brief summary of its previous will assist our readers in watching intelligently the despatches which may come from time to time regarding that unhappy country.
