Mr. Chapman, Mount Forest, is visiting London Fair, and has a photo of the haunted school house near Durham. The "spook" turned out to get his "phiz" taken with the scholars. He is not a bad looking spook, and it is about time he came forward and told how he did it.—Advertiser.

The regulations of British Post office require that every unsound tooth shall be taken out of a man's head before he can be employed. An unfortunate girl who recently was examined for promotion had fourteen teeth taken out at one sitting by order of the official dentist, who explained that, "we can't have girls laid up with toothache."

A GOOD APPETITE always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its merits in restoring the appetite, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation, that can be used for any medicine.

The burning of McKechnie's mills in Durham has had the effect of rousing the citizens to a sense of their unprotected condition. At the first meeting after the fire the council was ready to purchase an engine without examination of any kind. The strong opposition which was shown to this course has caused them to go a little slower. There is now some doubt if they will do anything at all.—Bruce Herald.

SUFFERED FOR TWELVE YEARS.—Mr. Geo. H. If I have any tendency that way Stark's Powders give immediate relief." Price, 25c a box; sold by all medicine dealers.

The railroad men of Palmerston are about to petition Mr. L. J. Sargeant, the general manager of the road, asking him to rescind his general order which states that employees shall not hold seats at municipal council boards. This request is made solely as a matter of self-protection, as they claim they are being imposed upon by the town. The railroad fraternity pay taxes on more than two-thirds of the land within the corporation limits and it is only fair that they should be represented around the blue table.

TOO LENIENT.—A wave of plunder and violence is sweeping over the land causing a general feeling of insecurity both in regard to life and property. We claim that too much indifference exists on the part of the powers that be in the matter of bringing lawless characters to account, and even when they are arrested the punishment meted out is quite too mild as a rule. If our country is to retain its present high reputation for being peaceful and lawabiding, and the Southern custom of lynching kept far from us, the machinery that exists will have to be got into thorough motion. A man that will rob a bank, plunder a private or waylay a lone traveller for his money will not step at taking life and should be dealt with as a murderer.—Markdale Standard.

LETTER FROM TORONTO.

Another Exhibition has come and gone. One more gathering of the people and products of Ontario has now been added to the past; another season when the Province puts on a holiday garb for a couple of weeks and brings its people together for mutual intercourse, improvement and acquaintanceship has departed; and now having seen some of the outward aspects of our city and its inhabitants it would seem desirable to add a knowledge of the place itself.

After the time of the first exploration of Ontario by Champlain the region lying between lakes Ontario, Huron and Simcoe was up to the time of Governor Simcoe known as the Toronto Region; so called because it was a place of rendezvous for the many tribes of Indians roaming the wilderness. When the French explorers asked for a name of this region the replies of the natives were difficult to render in French and consequently the name is spelt in different ways as is seen on the early maps Not only was the region itself thus named but Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay are sometimes marked 'Lake Toronto' and the rivers leading to Lake Simcoe are marked 'Toronto River'—meaning "the place of meeting."

Toronto first obtained its importance during the wars between the English and French. Several trade routes were marked out, and it was observed that the English cut across from the state of New York to the mouth of the Humber River and from thence struck overland to get furs from Michilimacinac. To prevent this M. de la Gallissoniere in 1749, constructed a rude fort at the mouth of the Humber and refers to it as the Pass at Toronto, and the place itself he named Rouille after the French colonial minister of that day. After the conquest the place grew very slowly. In 1793 Governor Simcoe seeking a place suitable for the capital and sufficiently far away from the United States settled a battalion of soldiers at the old fort Rouille and called it in honor of the Duke of York then fighting the French in Flanders, "York."

Governor Simcoe then began the erection of a building for his Parliament and also a building for himself the site of which is just north of St. James Cemetery overlooking the valley of the Don. The soldiers cut and carefully graded a road from the Parliament building to the Governor's house and hence arose Parliament street.

In 1795 we find there were twelve families at York besides two tribes of Indians, and immediately surveys be to be made stretching from the Trent River in the East to the Humber in the West, the three most westerly Townships being called Edinburgh, Glasgow and Dublin now Pickering, Scarborough and York.

The Parliament buildings were opened in June 1797 by Hon. Peter Russell and here a long succession of military governors held sway, the names being enough to recall the war of 1812-14 such as Russell, Hunter, Gore, Brock, and Sheaffe, but they were burnt by the Americans in 1813. A new building was erected in 1818 in the same place only to be burnt in 1824 at the serious loss then of £30000. Again they were rebuilt but not at the old place, but at the corner of Simcoe and Front streets at a cost of about £7000 and were finished about 1833. In 1803 the first open public market was proclaimed and in 1816 an act was passed to build a jail and a Court House.

FROM A PROMINENT PHYSICIAN.

A Remarkable Cure of Consumption In Its Last Stages—Is This Once Dread Disease Conquered?— Important Facts to all Suffering from Diseased or Weak Lungs.

Elmwood, Ont., Aug. 21st, 1802.

DEAR SIRS:—I wish to call your attention to a remarkable cure of consumption. In March, 1893, I was called in my professional capacity to see Miss Christina Koester, of North Brant, who was than suffering from an attack of inflammation of the left lung. The attack was a severe one, the use of the lung being entirely gone from the effect of the disease. I treated her for two weeks when recovery seemed assured. I afterwards heard from her at intervals that the progress of recovery was satisfactory. The case then passed from my notice until June, when I was again called to see her, her friends thinking she had gone into consumption. On visiting her I found their suspicions too well founded. From robust health she had wasted to a mere skeleton, scarcely able to walk across the room. She was suffering from an intense cough, and expectoration of putrid matter, in fact about a pint each night. There was a burning hectic fever with chills daily. A careful examination of the previously diseased lung showed that its function was entirely gone, and that in all probability it was entirely destroyed. Still having hopes that the trouble was due to a collection of water around the lung I asked for a consultation, and the following day with a prominent physician of a neighboring town again made a careful examination. Every symptom and physical sign indicated the onset of rapid consumption and the breaking down of the lungs. Death certainly seemed but a short time distant. A regretful experience had taught me the uselessness of the ordinary remedies used for this dread and fatal disease, and no hope was to be looked for in this direction. I had frequently read the testimonials in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in wasting diseases, but not knowing their composition hesitated to use them. Finally, however I decided to give them a trial, and I am free to say that I only used them at a stage when I knew of absolutely nothing else that could save the patient's life. The test was a most severe one and I must also admit an unfair one, as the patient was so far gone as to make all hope of recovery seem impossible. A very short time, however, convinced me of the value of Pink Pills. Altogether only using an ordinary soothing cough mixture along with the pills, within a week the symptoms had abated so much that it was no longer necessary for me to make daily calls. Recovery was so rapid that within a month Miss Koester was able to drive to my office, a distance of about six miles, and feeling reasonably well, except for weakness. The expectoration had ceased, the cough was gone and the breathing in the diseased lung was being restored. The use of pink Pills was continued until the end of October, when she ceased to take the medicine, being in perfect health. I watched her case with deep interest, but almost a year has now passed and no trace of her illness remains. In fact she is as well as ever she was and no one would suspect that she had ever been ailing, to say nothing of having been in the clutches of such a deadly disease as consumption. Her recovery through the use of Pink Pills after having reached a stage when other remedies were of no avail is so remarkable that I feel my self justified in giving the fact to the public, and I regret that the composition of the pills is not known to the medical profession at large in order that their merit might be tested in many more diseases and their usefulness be thus extended. I intend giving them an extended trial in the case of consumption, believing from their action in this case,(so well marked) that they will prove a curative in all cases where a cure is at all possible—I mean before the lungs are entirely destroyed. Yours truly,

J. EVANS, M. D.

Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!

The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

CURES OTHERS, WILL CURE YOU. THE SUPERIOR BLOOD MEDICINE. PERFECT DIGESTION. PURE BLOOD. SOUND SLEEP. CLEAR SKIN. LONG LIFE. HEALTH. VITALITY. MENTAL ENERGY. STRONG NERVES.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from eczema, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It took nearly seven bottles, with excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, regular as clockwork. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla my weight was only 120 pounds; I now weigh a long way over 150 pounds, and was never in good health. If you could see me you would not believe it possible for one and after suffer, you would recommend me for a travelling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
