AGENTS.

For the accommodation of new subscribers (and also of the following parties have kindly consented to act as agents to receive new subscribers and other business—Pricville, Ont. Messrs. Jones, Dunsford, McCormick and McLaughlin, McLaughlin, Dromore, Alex. For. Esq. Edge Hill, C. C. McFarlane, Glasgow, P. O. S. The opening address was delivered on Thursday by the retiring President, the Rev. Dr. Hutchinson of Bradford. The Rev. gentleman took for his subject, the visible union of the Protestant denomination of this country. On this much disputed question, Dr. Hutchinson in effect said, that however desirable such an union might be, the Baptist church held principles which are distinctive, and which it considers to be fundamental, and which therefore form an insuperable barrier to union. The Baptist church, he said, did not lack in charity or Christian courtesy to other Christians, did not arrogate to themselves any spiritual superiority, lamented over the divisions that existed and were open to conviction, but until convinced of being in error we shall be compelled, he added, to maintain our present denominational distinction. Dr. Hutchinson closed an able address by discussing the needs of the Christian church at the present time.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the Baptists of Ontario and Quebec was held in St. Thomas last week. The opening address was delivered on Thursday by the retiring President, the Rev. Dr. Hutchinson of Bradford. The Rev. gentleman took for his subject, the visible union of the Protestant denomination of this country. On this much disputed question, Dr. Hutchinson in effect said, that however desirable such an union might be, the Baptist church held principles which are distinctive, and which it considers to be fundamental, and which therefore form an insuperable barrier to union. The Baptist church, he said, did not lack in charity or Christian courtesy to other Christians, did not arrogate to themselves any spiritual superiority, lamented over the divisions that existed and were open to conviction, but until convinced of being in error we shall be compelled, he added, to maintain our present denominational distinction. Dr. Hutchinson closed an able address by discussing the needs of the Christian church at the present time.

THE CANAL AT SOO.

The new canal at the Soo on the Canadian side is about two-thirds of a mile long, with a mean width of 152 feet and a depth of 24 feet at lowest water. The workmanship is said to be good, although several radical defects have been pointed out—such as the building of a heavy stone wall on cribs filled with small stones and erecting a stem rest drawbridge in the middle of the canal. Notwithstanding these defects, which in time will no doubt be removed, and an increased cost, the canal upon the whole is a workmanlike undertaking. It will complete the chain of Canadian waterways from Lake Superior to the seaboard, and thus bringing Ft. Arthur in direct communication by steamboat with Liverpool 4618 miles distant, a sailing vessel from Lake Superior can make the entire voyage without breaking bulk. This route is a great achievement, and a great boon to the commerce of the country. The canal is expected to be ready for traffic before opening of navigation next year.

AT A RECENT MEETING OF THE FEES

Commission in Ottawa, an important question was discussed. Dr. Bourne, clerk of the House of Commons, who has given much attention to the study of constitutional questions and is no mean authority upon such matters. Dr. Bourne read a lengthy paper on the subject of the appointment and remuneration of county officials. In the United States such public officials are elected by the people, and the control of these offices is the great object of political parties in all their civic and local State contests, since they enable the "bosses," the wirepullers of elections, to draw largely from these funds for political purposes. These in favor of change in Canada should take note of this corrupt state of things. Dr. Clinton is of the opinion that the system of appointment by the Government is the better mode and that the payment should be by salary for the term. This way can a capable and efficient civil service be secured. Henderson, city clerk in Ottawa was similar opinions.

THE CONDITION OF THE CZAR IS CRITICAL.

A cure of the disease, Bright's disease, is out of the question, so that the efforts of his medical staff will be in the direction of prolonging life and smoothing his dying pillow. As might be expected, the condition of the Emperor of Russia, with its one hundred millions, is in view of the death of the Emperor, is a very unsettled condition. Where the people rule, as in the British Empire, a change in the personell of the head of the State would cause very little stir, if any, in public affairs. But in Russia, where the Emperor, although to some extent controlled by his Council, is practically an autocrat and can act on his own responsibility solely, at home and abroad, the death of the Emperor is a very serious matter and affects the political equilibrium of the nation. The Czarevitch is expected to assume the manner of his father, but weak and irresolute, and easily swayed by his associates. It is expected that in the meantime he will be simply appointed regent.

MR. SATOLLI, THE PAPAL ALEGATE

of the United States, last week paid a visit of courtesy, as he himself said, to Archbishop Falgout, of Montreal. Shortly after his arrival, he was welcomed by the ubiquitous interviewers of the press, who submitted him among other matters, the question of education; and it is refreshing to find that there is nothing medicinal in Mr. Satolli's opinions on this important question. He said, the normal school system is that of schools under the supervision of the Church. Where such schools cannot be had, he did not undertake to keep children ignorant by retreating the State. He said that the State should not be in the habit of interfering with the education of the people, but that it should be left to the parents to provide for their children. He said that the State should not be in the habit of interfering with the education of the people, but that it should be left to the parents to provide for their children.

A DARKY WEDDING.

Shortly after the establishment of the "Pricville Courier, a diminutive specimen of female humanity entered the office bedraggled with snow and slush the day being wet. She handed Mr. Lake a paper at the same time asking him if he could not get her a new one, with a decided "No." The paper was handed to Jeff Wright, who read it aloud, the contents stating that the bearer was a widow, living in Collingwood, and desired assistance towards purchasing a "home" for herself and destitute children. She begged a piece of tobacco, filled an ancient pipe, and smoked except at intervals for over an hour. The evening of the history of the "strange visitor" became known; she was the companion of a stalwart darky living in a dug-out in a sand-bank a mile out of town. This visitor visited the office frequently, her chief aim being a supply of tobacco for the use of herself and her lazy darkey. There were humorous in the office in those days and word was conveyed to the darkey Caesar Johnson by David Loudon that he was likely to lose his little woman if he did not get her a new one. Loudon and Caesar came to the office and asked if there had not been some talk of a new one for the woman, not a muscle of Davy's face moved while Assurance being given that all claim to her affections were freely "extended" into Caesar's train departed and the marriage was soon after arranged.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. This many, who live better lives through its aid, find pleasure in less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

LETTER FROM MR. HENRY.

Rev. Dr. Paton gave a good talk on theological education, its value and necessity for a modern preacher. In a vigorous manner, that was most powerfully eloquent, he also urged the investing of capital in human beings, the development of the human mind, and the development of the human body. He said that the human mind is the most valuable property that we possess, and that it is the duty of every man to invest his capital in it. He said that the human body is the most valuable property that we possess, and that it is the duty of every man to invest his capital in it.

EDGE HILL ECHOES.

"The melancholy days have come," Mr. C. C. Fayden has returned home, and Mrs. Jno. Thomson, of Tara, visited friends here last week.

Mrs. Flora Black, of Flesherton, has been sojourning with her brother, Mr. H. McFarlane for the past week.

Rev. Mr. Connor held a prayer-meeting in the Grange Hall on Tuesday night and gave a popular address.

Mr. Jno. Williams, the popular preacher, gave a discourse every year. The pastor gave this fall was as enjoyable as preceding ones. Jno. is a jovial host and takes a good time in himself, while his kind wife makes everyone feel at home.

There were 30 couples present, they were well treated, they danced, they sang, and they didn't go home till morning.

The harvest home service, which was held in connection with the English Church Sunday School at Edge Hill, was very largely attended owing to the wet disagreeable evening. Those who came were warmly welcomed, and the choir of the church, Durham, excelled themselves. The proceeds of the collection go towards buying prizes for the Sunday School Children.
