We are sorry to know that Mrs. R. Henry, of Egremont, is still under the doctor's care. We hope to see her speedily around again.

We regret to learn that Miss Maggie Hunter is seriously indisposed this week and will for some time be compelled to be watchful of her health.

The young people of the Presbyterian Church are busy this week with brush and paint making the basement look creditable and with credit too to their amateur efforts.

Garden Party at Mr. W. Rombough's on Thursday evening, June 27th. Admission 10c at the gate,—Ice-cream, Strawberries and other refreshments on the grounds. All invited.

Much valuable matter crowded out this week. The Baptist Convention requiring considerable space to do it justice. We have to thank Mr. Brown for his full report.

The Orangemen of this District will celebrate the 12th of July in Durham this year. The last demonstration in Durham on that date was the most successful Durham ever saw.

Fairday prices were flat. A large number wishing to sell, owing to the almost calamitous drouth. To day (Wed.) there seems some pr spects of much needed rain.

Dominion Day promises to eclipse any previous celebration here. Large sums of money are offered in prizes. Come on Durham for pleasure, as many are coming just now to take advantage of our good market.

DIVISION COURT.—Judge Creasor on Tuesday disposed of a number of cases in the Town Hall. A lawy case in which Dugald Ferguson, Proton, was the defendant and John Acheson, Egremont, plaintiff, excited great interest. This action was to recover a portion of a payment on a purchase of a quantity of hay bought in bulk on the alleged ground that in quantity and quality it was not as represented. His honor, however held that in such a purchase where no definite statement could be given the purchaser must run the risk and accordingly gave a verdict for Ferguson.

An insurance case Calder, v. Bell where a claim by Bell of $188.00 for loss sustained by fire had been reduced by one third on the ground of being a tenant, proved clearly that it pays to make oneself familiar with every condition in the policy. Read your policy.

The I. O. F. to the number of about 60 paraded to Trinity Church with the band at their head on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Connor preached a sermon from James. I, 27 which was thoughtfully prepared, well delivered, and most appreciatively listened to. The order is now of age, being 21 years old, while Court Durham was 9 years old last Thursday. Beginning with 8 members with Bro. Wm. Johnston chiefly at the helm then, it has increased to about 140, though over 200 have been "made," removals accounting for the balance. Strange to say there has not yet been one death. Bro. Wm. Calder is now chief Ranger, and Bro. Arch. Patterson, Court Dep. A big day is in prospect on Sep. 3rd when Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha will be on hand and all will want to see and hear the eloquent Indian.

GLENROADEN PIC-NIC.—The 2nd annual pic-nic at this place was held last Saturday and was in every way a success. The day was fine, the chairman, Mr. Wm. Johnston, filled the position admirably, the crowd was large and good natured, the eatables were of the best and the financial returns sufficient to meet all expenses, and this was all that was aimed at. The chairman and his talented musical family rendered some of their finest selections, "Scots wha hae" being especially admired. Mr. Christy Williams made the speech of the day, and as his memory of Glenelg goes back 45 years, he is undoubtedly well fitted to speak of its progress. His most graphic illustration was that where he said he could, 45 years ago, carry all the children of Glenelg in a 2-bushel bag, but now, (with his arms extended to encircle the audience of 400) look at the progress." Charlie Saunders, of this town, gave an exhibition of wire-rope walking which thrilled the spectators, while they applauded his skill and nerve. He will now be in request. Messrs Malone and Coffee furnished music for the large number who trip the light "fantastic." Miss Delaney presided efficiently at the organ. The foregoing with swings and social chat made a most pleasant afternoon.

The result of the Drawing Examinations became known last Saturday. Douglas Sutherland was the clever and lucky boy to get all five certificates at one examination; a rare circumstance. Robert Reid, Norman McRae, Lena Wolf and Lizzie Laidlaw secured all they tried for, and have now completed the course. Several of the others only lack one. The result on the whole is above the average, and while, as their teacher we feel personally gratified at the result as a whole, we regret that the diligence of some has not secured the reward which their work during session would indicate. We give the list in full, and offer congratulations to the successful ones and where there has been failure we say "try again."

'F.' is Freehand, 'G.' Geometrical, 'P.' Perspective, 'M.' Model, 'B.' Blackboard or Memory.

Douglas Sutherland, all. Lizzie Laidlaw, F. G. P. B. Lena Wolf, G. P. M. Norman McRae, P. M. Robert Reid, F. M. Hattie Moffat P. M. B. Amy, Meredith, P. M. G. Finlay Graham, F. M B Robert Scott F. P. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Rocky Public School Picnic will be held in Morden's grove, Edge Hill, on Saturday next. A good time is expected.

We understand many farmers are sowing corn broadcast and otherwise, to secure if possible something to make up the great deficiency in the hay crop. This we think is prudent.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION.—On Thursday last the Glenelg Centre Babtists organized themselves into a separate congregation. The organizing Council consisted of the following Rev. Gentlemen:—Messrs. Norton, of Owen Sound; McGregor, of Durham; McGregor, of North Bruce; McQuarrie, of Leith; Walker, of Meaford; Phillimore of Chesley; Stevens, of Sydenham; McKinnon, of Keady; Burns sr. and jr., of Bentinck; and Gardiner of Flesherton, besides a number of lay delegates The services commenced at seven o'clock, Rev. Mr. McQuarrie, leading the opening ceremonies. When Rev. Mr. Norton was appointed Moderator of the council and Rev. Mr. Phillimore, clerk, after the authority for creating a separate congregation was read the Rev. Mr. McGregor, of Durham, preached the organization sermon from the text "For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed to him against that day." The sermon was earnest, impressive and eloquent, and was listened to with pleasure and attention. The Rev. Mr. McQuarrie then addressed the church upon their duties towards their neighbors, their pastor and their God, and the Rev. Mr. Norton in a very earnest manner addressed the pastor regarding his duties towards the congregations. The Rev. Mr. Stevens offered up the recognition prayer, after which the large audience was dismissed having spent a pleasant and profitable evening.

COM.

A RUN FOR THE FIRE BRIGADE.—On Monday last shortly after dinner, Mr. Wm. Johnston, of the McKechnie Mills, Glenroaden, saw danger to the mills from a growing fire in the swamp to the west. He telephoned to Durham. At 2.20 the fire bell rang out and with commendable alacrity the engine, reels, and several loads of our townspeople were soon on their way to protect the valuable property. Arriving there about 4, the fire was rapidly working eastward, a number of willing workers endeavoring to check its progress with pails. The peculiar position led to some uncertainty as to the best position for the engine, and after cutting a road down the bank for it, it was decided to go back to the bridge and drench the sawdust bank and lumber piles. It was then moved to the river bank with some difficulty and the fire was checked and chased back to a reasonably safe distance. But the feature of the day was the tremendous work done by the hose men, who dragged that hose up the river and down, wading to the waist, and much of their labor of no use owing to the change of the engine. Kilmer seemed to be amphibious, Gordon was as much at home with hose reels as he is with Rain-springs, Harbottle, Harvey, Jopp and others took to the water like ducks, and never before did the bushy and rocky banks of the Rocky Saugeen witness such sights and sounds.

The supper table at the boarding house was appreciated in the evening, the hospitality of the neighbors deserves much commendation. We have an impression that that pie and glass of milk furnished by the good hearted old lady, Mrs. McCrunick, was the best of kind, and to the load of hungry Durhamites the contents of Mr. Duncan McGillivray's basket and milk pail came as a godsend.

All bicycle records were broken by Kilmer, who, believing the engine to be ahead, and ashamed that he could'nt overtake it, made a spurt that easily brought him first to the spot, only to learn that the engine was miles and hours behind him.

Our Cricketers carried off the honors in Walkerton last Friday. J. P. Telford and D. McFarlane made great scores. Bowlers for Durham were D. McFeenzie and D. McFarlane. Our boys speak of handsome entertainment by their Walkerton opponents. A return match will be played soon.

DROMORE.

(Intended for last week.)

The Foresters Entertainment was a grand success in every sense of the word. The talent from Mount Forest and Durham was fully appreciated, while the Haw Bros. were equally so. C. C. Whale, High Inspector, the principal speaker, gave some interesting as well as amusing remarks, and we believe all that were present fully enjoyed themselves.

The annual pic-nic in connection with No. 13 is to be held on July 2nd, when the usual programme will be carried out.

Miss Gertie King has made her appearance amongst us again and her pupils are no doubt pleased to see her.

Mr. George Lothian left for Manitoba last Wednesday week, and the best wishes of the community attend him.

Preparatory Service was held in Amos Church on Friday last, the Rev. Mr. Ramsay, of Mt. Forest, delivering the sermon for the occasion.

The Teachers' Convention was held in Flesherton last Thursday and Friday We believe this convention was the best we had the pleasure to attend in South Grey. Dr. McLellan no doubt greatly contributing to its success. It is however, to be hoped that when the Convention is taken there again, accommodation will be found for the Teachers.

Miss and Mr. McLean, of Blythe, are visiting their sister, Mrs. MacVicar.

Mr. Bird, a brother of the Doctor, paid the town a flying visit on his wheel last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Snell paid a visit to their parents and friends last week.

A great improvement has been made in the Sunday School, by the painting of the walls and ceiling, an improvement which was very much needed, and with a new organ which has been secured for the Sunday School, it will be much pleasanter for teachers and pupils.

VICKERS.

Mr. Robert Lindsay spent part of last week in Owen Sound, acting as juryman.

Miss Lottie Vickers is now living in Durham, and is sadly missed in our village.

In Bentinck, on the 8th inst., the wife of Mr. Robt. Lindsay, of a son.

Many are the complaints we hear of the drought which still continues. Some of our farmers are turning their cattle into the meadows, as they will not be worth cutting.

Mr. John Bailey being tired of single life, went over to Egremont on the 12th inst., and was united in marriage to Miss McFadden. Congratulations Jack.

On Wednesday, the 12th inst., one of those pleasant events which we all like to attend, took place at the residence of Mr. Charter Smith, at 4 o'clock, p. m. It being the marriage of his daughter, Mary Ann, to Mr. Jas. McDonald, of Aberdeen. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Flagg. The bride, who was attended by her sister, Miss Jane Smith, looked charming in her bridal costume. Mr. Gilbert Grierson acted as Groomsman. A table was then spread in the orchard, where all were treated to a sumptuous repast. Baseball and other games were then indulged in until the shades of evening drove them indoors, where all listened to excellent music, both instrumental and vocal to their hearts content. The bride received a large number of handsome and valuable presents. The happy couple moved into their new home on the following Friday. We voice the sentiments of the community in wishing them a happy and pleasant journey through life.

MARRIAGES.

MCDONALD—SMITH—At the residence of the bride's father, Charter Smith Esq., Bentinck, on June 12th, 1895, by Rev. E. L. Flagg, Jas. McDonald, of Bentinck to Mary A. Smith.

FLESHERWOOD, P. O.
RAINY RIVER DISTRICT,
ALGOMA, ONTARIO.

EDITOR REVIEW,

According to promise I must now give you my first impressions or rather notes by the way to Rainy River.

We left Owen Sound by S. S. Athabasca May 9th, at 1.30 p. m. After a pleasant sail of six hours we passed the islands of Bear's Rump and Flower Pot, gaining Lake Huron and losing Georgian Bay in the per cons tents of a beautiful answer. Our party consisted of five, all of them Outerians.

First-class passengers may have luxuries, second class ones have none.

The soft side of a board was our couch and our pillow our car. This is conducive to early rising. Two o'clock in the morning was not our accustomed turning out hour. Habits of indulgence are easily eradicated by the strong force of circumstances. So we found it. After going on deck and pacing the Lake Greyhound in search of a cushion, or consolation or both, but finding neither we returned to our couch to lie awake and listen to the loud snoring of more contented and less exacting passengers.

All bad as well as good things come to an end, so daylight came to our relief. Saw light ahead which proved to be the town of Latour, Mich. We entered Soo river at six a. m. and met an unbroken chain of crafts of all sorts mostly Steamers with other boats in tow. The volume of shipping here surprised us. As in our innocence and ignorance the most we expected to see was the yawl or soon a lonely fisherman or the Birch bark canoe of the Aborigine. Arrived at the Soo 8.30 a. m. and immediately entered the Locks on American side in company with an American Steamer of greater dimensions than the "Athabasca." The fog here was so dense that we could see little of the Soo on the Canadian side and as for the completed Canadian locks, were informed that the crowd of tourists was too unlikely to find them still "nearing completion." Our good ship lost no time in getting away and in the company of our American Leviathan we faced Lake superior, fog horns blowing at intervals of two minutes. After leaving our Yankee consort in the rear we prepared for bed at 10 a. m., the baggage official, who had charge also of the sleeping apartments, calmly informed one of our party, that for 25 cents each he would provide a mattress and pillow and consign us to more comfortable quarters. We gave him the money but found his means of accomodation had been exaggerated, we each had a pillow it is true, but it was filled with shingles and would have answered equally well for a pocket handkerchief. The mattress was a good companion piece. We had grave suspicions that the aforesaid luxuries should have been provided gratis, and that the attendant treated us to the sawmill features the first night in order to train us to a willing disgorgement of 25 cents each for the second. However he got his money and we got no value. "Rocked on the cradle of the deep" was the next part of our programme. First one and then another left separation, and dishabille and disortered stomachs prevailed. The Athabasca behaved well in the rough sea, but she was as though she were but a piece of cork tossed on a torn sweet mill pond. In crossing Nipissing the property of some emigrants on board, enjoyed the monotony of our vigils, as day by day it differed, his dear familiar voice brought back to our minds in a most vivid manner the barn yard scenes and surroundings, which ourselves as well as chanticleer must so recently deserted.

At 9 a. m. we sighted Isle Royal and an hour later we were pointed by the gentlemanly Captain to Islands called the Sleeping giant and Pie respectively.

We arrived at Fort William 11.30 a. m. and after partaking of a good square dinner for a quarter, we took a ride on the Electric Car to Fort Arthur 2 miles distant. Here we were told to put our watches back half an hour, a suggestion we readily complied with in order to have correct central time. Both of the above mentioned places appear'ed to be somewhat out of joint, a matter of fact we ascribed to the depression in Manitoba and the Northwest. We boarded the C. P. R. train at Fort William for Rat Portage 10.10 p. m. and of course saw nothing of the district of Algoma through which we passed coming the night, but when the Sun dawned we beheld the most rocky, forlorn and barren tract which has yet come under our observation, we in fact have passed the location of neighborhood of the proposed or actual experimental provincial farm at Waldgan. All we can say of the locality, is, that if the Model Farm has surface similar to the station named and Sir Oliver can make a success of it the p ge of Calinos theory will contain something of the life work of a certain Premier, who occupied the envied and enviable position of being even a greater success in agriculture than politics. At R. t Portage where we arrived at 10.30 a. m. we were agreeably surprised to see so many evidences of a town. All the appliances of modern invention, telephone, bicycle, fine brands and cigars as well as water rolling mills met our sight. Keewatin 7 miles distant said to be the largest in the Dominion, and to add to the variety on board, a coming child, born in the latest fashions in ladies' and gents' wear from Paris and New York, were given such a touch of tone, as the feathers in the hair of the lassie, or the uniform of the Salvation Army officer, is so well fitted to produce. After waiting here for three days, we took the first boat down Lake of the Woods and Rainy River for Fort Francis.

The promised land being non "So near and yet so far" all eyes were open. To describe the beauties of this Lake is a task indeed. We enter it on leaving Victoria passing through the Devil's Gap, a narrow channel of about 30 feet in width, between two rocky islands. As the little steamer glides through amongst the labyrinth of islands of every conceivable size and form, the cabinet now in front or our either side the fantastic shapes of the rocky, timber-covered islands are seen, those near Rat Portage having handsome summer residences erected thereon. The ever changing panoramic scene of land and water so enchanting and fairy like, gave to some of our party such a feast of delight, that it was with much reluctance and many regrets, that the lengthening shadow of the Victoria's flag staff in the water suggested to our minds the early fall of nature's curtain over a scene under a bright sky delightful. At midnight we tied up to an island where a hospitable Indian named Jonathan, keeps teams and pedestrians, who travel the route in winter on ice. Before this we were once more on our way but had to lie too and all hands and the cook had axe handles filling to cut enough wood to carry us to the mouth of Rainy River. Chart and compass are a superfluity aboard ship on this lake, as only long acquaintance with the channel enables the wheelsman to steer his course. Our Captain informed us that he had been through the islands for some years yet would not undertake to steer even in day time, so intricate is the course. Yet Indians and some Whites can guide the steamer even in a moderately dark night. After sailing up Rainy River for nearly 80 miles, I must say that it is the most beautiful of nature's waterways, with a width of 50 or 60 rods.

Two rapids 6 miles apart retard navigation to Fort Francis, where work, past the fads whilst the late Alex. Mackenzie attempted to avoid and circumnavigate, lies unfinished. The American bank is nearly an unbroken forest the entire length, though nearing the Fort small patches of clearing are seen. Residences and Co-hacking are incipient American towns on the bank. The Canadian side is taken or located along the bank of the river most of the way up, with small clearances. While at intervals, settlements extend back 4 or 5 miles. The soil is deep and nearly void of stones, enough to build cellars on each farm of 160 acres being unobtainable. The market for produce at Fort Francis is at present as follows:—

Oats, 25c to $100; potatoes, the same price; butter, 25 to 30c; eggs, 25 to 30; bacon, 12½ per lb; beef, 10c a lb; flour, $2.75 per bbl; cabbage usually being 25c per head; horses, from $175 to $60 a head; cows, 30 to 40; oxen 120 to $125.

I have jumped on a river lot of 173 acres 8 miles from Fort Francis 2 miles from Isherwood P. O. school and church 3 miles distant.

Mr. Whitmore, Sr. gave me a call the other day. My next letter will give my opinion of the soil and its capabilities as they appear to me through June.

We had little or none of the disastrous frosts which affected Eastern Ontario on 12th and 13th of May. This district has to my mind three plagues or drawbacks viz. flies, wet land and suckers or under growth, with these I will deal later.

OBITUARY.—For the second time within a fortnight, this locality was shrouded in gloom, as the word passed from house to house, that the messenger of death had left desolate another home in our midst. Among all the young men of this section, there was none, more admired by his companions or more dutious and kind to his parents and family than was Dan McArthur. Being a lad of splendid physique and of robust health, it was little dreamed, that he was to be called from this life so soon and even now, it seems hard to realize, that never on this side of eternity, shall we again clasp the vanished hand or hear the voice that now is still. Just at an age when hopes and aspirations are highest, when the thought of parting from friends has scarcely ever entered the mind, and when the future is brightened by the expectation of rendering services to parents in their declining years, it is very melancholy that a life so young should be suddenly and unexpectedly extinguished. Dan was a favorite with all who knew him. His cheerful devotion endeared him to his parents and his amiability of disposition attached him to his friends. His body was followed to its last resting place in Priceville by a large assembly of sorrowing relations and friends. The Rev. D. McLeod conducted the impressive funeral service, committing the body to the dust and commending the life to the God who gave it. The family of the departed boy has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.—Com.

BALSAM VALLEY.

Once more we collect our thinking faculties together and relate the incidents occuring in our locality.

Mr. Peter Ferguson is busily engaged preparing for the erection of a stable on the Model Farm. Next we will hear of is the erection of a fine residence and ample room for two persons. Some one asks who is it. Eh Haw?

Mr. George Haw is replacing his road fence which adds much to the appearance of the farm and also the sideroad. Ted darkens the sun with dirt those days.

Miss Christy McPhail returned home last week and will spend some time with her parents.

What we would like to know:

If the fellows from Smoky Hollow worm mind themselves next time and save a smashup.

If those buying hay by the bulk wont be careful next time and save expenses.

DO YOU WEAR GLASSES

If you do the important question is—DO THEY FIT? If probably not. Now do you know you are ruining your eyes every day. A poor pair of glasses work the same one's eyes as slow poison on the human body, that is, they are sure to destroy

Now, if you will call and see me I will guarantee to fit you with a pair of glasses that will be right—and the price also will please you—If you are troubled in any way whatever with your eyes you should be pleased to see you.

OPPOSING OUR FRIENDS.

There is no question, but while other things being equal, it may be in the public interest to help our friends, at the same time, it may also be in the public interest to oppose our friends. However, the Dominion Government has an unfortunate predisposition to help their friends to the injury of the public interest, and to oppose their friends when acting directly for the public good. The Auditor General is a very important public functionary. To his unwearied labors the Canadian tax payer is indebted for a knowledge of the way in which the taxes he pays are expended. Surely such a useful public officer should receive the hearty support of every good government. For instance, in the report of the Auditor General informs the people how the money voted for the improvement of sundry public works as the Quebec harbour, the Tay Canal, the Carran Bridge, the Soo Canal and the many other public works carried on have been either finished away, or, worse, gone to enrich the contractors and their friends at the expense of the tax payer. Then, the present Dominion officer, Mr. F. Lyne McDougall, has been well spoken of by the press. Sir Charles Tupper said on the floor of the House of Commons that he had no hesitation in saying that it would be impossible for ministers on either sides of the House to overrate the careful and painstaking ability of the Auditor General, in his scientious devotion to the duties of his office. And, further, that he had no hesitation in saying that the Auditor General has discharged his duties so as to win the hearty approval of every member of the government, and of both sides of the house. Times have changed. The painstaking labors of the Auditor General view too much light upon the methods adopted by the present Government in expending the public money in their own interest and the interest of their friends, and in consequence the conspicuous devotion of the Auditor General to the duties of his office is not appreciated by the present Government. Mr. Foster complains that he is too painstaking and gives too many details of expenditure. Sir Hibbert Tupper objected to the details of expenditure also, and was at a loss to see why the amounts paid the members of the House, and presumably the contractors and their friends, should be published in the report laid before the House. But the Auditor General's report is notwithstanding these strictures of the greatest value. They show how the annual expenditure of $40,000,000 by the Government, it economically administered should not exceed $25,000,000 and in opposing the Auditor General's claims for an extra clerk to enable him to do his work efficiently the Government simply proclaims its dishonesty to the world, while, the Auditor General will have the sympathy of every honest man in the House and country.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR FOR 1895.—"Greater and better than Ever," "Rolling all others," and "It draws like a Magnet," are terms very unexpectedly applied to Toronto's Great Industrial Fair, the seventeenth of which will be held from the 2nd to the 13th of September next, and the Directors announce their determination to make this year's Fair eclipse all former ones. They have issued a very neatly gotten up prize list, a copy of which can be procured by any one who so desires, by dropping a post card to Mr. H. J. Hill, the Manager, at Toronto. Already many applications have been received from many parts both in Canada and from abroad for space to exhibit their products, and present indications point to a greater and grander Exhibition than of the previous ones. There seems still a good deal remain all railroads, and this will undoubtedly be the most popular holiday outing of the year. Numerous new and interesting attractions will be added. Always everyone should endeavor to keep posted on the progress of our country goes to the Toronto Fair, which is generally admitted to be the best on this continent.

Dead on the Roadside—Too much Foot Ball.
