The Grey Review.

DURHAM, AUGUST 8th, 1895.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

We have now been over a year in possession of the REVIEW, and while conscious of imperfections, have been much gratified at many warm complimentary expressions bestowed upon our efforts. We intend that there shall be no retrogression, but continual advancement in everthing that goes to make up a readable, newsy, local paper. We have had in the past much valuable assistance from subscribers, correspondents and others, and we would now again ask their kind co-operaton in enabling us to make still further advancement in producing a live local paper. We intend to utilize the experience we have gained for our own good of course, but at the same time for the good of our constituency. Will our many friends help us by continuing to speak a good word for the REVIEW, presenting its claims for support where opportunity offers, and help us toswell our already large list of subscribers. As an inducement we offer the REVIEW from now to Jan. 1st, '96, as a trial trip to new subscribers at 30 cts. ; to Jan. 1st, 1897, to new subscribers at $1.25.

In addition to these rates we have made provision to supply cash subscribers for 1896 with a copy of the Canadian Annual, full of valuable information. At present we still offer Weekly Globe and REVIEW for one year at $1.25. Or REVIEW to end of 1896 and Globe for one year for $1.50. Subscribe now.

—The Duke of Argyle was married at Ripon on the 30th ult., to Miss MacNeil, daughter of Sir R. McNeil, of the Court of Session, Edinburgh. Miss MacNeil has been one of the Queen's extra ladies of the bedchamber. The marriage was a quiet one owing to the death of Lord Colin Campbell, who died recently in India. The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Ripon, cousin of the bride. Among the presents were several valuable gifts from the Queen.

—Our readers will know of the public burdens they have to bear and of the rapid rate at which the public debt of Canada has of late years been rolled up to its present gigantic proportions, that the Ottawa Ministers had important reasons for refusing the necessary help to the Auditor-General to enable that useful official to give a plain statement of facts to the country. From the Report for 1894 the 'Globe' gives some suggestive items. One J. C. Bais, a clerk in one of the Departments is sent abroad, presumably, on some Departmental business, and furnishes an account of nearly a thousand dollars for his service. This bill includes not only such items as railway and steam boat fares, railway porters and hotel waiters, but, newspapers and books, laundry, shaving and shining boots, valises and umbrellas, a fur coat, and, the one item, the wear and tear of coat and suit.

—A very intelligent correspondent of the 'Globe' addresses that able journal on road making. It is true that the subject is a very hackneyed one, and that the time for repairing roads for the present year is past, still, the subject is of such great importance, that we propose in a few words summing up the writer's conclusions. First, the system of Statute labor is condemned generally, at the same time admitting that good work can be done by well-directed statute labour. But, when it is remembered that fully one third of the taxes of the municipalities is spent upon making and repairing roads, the comparative inefficiency of the statute labor work done becomes very evident. The fundamental principle in all good road making, is drainage, and having secured this in the road bed, then the next is a roof of gravel or road metal which will be impervious to water and resist the tear and wear. Earth roads stand lowest as to durability and efficiency. When used the ditches should always be kept open and road bed should always be kept in repair. Gravel roads have a distinct advantage. In using gravel the road bed should be graded, the gravel eight feet wide, raked as ruts form, frequently dressed, and provided with suitable ditches to carry away all the surface water.

—The Geographical Congress met in London, England, last week. The Society was welcomed with great enthusiasm, the Prince of Wales expressed the pleasure he experienced in being present at the meetings of so learned and useful a body, and other notable persons followed suit. Arctic and Antarctic Explorations as a matter of course, formed a subject of discussion, many of the members urging the necessity of further Arctic Explorations and especially Antarctic Explorations, for the purpose of settling very important questions in Geography, and as to the origin of certain fauna and flora types which were known to have existed in the neighborhood of both poles, and remains of which had been discovered by former navigators. M. Andree was present and explained his plan of reaching the North Pole, by means of his balloon. He purposed nearing that interesting point about the middle of June next, when the sun would be continually above the horizon and that the temperature of balloon and the air would be uniform—rather low to be comfortable, however, we would suppose. The colonization of Africa was also discussed, and a cautious system of pioneer colonization recommended as the country opened up. Stanley citing the successful results of the Pilgrim Fathers' colonization in support of his plan. The Congress resolved to hold its next meeting in Berlin.

M. Ferdinand, the Prince of Bulgaria still lingers in Western Europe: although his mother, who evidently has more pluck than her son, and who insists that he shall return to his satrapy and assume the reigns of government. And in this, no doubt, Princess Clementine will be obeyed. Bulgaria was called into existence by the Western Powers and erected into an independent State as a buffer State between Russia aggrandizement and Turkish imbecility. But ever since its foundation Russian intrigue has been busily employed in Bulgaria, so that the young King has no bed of roses. A devoted patriot who held the supreme power of Prime Minister, who ruled in the interests of the people of Bulgaria, and who often had checkmated Russian intrigue, on many a critical occasion in the history of his country, was cruelly assassinated under circumstances which led the crime to be charged against his political enemies. Prince Ferdinand has been charged with Russian proclivities, and he fears that he will be the first victim at the hand of the avenger. However, most people will say that the obligation of public duty holds a first place.

—The old notion that, on the theory of probabilities, other planets besides our earth contains organic life, has been sustained by modern discoveries in the chemistry of ligdt. For instance it may be regarded as certain that many elements known on this earth are present in the planetary bodies such as for instance hydrogen which exists so largely here, in the sun, and on many of the stellar bodies in space. Carbon also which is so essential an element of organic life on the earth is found abundantly distributed throughout space having been found in the bodies and tails of comets, the atmosphere of the sun as well as in other planetary bodies. Then in the important matter of atmosphere it is found that the other planets possess atmospheres though not possibly perfectly identical in every respect with the earth's atmosphere. The conclusion, therefore, from all the facts known is in favor of the supposition that life exists in some but not in all the planetary bodies. But what the particular character of the organism, vegetable or animal, may be, say on our nearest neighbors Venus or Mars, we cannot even conjecture. For as the character of an organism is always suited to its environment, and as the conditions of heat and cold, air and water, etc., etc. are somewhat dissimilar even in Mars to those existing on the earth, the organism depending on them would necessarily be different also.

MR. WALLACE ON THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

The comptroller of Customs, Mr. Wallace, has been accused of hedging on the School Question, of running with the hare and hunting with the hounds. But this charge cannot after this be laid at his door. He has declared himself clearly to be a secularist in School matters, and to be utterly opposed to everything savouring of any connection between Church and State. In his opening address before the Grand Orange Lodge of Canada lately convened in Halifax, Mr. Wallace said, speaking of the Manitoba School Question, that the line of distinction between secular and religious education is easily drawn—the one being the duty and care of the State, the other pertaining to the churches, and just in so far as the two are conjoined in the Public Schools, to that extent is the danger of Church and State alliance created. Mr. Wallace goes further, and declares, that as liberty of conscience and the free exercise of religion lies at the very root and foundation of Orange principles, the claims of Separate Schools are incompatible with that absolute divorce of Church and State which Mr. Wallace and his fellow Orangemen hold to be essential to the well being of the community. This leaves nothing to be desired so far as it is a declaration of policy upon a very important question. But something more is required in order to settle the School Question. In Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, British Columbia and so far, in Manitoba, where no Separate Schools exist, the course of education has prospered and the cause of religion has not suffered. Let legislation be so amended that the other Provinces will have the opportunity of securing the blessing of a purely public school system also. Here Mr. Wallace has a great opportunity before him. The School Question if not finally disposed of now, will continue to be a disturbing element in the country until it is finally disposed of. Is Mr. Wallace the man for the hour, and prepared to carry his policy on this question to its legitimate conclusion?

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

As the season advances, the face of nature assumes a more pleasing aspect over the country generally and inspires hope for the future. The copious rains and warm sunshine have come in good time and have done remarkably good service to the growing crops. Should nothing untoward happen, the probability is, that barley and oats will be generally fully up to the average, while peas is expected on all hands to be above the average. The outlook even in this district is encouraging, and it is observed, that at the Dornoch meeting on Saturday last, those present did not address them selves to the questions before them as those who had no hope. When want stares in the face our deliberations assume a practical turn, not so at the Dornoch meet. The meeting occupied itself as a correspondent informs us, with a great deal of talk about foggy and impracticable schemes "for obtaining aid from the Government." Government aid in cases of widespread distress may be a necessity, at times it is. But the glory of the Anglo-Saxon is, that it has learned to depend upon its own energies and resources.

Throughout the country crops generally are looking up, fall wheat in some localities yielding forty bushels to the acre, and hay, although light in some districts is fair and some times a good crop in others. In Lower Canada a prominent Hay exporter reports that, after an extended tour in the Ottawa river district, the outlook for hay is a very good one, the crop being equal to that of any previous year, and that prices will open at about 8 or 9 dollars per ton delivered on the cars.

PROHIBITION APPEAL.

The appeal taken by the Government of Ontario, against the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, came up for hearing before the Judicial committee of the Privy Council last week. Sir Oliver Mowat was present. The case for Ontario was conducted by Mr. J. J. Maclaren who urged that all the points submitted put the powers of prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors into the hands of Provincial Legislation. On the other hand it was stated by Lord Watson that the test before the court was, whether the powers of Local Legislation were to be confined to the maintenance of law and order, or whether they permitted these Legislatures to engage in the work of legislation.

OLD COUNTRY VISITORS.—From the 'Scottish Highlander,' published in Inverness, Scotland, we learn that Canadian visitors are numerous. Among others we notice the names of Mr Alex. Fraser, of the Toronto Mail, Mr. Roderick Mc Kenzie, of Lucknow, and one from our own town. We give a short extract: "We had also a visit from Mr. John Cameron, a native of Inverness, who left it forty years ago, and is back to this country just now as the representative of the J. B. Maclean Company, Limited, of Toronto, extensive publishers and newspaper proprietors in the capital of Ontario. The founder of the firm, whom we have met here a few years ago, is although a born Canadian, of Highland parentage, his father having been born on the Mackintosh estates of Strathdearn, and his mother near Culloden.

ECHOES FROM THE COMMITTEE MEETING AT DORNOCH.

One of the resolutions adopted by the Special Committee at Mass meeting July 22nd was that Warden Binnie, Reeve Shute, and Mr. G. McKechnie be deputed to lay before the Prov. Government the distressed state of the Co. of Grey. Warden Binnie met with the minister, and reported the result of his mission at the special meeting of Committee at the Bulls Head Hotel, Dornoch, on Saturday last. The chair was filled by the Warden, and around him were Jno. Masson, M. P., Ex Mayor McLachlan, of Owen Sound, Secy. McIntosh, and various township representatives.

Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The chairman gave in detail the result of his interview with the minister Mr. Dryden. He was well received and expected immediate aid as soon as necessary information was forwarded them regarding the state of the country. He was accorded a vote of thanks for the efforts he had made.

Dr. Jamieson was unable to be present, but letters that had passed between him and the minister were read. [See at end of this correspondence. ED.]

Mr. Masson showed how help had been given at other times to distressed districts in Algoma etc. and was sure Government would lend a helping hand. He joined with the chairman in asking for a detailed statement of those needing help. He regretted to see farmers sacrificing their stock, thereby ruining their prospects of success.

Mr. McLachlan endorsed the remarks that had been made hoped for better times, and a return of all residents to their fertile homes.

Reeve Shute advocated independent aid, urged the formation of branch committees, in each township to secure the necessary information.

Mr. R. McLung was not in favor of receiving money for distribution among needy ones. Mr. Masson showed his wit by stating that white men could not be trusted, were not quite on a par with the Indians!

Farmer Hay as a patron waxed eloquent. He defined the position of the government, favored section meetings, and urged definite work.

Organizer Corlett voiced the previous speaker's remarks, had no doubt the necessary aid would be granted, and showed how farmers were the backbone of the country.

The Chairman then urged the formation of committees for the purpose of getting exact information, and the following resolutions were then drawn, up and carried.

1. Hay—McGinnis.—That the Dominion Government be immediately applied to for aid, viz., reduced railway rates, cheap fodder, etc.—Carried.

2. Shute—Twamley.—That the four Township Councils, together with Clerk and Assessor be committee for the purpose of gathering exact information for government as requested.—Carried.

3. Corlett—Galbraith.-That Dr. Jamieson, Warden Binnie, Dr. Landerkin, M. P., Dr. Sproule, M. P. and Jas. McLeach, be a committee to wait on and write to Dominion Government and thereby secure for them immediate assistance.—Carried.

4. Shute—Corlett.—That these two committees take into consideration the situation of the different farmers of this section viz., (a) Those requiring aid with intention to repay it in future. (b) Those requiring aid and unable to pay in the future.—Carried.

The following is a precis of the letters referred to:

Dr. Jamieson to Dr. Montague, July 15th.

Stating the great scarcity of food caused by frost, drouth and grasshoppers, a general feeling prevailing that the government should be appealed to, to devise means to secure a supply of coarse food at reasonable rates to enable farmers to carry their cattle through the winter. Many farmers were chopping down trees and under growth to feed their cattle. One proposal was to remove the duty on corn for the present year, another the Government might induce the C. P. R. to reduce rates so as to bring it within reach, the Dep. of Agriculture undertaking the pressing, shipping, &c. to save all middlemen's profits. The people were much more interested in this question that in remedial legislation, and the electorate would approve a small outlay for an emergency. Hoped he would lay the matter before his colleagues and urge some action.

Dr. Montague to Dr. Jamieson, July 20th.

Had wired a brief reply. His colleages, and himself regretted the untoward circumstances. Hoped he would express to the people their sympathy. Had talked the matter over with his colleagues, and though the question was a difficult one an effort would be made at once to urge the C. P. R. to carry supplies at as cheap rates as possible. They would also discuss the question from other standpoints with a view to aiding in whatever way they could, was corresponding that night with C. P. R. upon lines he suggested. Would write again after consultation.

Dr. Montague to Dr. Jamieson, July 20th.

Had communicated with President of C. P. R. and enclosed reply.

President Van Horne to Dr. Montague, July 24th.

Enclosed memorandum from traffic manager. Could only take 10 to 12 tons of pressed hay in a car, therefore rates they proposed were low. Hay had to be taken to Fort William by car, boat to Owen Sound and transfer to car again. If American coal vessels returning eastward from Fort William could have permission the glory of the Anglo-Saxon is, that it has learned to depend upon its own energies and resources. Their own boats got all the flour they could carry as deck load, and could not be expected to drop the flour and carry hay at less than flour rates and was not sure that they could afford to carry at any rate on passenger boats. Moving straw from the N. West seemed to be quite out of the question, and held out no hope of a rate.

Baled hay, (old) could be had at hay shipping points, Winnipeg to High Bluff at about $5.00 a ton. Proposed rates were from Winnipeg 35c. per 100 lbs.; Portage La Prairie 28c.; Brandon and Glenboro 23c.

We are pleased to be remembered by our old friend Rev. Mr. Stewart, who finds time to write the following interesting letter.

Dwight, Muskoka, Aug. 1st, 1895.

Dear Review,

As an old resident of Durham and a sojourner in Muskoka at the present time doing a little Mission work, the REVIEW comes to hand a very welcome visitor in its present much improved form.

But in reading your report of the meeting at Dornoch in the number of July the 25th, I am sorry, and sympathize with the farmers of South Grey.

A more hard working class of farmers is not to be found. The only thing I am afraid of is that the patrons have been trying to do more than the Lord wants them to do to help themselves. But I trust that kind providence will provide. I well recollect a like drought in Sey. land in the part of the country where I was brought up in the year 1825. The following winter was to open that I herded cattle on the pasture.

God is better to us than all our fears.

In the Township of Franklin, where I am just now, pasture is fairly good, hay light but not a failure, spring grain good.

I had a meeting last night in William Thompson's house, who came from Egremont. His hay crop is above the average. A field of oats and one of peas equal to any I have seen in any part of the country.

On another farm, owned by Alfred Wilder from Egremont peas and oats are equally good.

I have no doubt but the farmers in South Grey will do all they can to overcome the present emergency trusting in God to help them and may all be overruled for good though dark and mysterious now.

Yours sincerely,

A. STEWART.

NEAR THE DARK VALLEY.

A YOUNG GIRL RESCUED FROM AN EARLY GRAVE.

Pale, Listless and Weak, the Victim of a Hacking Cough. She Was Apparently Going into Rapid Decline—A Case of Deep Interest to Every Mother in the Land.

From the Cornwall Standard.

It is now a common thing in this locality to hear people acknowledge the wonderful benefit they have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and it is not to be wondered at that the druggists find the sale of this remarkable medicine so large and yet constantly increasing. We could give any number of instances of splendid results following the use of Pink Pills, but so many of these are well known to many of our readers as to not need recapitulation. However, now and again a case of more than usual interest arises and we will give the particulars of one of these for the benefit of the public at large. Some years ago a young girl of 14, a daughter of Mr. Leon Dore, a well known and respected resident of Cornwall, began to show serious symptoms, and caused her mother great anxiety. She was just at the critical period of her life, and medical aid was called in and everything done to help her. But it appeared to be useless, and week after week she continued to grow worse, until it was evident she was going into a decline. A hacking cough set in and the poor girl, who was formerly plump and healthy looking, with bright rosy cheeks, began to waste away, and in a few months was merely a shadow of her former self. Her mother had about lost all hope of saving the young girl the doctors being apparently unable to do anything to check the ravages of the mysterious disease. At length the mother's attention was directed to Dr Williams' Pink Pills, and she decided to give them a trial. A box of them was taken, and, as the girl did not show any visible signs of improvement, her mother was on the point of discontinuing the medicine when a neighbor persuaded her that a single box was not a fair trial and induced her to continue the Pills. By the time a second box was completed there was some improvement noticeable and there was joy in that small household, and no more persuasion was needed to continue the treatment. The use of the Pink Pills was then continued for some months, by which time the young girl had completely recovered her health and strength. To-day she is the picture of health and the color in her cheeks is as bright as before her illness commenced. To those who saw her during the days of her illness and suffering, her recovery is little short of a miracle. Mrs Dore freely gave the Standard reporter permission to publish an acount of her daughter's illness and recovery. She said she could not find words streng enough to express the gratitude for the miraculous cure this great life-saving medicine had effected in her daughter's case, and she hoped her testimony might be the means of leading others similarly afflicted to give them a trial

"Was merely a shadow of her former self."

After writing the above, the reportor again called on Mrs. Dore and read it to her, asking her if it was entirely correct. She replied that she would like to give even stronger expression to her appreciation of this wonderful medicine. She further said that Pink Pills had greatly helped herself. She had been suffering from the effects of an attack of la grippe, and the Pink Pills had restored her to health. Her daughter also expressed her gratitude for the extraordinary change this medicine had wrought in her health.

In the case of young girls who are pale or sallow, listless, troubled with a gluttering or palpitation of the heart, weak and easily tired, no time should be lost in taking a course of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which will speedily enrich the blood, and bring a glow of health to the cheeks. These pills are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition or a shattered nervous system. They are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, correcting suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness.

Manufactured by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred) at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50. May be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company at either address.

THE LATE DONALD MCKENZIE.—Mr. and Mrs. McInnes emigrated to this country from the Isle of Skye many years ago, and endured many of the hardships known only to early settlers. They had a family of nine children, consisting of six girls and three boys, of whom eight have passed to the Great Beyond, also adding to their early trials, but these and others were always met with Christian fortitude. Mrs. McInnes was a loving and dutiful wife and mother, and were both highly respected by all who knew them; in religion, they were consistent members of the Baptist denomination. In politics Mr. McInnes was a Reformer. On Thursday his remains were followed to the beautiful McDonald cemetery by a large concourse of sympathetic friends, who showed by their respect in which the deceased was held. The services at the house and at the grave were conducted by his pastor, the Rev. Mr. Gardiner, of Flesherton. Rev. Mr. Adams, of Toronto, who is a near relative and life long friend of the family, has since left Durham, and heartfelt sympathy of the community in being so suddenly and unexpectedly bereft of those who were so dear to her on earth, and who we sincerely hope that we may take even for, from the fact that the memory of the just is blessed. Mr. and Mrs Adams returned to the city Friday last.

NEW BOOK.—There has just been issued from the REVIEW press a pamphlet on a live topic "The Social Problem." The author is a well known gentleman in Egremont, Mr. R. Lovegate, Sr., and anything from his intelligent and thoughtful pen will be worth perusal. The title of the book is rather startling "The Plumire and the Wheelbarrow, an Attempt at the Social Problem." In it he shows the Causes of Poverty and the Means of Escape. The Wheelbarrow represents Machinery, and the Plumire, Capital and the justification for the reference may be found in the book itself. The great remedy proposed to prevent the accumulation of immense wealth in few individuals while whole communities suffer is what he calls "The Ogmetrical Tax." The whole work breathes a humanitarian spirit, and is a unique and interesting contribution to the great Social Problem. We expend an extract from the chapter on "The Geometrics' Tax."

"We may not stop a stream in its course from the mountain to the sea, but we may throw a dam across it and utilize it in turning a mill wheel for the benefit of mankind. And so it is with the unassuing of great wealth, we may not stop its course, but we may throw a dam—the geometrical tax—across it and utilize a little part for the good of humanity. The poor are to be housed and warmed and clothed and fed, not barely enough to keep them alive, but enough to develop a strong and healthy manhood, perfect men, and women, and healthy children."
