

The Grey Review.

DURHAM, AUGUST 22nd, 1895.

The Montreal 'Witness' says that the story is being diligently circulated among the French habitants, that the Privy Council has ordered remedial legislation to be enforced in Manitoba. There will be a rude awakening one of these days.

It is given on good authority that Sir Garnet Wolseley will succeed the Duke of Cambridge as commander-in-chief of the British army. All persons seem to think that this is a happy change, and that it makes effect the British army will shortly be abreast of the armies of continental nations.

The Fates are against France in Madagascar, and her boasted attempts at colonization and bringing the island under French domination are meeting with no success. The Hovas are determined to repel the invaders. They are hindering the progress of the French inland, and are cutting off their communication with their base of supplies on the coast. In addition to these troubles the French troops are falling thick and fast before the malarial fever which prevails in the interior.

The Toronto 'Globe' gives a full report of the speech lately delivered by Mr. Gladstone on the Armenian atrocities. The speech is a very remarkable one. At the time of its delivery it was said to have produced a powerful impression in the country, and this taken together with the mark of Lord Salisbury in his speech at the opening of Parliament, that it would be a dangerous thing for the Sultan to disregard the warnings that have been given him, may be the means of working up the Sultan and the Sultanate to the gravity of the occasion. Mr. Gladstone said, the Armenian Christians were the most pacific and industrious, but that it seemed to be the settled policy of the Porte to exterminate them. For this purpose three classes of persons were employed. 1. The Kurds, a wild race infesting the mountains. 2. The Turkish officials and 3. Turkish police specially hired for the work. However he held, that Turkey was bound by the Eastern Powers, by the treaty of 1856 and especially by that of 1878 to return to the government of Armenia, and further, that the treaty of 1878 gave Great Britain the right to effect the necessary reforms should Turkey fail to do so. He urged coercion in this case as a duty.

The Queen's prize of $1250 for the best manuscript of the Bible (England) was awarded to Mr. Hayhurst, a private in the 13th Battalion Rifles, Hamilton, Ontario. He also at the same time received the N. R. A. gold medal. The Queen's prize was presented by Lady Wintzingerode to the Queen's prize in the presence of a distinguished assembly of military and naval officers. Mr. Hayhurst is a young man of 27 years, and must be a really good shot for he is 1888-highest distinguished himself by winning the Prince of Wales' prize. In common with most Canadians he hails from the old soil having been born in Manchester, England, coming to Canada some years ago, he made his home in Hamilton where he is now employed in one of the machine shops. Private Hayhurst returning to Canada from Blesley last week afforded his companions an opportunity of expressing their congratulations at the honors he has achieved, and certainly this has been done without stint, winding up in Hamilton with a grand reception in Duarum Park, his comrades of the 13th Battalion and the citizens of the 'ambitious city' generally. Some of our Tory contemporaries say that this incident should be made use of for the purpose of bringing before the wage earners of Great Britain and Ireland the claims and advantages of Canada as a field for emigration. True, but we would suggest that the throwing down of high tariff walls and making Canada a cheap place to live in would be the best service in that direction.

The fourteenth British Parliament of the present reign was formally opened on Thursday last, with the usual ceremonies. The Queen's speech was read by commission. It referred to the massacres of missionaries in China and the atrocities inflicted upon the Christian subjects of the Sultan in Armenia, and in both cases, in forcible language, expressed the determination of the Queen and her subjects, of the authors and abettors of the outrages, and announced the intention of Her Majesty's Government to take the necessary steps to secure the punishment of the guilty persons, and to secure such reforms as might be necessary in the circumstances. But no legislation has been foreshadowed in the Speech from the Throne, so that after passing of the estimates Parliament is expected to be prorogued. Two notable events have occurred. One was the re-election of Mr. Gully, who was elected as Sir Robert Peel's successor in the speakership during Lord Rosebery's administration. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain were reported to have announced their intention of resigning their seats for a straight Tory, but public opinion both in and outside of Parliament was opposed to such action and thus the greatest deliberative Assembly in the world has shown that to preserve the ancient signs and prestige of the House of Commons it can rise above the pressure of party politics. Another interesting episode was the suspension of Dr. Tanner for a week and his summary election by the Serjeant at Arms of the House of Commons for resisting the ruling of the Speaker.

CROP REPORT.

Reports from all points of Manitoba are to the effect that the crop prospects are all that could be desired, and that if favorable weather continues the yield will exceed the estimates given. During the months of June and July there was abundance of rain, the warm weather produced a strong growth in June, July being of a lower temperature on the average, so that the grain filled slowly. Then with this there was an entire absence of frosts so that the crops have matured well. The Province is expecting to average 254 bush, of wheat per acre sown, so that the total yield is estimated at 29,139, 815 bush. Of oats 4 1/2 bush, to the acre is expected giving a total yield of 21,887,416 bush. Barley also gives a large yield being 33 1/2 bush, to the acre and an estimated total of 5,367,313 bush. Flax, rye and peas also yield well. Harvesting has begun, but the 23rd Aug. is given as the date when harvesting will be general and the unexpectedly large crop to be harvested caused a demand for harvest hands from all parts of the Province. In all it is estimated that about 5,700 men will be wanted, the wages offered being from $25 to $30 per month with board. Reports of roots and potatoes are all favorable, and the stock are said to be in fine condition. Altogether the present season has been a remarkable one for Manitoba, there having been nothing like this since 1887.

And what is thus reported of Manitoba holds good also for the North West Territories where similar conditions of rain and sunshine and absence of frosts, have prevailed. In the Territories, especially, the hay crop is expected to be an exceedingly abundant one. The wild fruit crop however is a failure by reason of the rains and the comparative absence of sunshine, and so with cultivated fruit.

In Ontario, the recent rains and warm weather and the absence of frost have so freshened up the pastures and growing crops, but especially the late crops and roots, that the fear of any serious shortage in the hay crop is rapidly passing away. The hay crop is generally light but this is set off by the abundance of straw in many districts and the splendid yield of corn with which those who have given attention to this important fodder plant.

In Quebec and the lower Provinces the crops generally including hay promise to be a fair average.

The British anniversary of the ordination of Dr. Wardrop, as a minister of the Presbyterian church, was celebrated last week in Chalmers' church, Guelph, of which he has been pastor for twenty five years. Dr. Wardrop's first charge was that of Knox church, Ottawa, then known as Bytown, where he made the acquaintance of Dr. McLaren, then a young lad attending the Sabbath School, and now Professor of theology in Knox College, Toronto. After a period of twenty four years service in Ottawa he was removed to Guelph where he continued his work down till 1892, when the infirmities of age compelled him to retire from the active duties of the ministry. The celebration of Dr. Wardrop's jubilee began in Chalmers' Church on Tuesday afternoon last at a special meeting of the Guelph Presbytery. After Divine service conducted by Dr. Torrance various addresses were presented. Dr. Wardrop, from his former and latter congregations, from the Kirk sessions etc.—and in the evening addresses were delivered to a large congregation by several Rev. gentlemen, including Professor McLaren, of Toronto, and Prof. Grant, of Kingston. At the close an oil portrait of Dr. Wardrop was unveiled and presented to the congregation.

Internal dissensions have already broken out in the ranks of the Liberal Party (British) thinned as their ranks have been. One would have supposed that the recent ministrations at the polls would have led the different sections to lay aside, each its own peculiar feud, and unite for the common good. But not so. The Radical wing is especially restive and refuses to act under Rosebery's leadership. Sir Charles Dilke, essentially an adventurer without character and without position, taking advantage of the disturbance, offers his services as leader of the Radical wing.

The use of electricity as a motive power is rapidly coming to the front, and so much so, that ere long the horseless carriage or automatic vehicle as it is called will displace the horse carriage on our public highways. The 'Times-Herald' of Chicago, and the London 'Engineer' have arranged for two races—one to be held in the United States, and one in England for the purpose of testing the adaptability of electricity to the propelling of carriages along the public highway. The first of these races will be held on the 21st of November from Milwaukee to Chicago and is open to the world the prizes ranging from $500 to $1,000. From present indications, the 'Scientific American' says, that not less than 75 carriages will enter the lists. Already, from the Baltimore and Ohio railway, electricity is successfully used for the purpose of propelling trains through a tunnel three miles long, and for that distance, why not for longer distances.

The New York 'Herald,' as quoted by the Montreal 'Witness,' says, that the looting of the mission houses in China and the murder of the missionaries, was the work of Russian brigands. These desperadoes have their lairs in the neighboring mountains. Like similar characters the world over they seize their opportunity, and, in the uncertainty and excitement and absence of the authority of law, which by the way is never very strong in China, —

RAINY RIVER.

Having. Holidays. Gold. Sherwood, Aug. 9th 1895. Editor Review.

DEAR SIR—Literary instalments are as the date of this review, too often as to financial ones, over due, being to the word which oftentimes applies to each with equal force. I trust, however, that my future punctuality will in some measure make amends for the delay. I have driven me from the hay field to the shelter of my lowly abode, and I have resolved to write you up to yourself and readers of the Review, my views.

The 9th of August will appear in the next issue of the Review, but it should be remembered that the season here has been a very good one, except here has been the difference, that rain has fallen here with unprecedented frequency, so much so that low lying lands have been drowned out, and high ones kept in a condition favorable for the raising of the grain, and other crops. Wheat and oat harvest will commence in a couple of weeks hence, and the present appearance, should satisfy the most exacting. I intend to bring East some samples of the crops, and I have every reason to believe that they will be very good. Your readers will please bear in mind that we are not a paid edit agent, yet it has struck us as a feasible way of raising the wind for a lecture, very loosely illustrated with field and garden specimens to select audiences in the various school houses, admission I give, that is if we get back this coming winter, and also if there is any grave doubt, owing to the drought, in which case, the door money will be dispensed with altogether, and you shall see what you shall see.

Monday, the 13th inst., was Fort Francis's first civic holiday, and a very creditable affair it was. The day was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and the various excursions and pleasure seekers from Winnipeg and other points, and the Winnipeg school houses, admission I give, that is if we get back this coming winter, and also if there is any grave doubt, owing to the drought, in which case, the door money will be dispensed with altogether, and you shall see what you shall see.

You are very well aware that gold is not to be had in this country, and I would touch it though I confess I would like to. New discoveries are being made every week, and the samples of ore shows are undoubtedly very rich, some of them containing gold. The discovery of a refractory character. The discoveries are always poor men with no capital to work them, and they are creating reduction works many of the ore bodies are being claimed at very high prices, some for as much as $100,000 for an eighty acre lot.

The general opinion is, that Capital has been formed, and that the time is ripe to create a liberal amount of bunting to the breeze. Rat Portage sent her best base ball team to play at F. F. and R. P., resulting in favor of the Fort, four faces and two hands, and a number of such occasions. All this and much more combined to make the affair a most enjoyable one, while a large tent filled with the products of the farm and mine, made not a few of the more thoughtful gaze in amazement.

I feel as if a good sized pamphlet could be written on Rainy River, but for time I forbear, let some of your astute readers anticipate more than the text of the book, and let me lecture during the month of March next.

With very best wishes to all of the friends of the Review, I remain, as ever, your truly, ROBT. WATSON, JR. MURDOCH.

Mr. Geo. Norrish, of Guelph spent a few days last week visiting Mr. D. Sharp and family. Miss M. Large called on a number of her friends one day last week, and returned to her home in Toronto. Mr. Welsh, of Toronto, is at present spending a few days in the city, and is being visited by his wife and daughter. Our teacher, Miss J. Teasdale, has returned to our academy and resumed her duties. Mr. John H. Brown had the misfortune to be badly hurt a couple of weeks ago while shipping cattle from Hamilton. He was thrown from the side door of the baggage car while the train was moving, and his foot and leg were crushed between the car and the car. He was in great danger of losing his life, but he was rescued by the timely arrival of a doctor, and he is now recovering from his injuries.
