For the information of the many who find time and inclination to go a hunting, we publish a portion of the laws relating to the subject.

It shall be unlawful for any person to catch, kill or destroy, or pursue with such intent, grouse, pheasants, prairie fowl or partridge, woodcock, snipe, rail, plover, or any other water fowl or other game-bird or animal (including black & grey squirrels, and hares) not herein otherwise provided for, at any time between the fifteenth day of December and the fifteenth day of September in the following year.

Or ducks of all kinds at any time between the fifteenth day of December and the first day of the following month of September.

The possession of gun, decoys or other implements of shooting or hunting at a time and in places where the game birds or animals above named are usually found shall be prima facie evidence of pursuit thereof, with intent to catch, kill or destroy the same.

No person shall kill or shoot at any bird or wild fowl protected by this act, between half an hour after sunset and half an hour before sunrise.

No eggs of any of the birds above mentioned shall be taken, destroyed or had in possession by any person at any time.

No person shall have in his possession any of the said hereinbefore mentioned animals or birds, no matter where procured, or any part or portion of any such animals or birds, during the periods in which they are so protected, provided that they may be exposed for sale for five days, and no longer, after such periods, and may be had in possession for the private use of the owner and his family at any time, but in all cases the proof of the time of killing, taking or purchasing shall be on the person so in possession.

Women Rule in New Zealand.

Woman continues to pursue her conquering way in New Zealand. All the ladies of that colony who have attained the age of 21 are legally qualified to vote at parliamentary elections. A lady, Miss Yates, is the duly elected mayor of an important borough. Another lady, Miss Lillian Edgar, has recently been elected a member of the governing body of the University of Auckland, and by the last mail we hear of the ladies securing three out of the seven seats on a school board. Furthermore, one of the three ladies has been chosen as president of the board for the ensuing year. —London Star.

Not So Easy to Entertain Royalty.

Apparently the entertaining of royalty has its little disadvantages. When the Princess of Wales accepted Lady Dudley's invitation to her dance last week, she stipulated that only 150 people were to be asked. When the list of the chosen was sent to Marlborough House, so many were struck off that only 80 unmarried girls were left, several of the hostess's own near relatives being ruled out. The consequence was the ball was a failure, for the few guests invited could hardly find each other in the vast rooms of Dudley House. —London Correspondent.

Berlin was made miserable by his wife. He married Miss Smithson, an actress many years younger than himself. She had prolonged fits of jealousy and ill temper, ruined him by her theatrical ventures and finally fell from a carriage and broke her leg, thus ending her artistic career. Berlin bore with her in patience until she finally left him. He was a tall man, of stern aspect and very dignified. In spite of his immense musical abilities as a composer, he could play no instrument except the guitar, and that very badly. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
